800 Dead in Morocco Riots

French Troops, Tanks, Jets Fight Off Terrorists

Casablanca, Morocco, Aug. 22 (AP)—Grim French troops and Foreign Legionnaires chased rebel bands in the Moroccan hils today as the official death toll from bloody weekend rioting across French North Africa neared the 800 mark.

Quick action restored a semblance of order in Algeria where most casualties occurred, but violence continued in Morocco as French foot troops supported by tanks and jet planes fought back at the terrorists.

IN A DESPERATE bid to restore peace to France's shattered North African holdings, Premier Edgar Faure, Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and other top French figures hastened to the French resort of Aix Le Bains today for a week of talks with Moroccan leaders. Their aim is a plan for granting more self-rule to the protectorate.

The official death count for the weekend blood bath in Morocco and Algeria totaled more than 764, with the figures still climbing as reports filtered in from isolated sections. Experienced observers believed the toll would reach 1,000.

Early today the count stood at more than 210 dead in Morocco—90 European civilians, 20 French and native troops and more than 100 Moroccan rebels. The listed toll was 485 terrorists and 69 French dead in the Constantine area of neighboring Algeria, where the Nationalists launched a mass attack in an effort to profit from the Moroccan unrest.

DESPITE the widespread violence, U. S. air bases in Morocco apparently escaped unscathed over the weekend. Reports indicated the Nationalists avoided the heavily guarded areas.

Only one incident of violence was reported in the other French protectorate of Tunisia, which recently was granted partial self-rule. One small French outpost near the Algerian border was attacked, but the fighting there ended Saturday night.

Meanwhile, most of the large cities in both Morocco and Algeria were silent under a tight curfew.

Algeria's big seaport of Philippeville, near Constantine, was under a virtual state of siege. Police and troops in armored cars patrolled other Algerian cities.

IN MOROCCO the fighting continued mainly in the hills and the approaches to the Atlas mountains. The countryside around Marrakech was lit by numerous incendiary fires last night. Jet fighters patrolled overhead. Tanks clanked throught the countryside.

Severed communications delayed casualty reports from many areas, but those that did trickle through told a grim tale.

In Algeria, the well-coordinated strikes resembled the hit-and-run guerrilla warfare which laid waste to French Indochina. The rebels smashed military outposts, then fled. But the French fought back effectively.

In Morocco, some raids were ominously similar to the Mau Mau massacres which have ripped Britain's Kenya colony.

WORST HIT was the little Moroccan mining town of Oued Zem, about 100 miles southeast of Casablanca. There 4,000 supposedly friendly Berber tribesmen poured down from the hills, shooting, burning and mutilating men, women ad children.

The outbreak at Oued Zem was only one of many. French Resident General Gilbert Grandval supressed the worst details in the Moroccan press for fear of inciting worse race riots.

IN PARIS, however, the newssplashed vivid accounts under huge headlines.

Field Worker Sent to Area By Red Cross

Miss Blanche E. Skidmore, Red Cross field representative with National Red Cross staff, has been assigned to assist the local Red Cross Chapter in handling the local affected flood areas. Miss Skidmore reported that Red Cross Chairman E. Roland Harriman, has notified all chapters of the need for a National Fund Campaign appeal across the United States to assist in this disaster affecting the eastern coast.

American Red Cross Disaster Relief Headquarters has been established through the Ulster County Chapter at the police and fire department headquarters at Ellenville, phone 811, and at the town clerk's office in Rosendale, phone Rosendale 3521, and also at the Chapter office, 309 Clinton avenue, Kingston, phone Kingston 7020 and anyone in need of assistance is asked to call in person or phone one of the above offices.

Mrs. William H. Merrill and Mrs. Walter K. Hubbard of the Ulster County Chapter reported the results of the initial surveys made by Bernard A. Feeney and Richard A. Riseley, disaster chairmen for the Red Cross to be as follows: 30 families in the immediate area affected by flood waters and eight homes known to be completely destroyed. Red Cross disaster headquarters in Ellenville and Rosendale have been given emergency assistance in the form of food, clothing and shelter. A further survey is under way to ascertain the full extent of damage and need.

Governor Harriman visited Red Cross emergency headquarters in Ellenville at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at which time he received a detailed report of Red Cross activities. Governor Harriman stated he was pleased to see the Red Cross in action everywhere.

Miss Skidmore announced that Red Cross assistance is given in the form of food, clothing and shelter to all who need this in time of emergency. This assistance is free and there is obligation to repay.

All contributions can be sent to the Disaster Headquarters at Kingston and Ellenville. Assistance and financial help is urgently needed.

Homes Are Gone, Many Jobs Lost

Food Problem Is Serious in Areas

(By The Associated Press)

Flood-ravaged northeastern states reported these conditions today:

PENNSYLVANIA — Thousands of persons inoculated as threat of typhoid fever from contaminated water supplies hangs over northeast section of state. Death toll unofficially placed at 93, but officials believe final figure will go over 100. More rain forecast for today.

CONNECTICUT—At least 68 persons dead and 70 missing. Governor calls floods "greatest disaster ever to strike Connecticut" and places damage at well over a billion dollars. Special session of Legislature called to provide funds for rebuilding.

MASSACHUSETTS—At least 13 dead, hundreds left homeless and thousands temporarily jobless. Governor says flood's destruction exceeded that of three hurricanes that struck state last year.

RHODE ISLAND—One dead. Woonsocket, hardest hit, operates under emergency powers to speed repairs. Thousands idle because of damage to textile mills and other manufacturing concerns.

NEW JERSEY—At least six reported dead, as thousands along Delaware river move back to the battered and water-logged homes. Civil defense officials estimate damage at millions of dollars.

NEW YORK—Four deaths reported in flood-strucken southeastern section. Red Cross still caring for 800 families in emergency shelters. Federal Small Business Administration to set up offices this week to aid industrial plants, summer camps and other businesses.

A STAGGERING job of rehabilitation faced flood-wrecked communities today as stunned survivors found the death toll steadily mounting toward the 200 mark.

The known dead already numbered 188. As additional victims were discovered, it appeared the final count would go well above this figure. Pennsylvania and Connecticut, the states hardest hit, estimated a total of as many as 130 persons still missing.

THE LATEST count since the beginning of the floods last Thursday was: Pennsylvania, 93; Connecticut, 68; Massachusetts, 13; Rhode Island, 1; New Jersey, 6; New York, 4; Virginia, 3.

As the rampaging streams and rivers receded to normal levels, astonished citizens surveyed the heart-breaking devastation. It was so vast that only the broadest estimates of the damage could be made, but these ran to billions.

Says State Can Give Flood Aid

Wicks Will Seek Funds For Stricken Sections

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks indicated today that he is ready to act to bring state financial aid to regions needing it.

Governor Averill Harriman, it was noted, after visiting the Ellenville area Saturday, gave no hint of the form of relief to be expected there, but said in a general way that the state would "deal with future needs."

UNDER STATE LAW, it was noted, by Senator Wicks, when an emergency arises from floods, fires and other causes, funds may be immediately available by the state.

The governor was quoted by the Associated Press Saturday as having said at his Long Island estate:

"There is no state money available. The situation must be surveyed, after immediate needs are taken care of, and, if necessary, funds can be sought throught the legislative committees.

There are no funds available in the governor's office."

The governor also said: "We will deal with future needs in a constructive and sympathetic way, but right now we must concentrate on the immediate situation."

THE METHOD used in other emergencies, Wicks said, to get funds calls for preparation by the governor of a certificate of intent. This authorizes spending sums needed to care for such emergencies. It is signed by the governor, senate majority leader and speaker of the assembly.

Survey Discloses 34,169 Families Routed in Flood

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The American Red Cross said today an incomplete survey shows 34,169 families were routed from their homes by flood waters in six eastern states.

The survey showed 439 homes entirely destroyed and nearly 14,000 damaged.

The Red Cross said the health problem in Pennsylvania was complicated by thousands of dead chickens and many head of livestock, drowned as the waters rose. Scranton, Pa., had an acutely serious water problem. Water was being supplied at street corners from 17 army canvas tanks, each holding 3,000 gallons.

A Red Cross survey of the summer camp area in hard-hit northeast Pennsylvania showed children in 43 camps were safe with adequate food and water supplies.

The Red Cross has established headquarters in New York city for flood relief. It announced yesterday it was making an initial appropriation of two million dollars for preliminary phases of its flood relief operations and issued an appeal for contributions.

8,000 Inoculated in Pocono Mountain Sector

Thyphoid Is Big Threat From Polluted Waters

Stroudburg, Pa., Aug. 22 (AP)—A threat of typhoid fever and more rain hung over the flood-ravaged areas of northeastern Pennsylvania today.

The death toll from the rainstorms of last Thursday and Friday stands unofficially at 93 but officials said they have no doubt the final figure would be well over 100.

THOUSANDS of CC's of anti-typhoid fever serum were flown into the area yesterday. By nightfall some 8,000 persons in this Pocono Mountain resort town alone were inoculated.

The typhoid peril stems from contaminated water supplies, a hazard accompanying flood devastation. In Bucks county, south of Stroudsburg, polluted water was blamed for an outbreak of dysentery. So far, there have been no reported cases of typhoid.

WEARY RESCUE workers, still finding bodies buried in the silt as flood waters recede, kept their eyes on cloudy skies overhead and hoped there would be no more rain.

Brief thundershowers came last night, fortunately causing no noticeable rise in water levels, but more rain is forecast for today.

Last Thursday, heavy rains unloaded by dying hurricane Diane started filling streams high in the Pocono Mountains north of here. The rushing water picked up momentum and roared through the narrow Broadhead valley, tearing out dams, demolishing dwellings and killing some 75 persons in this area alone.

TWENTY-FIVE of these were summer vacationers at Davis Camp, a private summer camp along the Brodhead Creek a few miles north of Stroudsburg. It was completely wiped out. Only nine are believed to have survived in this tragedy.

Food still is being dispensed free in churches and movie theaters. Businesses remained closed. Some were totally wiped out by the flood waters.

THE CLEANUP continued throughout the rest of eastern Pennsylvania but nowhere was the job as tough as in the town of Stroudsburg and its sister community of East Stroudsburg, each with a population of about 6,000.

The towns are separated by Brodhead Creek. All bridges were

U.S. Airman to Be Returned

Lt. Bumpas Due Back Near Where Plane Shot Down

Seoul, Aug. 22 (AP)—Air Force 2nd Lt. Guy H. Bumpas, of Jackson, Miss., is scheduled to recross the line to freedom tomorrow after six days as a prisoner of the Communists.

The injured airman will be turned back to the United Nations command at a point about 12 miles east of Kumwha, on the central Korean front, not far from where his plane was shot down by Red anti-aircraft fire last Wednesday.

BUMPAS WILL accompany the body of Army Capt. Charles W. Brown, of West Louisville, Ky., who was an observer-passenger in Bumpas' small unarmed plane.

Brown was killed as a result of the crash, the Communists claim.

Bumpas suffered a possible skull fracture and will probably have to be evacuated by ambulance helicopter.

The army will have a big helicopter and a doctor standing by to take Bumpas under immediate treatment when the Reds release him at 3:30 p. m. (1:30 a. m. Tuesday, EST).

AN ALLIED spokesman said he did not know if Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks would be present.

The Communists yesterday told Parks, senior allied delegate to the Joint Military Armistice Commission, that Bumpas appeared to be in good condition.

However, it was learned that if his injury is serious enough, there is a possibility Bumpas will be evacuated to Japan.

Parks flushed with anger as he talked about the incident in the demilitarized zone.

THE COMMUNISTS charged the plane was spying on their installations. Parks said all evidence pointed to the conclusion that Bumpas was hopelessly lost.

Parks declared that Brown was "murdered by a gang of trigger happy gunners who profess to be upholders of peace, staunch defenders of the

Southeast N. Y. Still Mess

800 Homeless Families Under Red Cross Care

Port Jervis, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Flood-damaged communities of southeastern New York state today grappled with the mess left by rivers and streams that rampaged over their banks in nightmare torrents last Thursday night and Friday.

In some respects things were getting back to normal,' but there was still a major clean-up and repair job to do.

Four flood deaths were reported in New York state.

The Red Cross reported yesterday it was still caring for 800 homeless families in emergency shelters.

Fire pumpers from as far as 100 miles away came to Port Jervis, hardest hit community in the state, to help it bail out water left by the overflowing Delaware and Neversink rivers.

Much of their effort was concentrated on clearing a flooded underpass of the Erie Railroad in the middle of the city, a railroad center of about several thousand persons. Volunteers also worked to open a traffic bottleneck on the approach over the Delaware bridge leading into Pennsylvania.

Gas and electricity have been restored, and some, but not all,

County Damage Reported Heavy

Grappling operations were in progress this morning to recover the body of a 10-year-old boy swept over 50-foot falls in Esopus creek at a popular swimming spot called the Spillway on Route 28A late yesterday afternoon—the third life claimed by swollen water in Ulster county in the last three days.

Village officials in heavily affected areas reported rapid recovery from the worst floods in the history of the area but losses in Ulster county alone were being estimated in the millions.

THE BOY, reported to be Phil Kight, about 10, of the Spillway road, was plunged over the raging falls after vain efforts of another unidentified boy to pull him back to safety.

Chief Howard Avery of the West Hurley Fire Department, which was dispatched to the scene, said there were several picnic parties at the Spillway at the time. He said several persons witnessed the tragedy.

FIREMEN, sheriff's office and Kingston State Police initiated grappling operations which were still continuing at the last check by The Freeman shortly after midday. The Spillway is about two miles from the New York City Water Department areator.

The body of 16-year-old Cecil Nickens of the Plains road, New Paltz, who drowned in the raging Wallkill river near the village on Saturday, was recovered at 8:15 p. m. Saturday about 250 feet off shore.

THE BODY of the youth, who was drowned in waters which covered the lowlands while swimming with two companions, was recovered by Leonard Newkirk, a deputy sheriff and constable of the town of New Paltz. Participating in the search for the body, among others, were Special Deputy Nathaniel Dawes of the town of Plattekill, Sheriff Cluett Schantz, Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg, Deputy Anthony Alecca, Deputy George Bynner, Trooper J. F. Franke of the Highland Station and Louis Schaefer of New York.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle, who went to the scene, issued a verdict of death by asphyxiation due to accidental drowning.

THE CORONER praised the work of those participating in the search, pointing out that waters were high and swift. Many of those searching for the body were at the scene for the better part of two days, he said.

The body was removed to the S. Parks Glenn Funeral Home, New Paltz.

Young Nickens is the son of Leroi and Julia William Nickens. He is also survived by two brothers, Leroi of New York and Chester of Detroit.

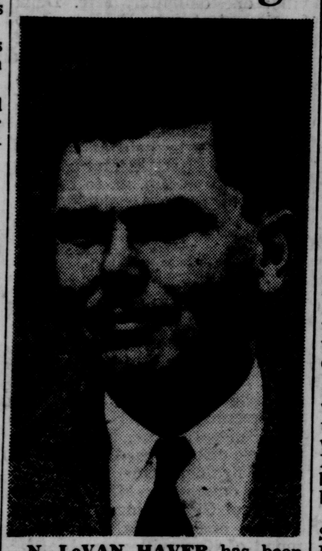

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 p. m. Funeral services will be held from Carter and Carter Funeral Home, 163 West 131st street, New York city, on Tuesday evening. Burial will be in Frederick Douglas Cemetery, Staten Island.

THIRD VICTIM of the flood was Jacob Perlmutter, 42, of New York city, who was swept from a bridge over the Beerkill creek near Greenfield Park on Saturday. His body was recovered Saturday about a half mile from the bridge.

Stang Praises Workers, Services in Flood Role

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today commended all persons and departments who assisted local residents during Friday's flood and the repair of damage after the high water subsided.

"Now that the flood waters have fully receded," the mayor said, "We are able to appraise the results. The people of Kingston can be thankful that the city was not hit as badly as neighboring areas where there was much damage and destruction."

The mayor said he made an inspection tour Friday and Saturday, and he praised the public works department "for the speed and dispatch with which it cleaned up the debris." On the night of the storm, he noted, men of the department were called out before midnight and they worked through for many hours to give assistance and make adjustments.

"I also want to thank the fire and police departments for their vigilence and assistance," he said. They answered many calls and assisted generally during the flood. He thanked the water department for use of its pumps, and stressed that because "all city services acted cooperatively we were able to emerge with as little damage as we had."

Southeast N. Y. Still Mess

800 Homeless Families Under Red Cross Care

Port Jervis, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Flood-damaged communities of southeastern New York state today grappled with the mess left by rivers and streams that rampaged over their banks in nightmare torrents last Thursday night and Friday.

In some respects things were getting back to normal, but there was still a major clean-up and repair job to do.

Four flood deaths were reported in New York state.

The Red Cross reported yesterday it was still caring for 800 homeless families in emergency shelters.

Fire pumpers from as far as 100 miles away came to Port Jervis, hardest hit community in the state, to help it bail out water left by the overflowing Delaware and Neversink rivers.

Much of their effort was concentrated on clearing a flooded underpass of the Erie Railroad in the middle of the city, a railroad center of about several thousand persons. Volunteers also worked to open a traffic bottleneck on the approach over the Delaware bridge leading into Pennsylvania.

Gas and electricity have been restored, and some, but not all,

County Damage Reported Heavy

Grappling operations were in progress this morning to recover the body of a 10-year-old boy swept over 50-foot falls in Esopus creek at a popular swimming spot called the Spillway on Route 28A late yesterday afternoon—the third life claimed by swollen water in Ulster county in the last three days.

Village officials in heavily affected areas reported rapid recovery from the worst floods in the history of the area but losses in Ulster county alone were being estimated in the millions.

THE BOY, reported to be Phil Kight, about 10, of the Spillway road, was plunged over the raging falls after vain efforts of another unidentified boy to pull him back to safety.

Chief Howard Avery of the West Hurley Fire Department, which was dispatched to the scene, said there were several picnic parties at the Spillway at the time. He said several persons witnessed the tragedy.

FIREMEN, sheriff's office and Kingston State Police initiated grappling operations which were still continuing at the last check by The Freeman shortly after midday. The Spillway is about two miles from the New York City Water Department areator.

The body of 16-year-old Cecil Nickens of the Plains road, New Paltz, who drowned in the raging Wallkill river near the village on Saturday, was recovered at 8:15 p. m. Saturday about 250 feet off shore.

THE BODY of the youth, who was drowned in waters which covered the lowlands while swimming with two companions, was recovered by Leonard Newkirk, a deputy sheriff and constable of the town of New Paltz. Participating in the search for the body, among others, were Special Deputy Nathaniel Dawes of the town of Plattekill, Sheriff Cluett Schantz, Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg, Deputy Anthony Alecca, Deputy George Bynner, Trooper J. F. Franke of the Highland Station and Louis Schaefer of New York.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle, who went to the scene, issued a verdict of death by asphyxiation due to accidental drowning.

THE CORONER praised the work of those participating in the search, pointing out that waters were high and swift. Many of those searching for the body were at the scene for the better part of two days, he said.

The body was removed to the S. Parks Glenn Funeral Home, New Paltz.

Young Nickens is the son of Leroi and Julia William Nickens. He is also survived by two brothers, Leroi of New York and Chester of Detroit.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 p. m. Funeral services will be held from Carter and Carter Funeral Home, 163 West 131st street, New York city, on Tuesday evening. Burial will be in Frederick Douglas Cemetery, Staten Island.

THIRD VICTIM of the flood was Jacob Perlmutter, 42, of New York city, who was swept from a bridge over the Beerkill creek near Greenfield Park on Saturday. His body was recovered Saturday about a half mile from the bridge.

Stang Praises Workers, Services in Flood Role

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today commended all persons and departments who assisted local residents during Friday's flood and the repair of damage after the high water subsided.

"Now that the flood waters have fully receded," the mayor said, "We are able to appraise the results. The people of Kingston can be thankful that the city was not hit as badly as neighboring areas where there was much damage and destruction."

The mayor said he made an inspection tour Friday and Saturday, and he praised the public works department "for the speed and dispatch with which it cleaned up the debris." On the night of the storm, he noted, men of the department were called out before midnight and they worked through for many hours to give assistance and make adjustments.

"I also want to thank the fire and police departments for their vigilence and assistance," he said. They answered many calls and assisted generally during the flood. He thanked the water department for use of its pumps, and stressed that because "all city services acted cooperatively we were able to emerge with as little damage as we had."

Warren G. Vining Electrocuted in Saturday Mishap

Warren G. Vining, 29, of 183 Green street, died instantly of electrocution about 5 p. m., Saturday, while repairing a vibrating screen used in washing stone at the Callanan Road Improvement Company in New Salem.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle issued a verdict of death from shock due to accidental electrocution.

THE CORONER said Mr. Vining, who had been employed at Callanan's for about three months, was working with Max Barek of Accord when the accident occurred.

Mr. Vining was sitting on a steel girder when an electric light bulb from a tramp cord hanging overhead exploded, the coroner said. It was theorized that water dropping from above might have struck the bulb, causing it to explode. The electricity apparently struck Mr. Vining.

MR. BAREK summoned a doctor and called Schultz Ambulance Service. When the ambulance arrived it was found that Mr. Vining was beyond treatment, the coroner said. Mr. McCarddle was notified, and went to the scene.

The body was removed to the McCardle Funeral Home for further medical examination.

The funeral will be held from the McCardle Funeral Home, 99 Henry street, at 2 p. m., Tuesday, with burial in St. Remy Cemetery.

Surviving besides his widow, Mrs. Theresa Ferraro Vining, are two children, Warren Eugene and Mahala Rose.

Prison Guard Robbed Of Wallet in Prison

San Quentin, Calif., Aug. 22 (AP)—Holdups can occur in the darndest places.

Prison Guard H. A. Bain was accosted yesterday in San Quentin's east cell block by a man with a pillow case over his head and a sharpened table knife in his hand. The man, presumably an inmate, forced Bain to surrender his wallet, containing $103.

The wallet and the knife were found in an unused cell block. The wallet was empty . . . the knife void of fingerprints.

Said Nelson:

"This is kind of embarrassing. This is grand larceny."

Marine Drowns Trying To Save His Friends

Oceanside, Calif., Aug. 22 (AP)—A Camp Pendleton marine left an overloaded inner tube to two companions yesterday and tried to swim back to an ocean beach. He drowned.

County lifeguards credited Cpl. Louis Feldman, 19, of Yonkers, N. Y., with probably saving the lives of Pvt. Richard Ellis, 21, and Cpl. Max L. Barnett, 20, also of camp Pendleton, at the cost of his own.

The three, none strong swimmers, all clung to the inflated tube when they were swept seaward by a rip tide of an unguarded stretch of La Costa Downs Beach, north of here.

Feldman attempted the swim because the others were having trouble clinging to the tube, nearly submerged under the weight of the three. His body was found after it had drifted back into shallow water.

2 Women Hospitalized In Bridge Accident

Two women were admitted to Kingston Hospital about noon today after their 1948 sedan went out of control on the Rondout creek bridge and struck a steel abutment, according to a report in the Ulster County Sheriff's office.

They were Rosella G. Breiman, 43, of 70 Crotty avenue, Yonkers, driver of the car, and Iris Oischan, 30, of Little Neck, Queens. A small baby Rebecca Oishan, 13-months, was not injured.

Deputies Arthur Smith and William Churchill said the car was traveling south on the bridge about 11:30 a. m., when Mrs. Breiman became nervous about the baby. The car veered left suddenly and struck the abutment.

Both were reported in apparently satisfactory condition by hospital authorities.

Mrs. Breiman had cuts on the nose, left leg and right arm, and Mrs. Oischan extensive injuries. They were being X-rayed this afternoon.

Long Island Man Dies at Wheel On Thruway

Oscar L. Heinemann, 67, of 380 Jackson avenue, West Hempstead, L. I., died suddenly at the wheel of his car on the Thruway just south of the village of New Paltz about 4:10 p. m. Friday, it was reported by Coroner Francis J. McCardle.

The car went out of control near Mile Post 76.8, left the southbound lane and rolled down an embankment, coming to rest in a swampy section.

Mr. Heinemann, a commercial broker for Farr & Co. of New York, was pronounced dead at the scene by a physician from the village of New Paltz.

Mrs. Heinemann, a passenger, was taken by ambulance to Kingston Hospital suffering from fractures of the right humerus and left tibia, Mr. McCardle said.

JUST BEFORE the accident Mr. Heinemann told his wife he felt dizzy, the coroner said.

Trooper Harry C. Foster of the Thruway detail happened to be passing in the northbound lane just after the accident and took charge at the scene. Schultz Ambulance took Mrs. Heinemann to the hospital. Coroner McCardle said the car was damaged but did not overturn.

The body was taken to the McCardle Funeral Home, Kingston, where a postmortem revealed a thrombosis of the right coronary artery and rupture of the right ventricle with cardiac tamponade. Mr. Heinemann was dead before the car went down the embankment, Mr. McCardle said.

The body will be removed to New York city for burial Wednesday in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn.

Search for Girl's Body in Apparent Pact of Death

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—While coast guardsmen today searched the Niagara river for the body of an 18-year-old girl believed shot to death yesterday, police sought the motive behind what they said appeared to be a murder-suicide pact.

The body of Carl Wolfgang Kohler, 21, was found on a concrete pier behind a sewage disposal plant on Bird Island in the Niagara river yesterday. Marie Kiene, last seen walking with Kohler along the river bank, was missing.

THE PAIR took a taxi to the island, connected to the mainland by a small bridge, yesterday with a shotgun and two suitcases after telling their families they were leaving home, police said.

Police said a blood-stained purse containing $41 and a bank book in the girl's name were found near Kohler's body.

Also near the body were an empty shotgun shell, a slug imbedded in a clump of woman's hair, a shirt and undershirt, a girl's white sweater and two suitcases.

NEITHER Kohler's nor the girl's parents, neighbors for years, were able to offer any motive for the deaths.

Frank Kiene, the girl's father, told police that Kohler and his daughter left his home early Saturday night.

"Kohler told me how much he loved Marie," Kiene told police, "then suddenly he turned to her and asked her whether she wanted to stay or go with him. I tried to stop them, but they were determined to leave. There was nothing I could do," police quoted him as saying.

Kohler's 17-year-old sister, Emma, said Marie told her she was not pregnant.

KOHLER, a factory employe, was divorced last January. He was the father of an infant girl.

The girl's father told police that she made an appointment today to take an examination for admittance to a local business school.

The death weapon, a .16 gauge shotgun, was recovered from the river. Police said Kohler apparently dropped it into the water as he slumped to the ground.

Police said the two had dated for several years up until the time of Kohler's marriage about a year-and-a-half ago.

Weekend Fatalities at 22

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Two triple fatalities and the deaths of three men in a gas explosion swelled New York state's weekend accident toll to 22. Three men were killed at East Greenbush Saturday when their automobile collided with the rear of a tractor-trailer. Three young men from New Jersey met death Saturday night when their car went out of control and overturned on Route 94 near Warwick. Two men were killed and a third was injured fatally at Riverhead Saturday night when gas exploded in the basement of a home.

roads were open in that area except Route 299 at New Paltz. The water, which covered the flats west of the New Paltz bridge, were reported to be receding rapidly.

Kingston State Police reported one-lane traffic on Route 44-55 about eight miles west of Kerhonkson near Lake Minnewaska where the road was washed out. Highway crews are repairing the road. Route 213, washed out near the Lawrenceville bridge over the Rondout creek, was still closed.

MAYOR EUGENE GLUSKER of Ellenville, one of the worst hit sections of the county, placed the estimate of damage roughly at two million dollars in that village alone.

He said six homes and the Vita-Fruit Beverage Company were destroyed by pounding waters of the Beerkill creek. Heavy equipment from the factory was washed into the stream with damage estimated at approximately $50,000. Between 200 and 500 homes in the village were damaged. In one area 12 homes were badly inundated until Saturday.

Mayor Glusker, who has been assured of emergency aid by Gov. Harriman, estimated a loss of half a million dollars in homes alone.

HE SAID the village almost "lost a policeman" during the height of the flood as the man attempted to rescue a woman trapped in her home. The man, who was not identified, managed to grab hold of a tree. Just as rescuers got a life line to him the tree was swept down the river.

Mayor Glusker said the water condition was good and telephone and electricity perfect.

He said there was a break in the main water line and that two smaller areas were still missing service. A test by the Ulster County Health Department, however, showed the water to be in good condition.

MANY STORES in the business areas had water in their cellars, the mayor reported, with heavy damage to merchandise in some areas. He said he had thrown out thousands of dollars worth of goods in his own store basement.

Mayor Glusker said the Red Cross had requested an estimate of damage which was being prepared by an assessor and a local real estate broker. Eleven applications for rehabilitation have been made to the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, from Ellenville, he said.

He said the offices of Channel Masters had been flooded out but he believed the damage was light.

AS ADDITIONAL rains fell yesterday the village had bulldozers out to shore up the banks of the Beer Kill. The creek rose about eight inches but threatened no further violence. The mayor said the state had promised to underwrite the cost of putting the streams back in their banks — that is, the cost of bulldozers, steam shovels, etc.

Mayor John Mooney of Rosendale, hard hit by the mighty Rondout, estimated damage there at $100,000 — consisting principally of damage to homes, foundations, store merchandise, frozen foods, etc.

He said the village was recovering rapidly, that now the "creek looks pretty normal," although water is still high in the fields. Route 32 has been reopened below Rosendale.

HE ESTIMATED that approximately 25 or 30 homes in the village had been flooded. He said a couple of cottages at the Villa Bianca and four or five bungalows across from the Chalet had been "lost."

Mayor Mooney praised the work of volunteer firemen, Civil Defense auxiliaries and others who worked day and night in rescue and relief work. The sheriff's office and Kingston State Police evacuated almost 60 persons from the Villa Bianca at the height of the flood. Others were evacuated from the Fred Pflum cottages. He expressed his appreciation to volunteer firemen for their work in pumping out cellars, dozens of which were flooded. Many of the celars were flooded to the ceiling.

THE MAYOR SAID considerable damage occurred when electricity cut off, causing frozen foods, ice cream, etc., to perish.

He said utilities had been restored and the water situation was good. There were no breaks in the main water line. A check of water by the health department showed it was safe, he said.

A section of road on Lower James street between Route 32 and Upper James street was undermined by water and a culvert on Mountain road near Ebtinger Farm was damaged. Crews were repairing these spots today.

THE VILLAGE had a "canteen" for volunteer workers in the Rosendale Reformed Church.

Mrs. Howard Anderson of Accord said this morning that a good part of a herd of cattle, numbering about 60 head, was beginning to return to the farm. The entire herd was feared lost during the weekend but Mrs. Anderson was more optimistic today.

"We don't really know yet how many of the flock are lost," she told The Freeman. She said many of the Angus herd were "coming in out of the woods." She feared that some of the herd's 20 small calves might have been lost. The water rose four or five feet in the fields with no high ground in the vicinity. They might have swam to points of safety, however.

Dr. Dudley Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, said today the polio situation was unchanged with no new cases reported.

Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation for the Ulster County Health Department, said this morning that major damage to public water systems in the county had been repaired except in one section of Ellenville.

IN ELLENVILLE 35 homes were still without water service as the result of a break in the main line. A temporary line is being laid today to supply these homes. Another section of about 35 homes is being supplied by a fire hose.

There is ample water, he said. Samples are "satisfactory as of now." Mr. Edinger said Water Superintendent Joseph Burhans and the village board of trustees had done an excellent job in the water emergency.

There was no damage to the distribution system in Rosendale when the water receded, he said.

Margaret's Romantic Intentions Still Quiet

Ballater, Scoutland, Aug. 22 (AP)—Britain's royal family got ready to barbecue a 200-pound side of beef today as a postscript to Princess Margaret's 25th birthday. The anniversary itself passed yesterday with the world no wiser as to her romantic intentions.

The festivity on the spacious lawns of Balmoral Castle normally would have taken place on Margaret's birthday, but her elder sister, Queen Elizabeth II, kept the Sabbath quiet in the tradition of her late father.

Margaret sat with her sister and other kin in crowded Crathie Parish Church yesterday as the Rev. John Lamb intoned:

"This is Princess Margaret's birthday. May she find the fulfilment of her desires."

Scouts Settle Down to Jamboree

Niagara-on-the Lake, Ont., Aug. 22 (AP) — With the official speech making over, for the time being at least, the 10,000 Boy Scouts here for the 8th World Jamboree settled down today to the business of sightseeing, swapping and just moseying.

Undaunted by the terrific heat that has engulfed the whole campsite at this historic little village, the scouts are busy making the trip worthwhile.

JUST ABOUT everyone is trying hard to make this a successful meeting, as well as to make the scouts at home. Signs in front of homes all through the village welcome the scouts to come in and partake of some cookies and refreshments. The scouts are obliging in large numbers. One woman reports she has dispensed 65 cases of soft drinks and 30 packages of sweets and cookies.

Elsewhere in the camp, the boys seem to be having little difficulty in getting past the language barriers to determine how many shoulder patches from a uniform are needed to purchase a "genuine" Gila Monster from Texas, and so forth.

THE SCOUTS seem willing to swap anything that isn't nailed down, with the possible exception of their tickets home.

Pageantry, too, has had its day as Canadian scouts enacted some of the historic events of nearby Fort George, scene of the War of 1812 action.

American scouts performed an Indian tribal dance yesterday and scouts from the 68 nations represented will present homeland specialties all this week.

SATURDAY, the Hon. Vincent Massey, Governor-General of Canada, officially welcomed the boys in wilting 99-degree heat.

the Joint Legislative Committee and has served as chairman of the New York State Bar Association Committee on Negligence Litigation.

In Ulster county he has been assistant district attorney and district attorney and also special prosecutor for Columbia county. He is the present City of Kingston chairman of the Republican Party in Ulster county.

Numerous members of the College were present at the induction for the 78th annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

Thirty-one attorneys who practice in New York state received the honor Saturday and included, besides Mr. Haver, Thomas E. Dewey, former governor.

An Honorary Fellowship was presented to George Wharton Pepper, former U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania. He joins Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson of the United States Supreme Court, Judge Harold R. Medina of the U. S. Court of Appeals, John W. Davis of New York and Sir Godfrey Russell Vick, Q. C. of London, England.

The principal address during the induction was made by Sir Lionel Heald, a Queen's Counsel and a member of the British Parliament, who served from 1951 until 1954 as attorney general under Winston Churchill, then prime minister. Simon Sobeloff, solicitor general of the United States, also spoke at the induction.

A MAJOR problem in Ellenville, it was noted, is the rebuilding of a dike which protects the business district against rising waters of the Good Beerkill. If another flood were to come soon, it could bring disaster before rebuilding of the concrete dike, which is about 1,500 feet long, and four-feet thick.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The stock market slipped a bit lower in early afternoon today.

Gains and losses were mostly in fractions and few price changes were as much as a point.

Activity was fair at the opening due to the usual pile-up of orders over the weekend but soon slowed down to about the pace of Friday when volume totaled 1,400,000 shares.

Tide Closes Beach

High tide in the Hudson river backing against a heavy down flow contributed by flood-swelled contributories, backed over Delaware avenue and caused the closing of Kingston Point Beach Sunday. A police report at 4:47 p. m., said that water covered Delaware avenue near North street and those at the beach were asked to leave. Officers Charles McCullough and Ira Hadsel, who investigated, said the water at the time they toured the area was up to the hub caps of automobiles.

Anti-Aircraft at Osan Is Activated by Rhee

Seoul, Aug. 21 (AP)—South Korea's first anti-aircraft artillery brigade was activated by President Syngman Rhee today at the Osan U. S. Air Base, 35 miles south of here.

The 10th U. S. AAA group trained the new unit.

Lt. Gen. John H. Collier, deputy U. S. 8th Army commander, said the activation "marks another milestone in the defense structure of the Republic of Korea."

Rhee told the unit it has "an important mission" because "Communist North Korea puppets are building up illegally their airpower."

strenuously to improve the situation in Morocco since his appointment last month, left yesterday for a quick visit to Algeria. Returning last night to Rabat, the Moroccan capital, he was to fly on to Aix Le Bains today.

The first arrivals in the French resort were supporters of the aging Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa, whose shaky regime is in extreme straits. The powerful Pasha of Marrakech, Thami El Glaoui, went by plane last night for the talks. His supporters provide the backbone in the new cabinet named over the weekend by the Sultan. The cabinet was not given much chance of success.

El Glaoui was the prime mover two years ago in the French ouster of former Sultan Mahammed Ben Youssef, who has become a nationalist symbol. Saturday's outbreaks were timed for the second anniversary of Ben Youssef's removal from the throne.

New Klan Head Will Halt Evils on Whites

Conway, S. C., Aug. 22 (AP)—A Georgia ex-serviceman, the new Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, says he wants his organization to be "strong and vicious enough to fight the evils against the white man."

E. L. Edwards of Atlanta, addressing a throng of about 1,500 here Saturday night against the background of a blazing white cross, promised his organization "will stay within the law . . . but this is a white man's organization fighting for white supremacy."

Edwards, who calls his organization "U. S. Klan, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," was dressed in a flowing gold robe topped by a gold hood. He wore no mask. An assistant, J. H. Brickley, a Marion carpenter, was robed in white.

Flood Reroutes Trains

Trains of the Erie and Delaware Lackawanna and Western railroads, unable to travel over their respective routes in the southeastern part of the state, are using the West Shore line through the Hudson Valley region, it was learned today. It is expected that the use of the West Shore tracks will continue until the other railroads are repaired. Railroad officials were unable to state today how long that would be.

armistice agreement, and ardent humanitarians."

He said he personally interrogated eyewitnesses to the incident.

The two-star air force general warned that allied troops, which so far have refrained from shooting at Communist aircraft which accidentally fly over United Nations lines, may soon resort to retaliation. "It may be difficult," Parks declared, "to maintain this one sided control" in the face of constant Communist abuse.

THE SMALL trainer plane, flying from Kimpo air base near Seoul, was blasted out of the sky by Communist gunners when it accidentally flew over the demilitarized zone.

In trying to evade the Red anti-aircraft fire, Parks said, the pilot veered toward Communist territory to the north and crashed in territory controlled by the Communists.

Parks told the Communists Sunday that it was ridiculous to suppose the pilot would have deliberately flown toward Red territory.

HE SAID the plane's course (toward North Korea) after first being fired upon proved the United Nations contention that the pilot was hopelessly lost and without directional orientation at the time.

(Communist North Korea's Pyongyang radio, in its broadcast account of the Sunday meeting, said "the American side jabbered nonsensical dogmas, full of incongruity and hopeless self-contradiction, in an attempt to obscure the real state of the incident. . . .")

(The broadcast, monitored in San Francisco, said the plane was "reconnoitering the defense installations of our side," and declared "the intrusion into the area under the military control of our side was confirmed by 2nd Lt. Bumpas himself. . . .")

(Pyongyang said the Communist representative, Maj. Gen. Chung Kook Rok, "sternly demanded the American side to punish severely the persons involved in this incident . . . and take effective measures so as to prevent the recurrence of similar instances in the future.")

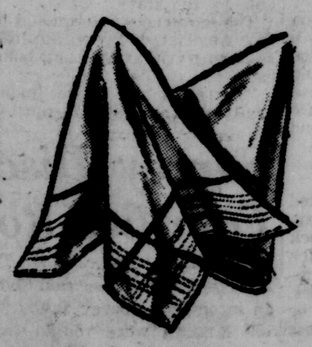

New Fighting Near Gaza

Gaza, Egyptian-held Palestine, Aug. 22 (AP)—A new outbreak of fighting between Israelis and Egyptians was reported near Gaza today. Machinegun and artillery firing could be heard from east of the town. There was no immediate announcement concerning the incident in the coastal strip which has been the scene of frequent clashes between Israel and Egypt.

Warren G. Vining Electrocuted in Saturday Mishap

Warren G. Vining, 29, of 183 Green street, died instantly of electrocution about 5 p. m., Saturday, while repairing a vibrating screen used in washing stone at the Callanan Road Improvement Company in New Salem.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle issued a verdict of death from shock due to accidental electrocution.

THE CORONER said Mr. Vining, who had been employed at Callanan's for about three months, was working with Max Barek of Accord when the accident occurred.

Mr. Vining was sitting on a steel girder when an electric light bulb from a tramp cord hanging overhead exploded, the coroner said. It was theorized that water dropping from above might have struck the bulb, causing it to explode. The electricity apparently struck Mr. Vining.

MR. BAREK summoned a doctor and called Schultz Ambulance Service. When the ambulance arrived it was found that Mr. Vining was beyond treatment, the coroner said. Mr. McCarddle was notified and went to the scene.

The body was removed to the McCardle Funeral Home for further medical examination.

The funeral will be held from the McCardle Funeral Home, 99 Henry street, at 2 p. m., Tuesday, with burial in St. Remy Cemetery.

Surviving besides his widow, Mrs. Theresa Ferraro Vining, are two children, Warren Eugene and Mahala Rose.

Prison Guard Robbed Of Wallet in Prison

San Quentin, Calff., Aug. 22 (AP)—Holdups can occur in the darndest places.

Prison Guard H. A. Bain was accosted yesterday in San Quentin's east cell block by a man with a pillow case over his head and a sharpened table knife in his hand. The man, presumably an inmate, forced Bain to surrender his wallet, containing $103.

The wallet and the knife were found in an unused cell block. The wallet was empty . . . the knife void of fingerprints.

Said Nelson:

"This is kind of embarrassing. This is grand larceny."

Marine Drowns Trying To Save His Friends

Oceanside, Calif., Aug. 22 (AP)—A Camp Pendleton marine left an overloaded inner tube to two companions yesterday and tried to swim back to an ocean beach. He drowned.

County lifeguards credited Cpl. Louis Feldman, 19, of Yonkers, N. Y., with probably saving the lives of Pvt. Richard Ellis, 21, and Cpl. Max L. Barnett, 20, also of camp Pendleton, at the cost of his own.

The three, none strong swimmers, all clung to the inflated tube when they were swept seaward by a rip tide of an unguarded stretch of La Costa Downs Beach, north of here.

Feldman attempted the swim because the others were having trouble clinging to the tube, nearly submerged under the weight of the three. His body was found after it had drifted back into shallow water.

2 Women Hospitalized In Bridge Accident

Two women were admitted to Kingston Hospital about noon today after their 1948 sedan went out of control on the Rondout creek bridge and struck a steel abutment, according to a report in the Ulster County Sheriff's office.

They were Rosella G. Breiman, 43, of 70 Crotty avenue, Yonkers, driver of the car, and Iris Oischan, 30, of Little Neck, Queens. A small baby Rebecca Oishan, 13-months, was not injured.

Deputies Arthur Smith and William Churchill said the car was traveling south on the bridge about 11:30 a. m., when Mrs. Breiman became nervous about the baby. The car veered left suddenly and struck the abutment.

Both were reported in apparently satisfactory condition by hospital authorities.

Mrs. Breiman had cuts on the nose, left leg and right arm, and Mrs. Oischan extensive injuries. They were being X-rayed this afternoon.

Long Island Man Dies at Wheel On Thruway

Oscar L. Heinemann, 67, of 380 Jackson avenue, West Hempstead, L. I., died suddenly at the wheel of his car on the Thruway just south of the village of New Paltz about 4:10 p. m. Friday, it was reported by Coroner Francis J. McCardle.

The car went out of control near Mile Post 76.8, left the southbound lane and rolled down an embankment, coming to rest in a swampy section.

Mr. Heinemann, a commercial broker for Farr & Co. of New York, was pronounced dead at the scene by a physician from the village of New Paltz.

Mrs. Heinemann, a passenger, was taken by ambulance to Kingston Hospital suffering from fractures of the right humerus and left tibia, Mr. McCardle said.

JUST BEFORE the accident Mr. Heinemann told his wife he felt dizzy, the coroner said.

Trooper Harry C. Foster of the Thruway detail happened to be passing in the northbound lane just after the accident and took charge at the scene. Schultz Ambulance took Mrs. Heinemann to the hospital. Coroner McCardle said the car was damaged but did not overturn.

The body was taken to the McCardle Funeral Home, Kingston, where a postmortem revealed a thrombosis of the right coronary artery and rupture of the right ventricle with cardiac tamponade. Mr. Heinemann was dead before the car went down the embankment, Mr. McCardle said.

The body will be removed to New York city for burial Wednesday in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn.

Search for Girl's Body in Apparent Pact of Death

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—While coast guardsmen today searched the Niagara river for the body of an 18-year-old girl believed shot to death yesterday, police sought the motive behind what they said appeared to be a murder-suicide pact.

The body of Carl Wolfgang Kohler, 21, was found on a concrete pier behind a sewage disposal plant on Bird Island in the Niagara river yesterday. Marie Kiene, last seen walking with Kohler along the river bank, was missing.

THE PAIR took a taxi to the island, connected to the mainland by a small bridge, yesterday with a shotgun and two suitcases after telling their families they were leaving home, police said.

Police said a blood-stained purse containing $41 and a bank book in the girl's name were found near Kohler's body.

Also near the body were an empty shotgun shell, a slug imbedded in a clump of woman's hair, a shirt and undershirt, a girl's white sweater and two suitcases.

NEITHER Kohler's nor the girl's parents, neighbors for years, were able to offer any motive for the deaths.

Frank Kiene, the girl's father, told police that Kohler and his daughter left his home early Saturday night.

"Kohler told me how much he loved Marie," Kiene told police, "then suddenly he turned to her and asked her whether she wanted to stay or go with him. I tried to stop them, but they were determined to leave. There was nothing I could do," police quoted him as saying.

Kohler's 17-year-old sister, Emma, said Marie told her she was not pregnant.

KOHLER, a factory employe, was divorced last January. He was the father of an infant girl.

The girl's father told police that she made an appointment today to take an examination for admittance to a local business school.

The death weapon, a .16 gauge shotgun, was recovered from the river. Police said Kohler apparently dropped it into the water as he slumped to the ground.

Police said the two had dated for several years up until the time of Kohler's marriage about a year-and-a-half ago.

Weekend Fatalities at 22

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Two triple fatalities and the deaths of three men in a gas explosion swelled New York state's weekend accident toll to 22. Three men were killed at East Greenbush Saturday when their automobile collided with the rear of a tractor-trailer. Three young men from New Jersey met death Saturday night when their car went out of control and overturned on Route 94 near Warwick. Two men were killed and a third was injured fatally at Riverhead Saturday night when gas exploded in the basement of a home.

roads were open in that area except Route 299 at New Paltz. The water, which covered the flats west of the New Paltz bridge, were reported to be receding rapidly.

Kingston State Police reported one-lane traffic on Route 44-55 about eight miles west of Kerhonkson near Lake Minnewaska where the road was washed out. Highway crews are repairing the road. Route 213, washed out near the Lawrenceville bridge over the Rondout creek, was still closed.

MAYOR EUGENE GLUSKER of Ellenville, one of the worst hit sections of the county, placed the estimate of damage roughly at two million dollars in that village alone.

He said six homes and the Vita-Fruit Beverage Company were destroyed by pounding waters of the Beerkill creek. Heavy equipment from the factory was washed into the stream with damage estimated at approximately $50,000. Between 200 and 500 homes in the village were damaged. In one area 12 homes were badly inundated until Saturday.

Mayor Glusker, who has been assured of emergency aid by Gov. Harriman, estimated a loss of half a million dollars in homes alone.

HE SAID the village almost "lost a policeman" during the height of the flood as the man attempted to rescue a woman trapped in her home. The man, who was not identified, managed to grab hold of a tree. Just as rescuers got a life line to him the tree was swept down the river.

Mayor Glusker said the water condition was good and telephone and electricity perfect.

He said there was a break in the main water line and that two smaller areas were still missing service. A test by the Ulster County Health Department, however, showed the water to be in good condition.

MANY STORES in the business areas had water in their cellars, the mayor reported, with heavy damage to merchandise in some areas. He said he had thrown out thousands of dollars worth of goods in his own store basement.

Mayor Glusker said the Red Cross had requested an estimate of damage which was being prepared by an assessor and a local real estate broker. Eleven applications for rehabilitation have been made to the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, from Ellenville, he said.

He said the offices of Channel Masters had been flooded out but he believed the damage was light.

AS ADDITIONAL rains fell yesterday the village had bulldozers out to shore up the banks of the Beer Kill. The creek rose about eight inches but threatened no further violence. The mayor said the state had promised to underwrite the cost of putting the streams back in their banks — that is, the cost of bulldozers, steam shovels, etc.

Mayor John Mooney of Rosendale, hard hit by the mighty Rondout, estimated damage there at $100,000 — consisting principally of damage to homes, foundations, store merchandise, frozen foods, etc.

He said the village was recovering rapidly, that now the "creek looks pretty normal," although water is still high in the fields. Route 32 has been reopened below Rosendale.

HE ESTIMATED that approximately 25 or 30 homes in the village had been flooded. He said a couple of cottages at the Villa Bianca and four or five bungalows across from the Chalet had been "lost."

Mayor Mooney praised the work of volunteer firemen, Civil Defense auxiliaries and others who worked day and night in rescue and relief work. The sheriff's office and Kingston State Police evacuated almost 60 persons from the Villa Bianca at the height of the flood. Others were evacuated from the Fred Pflum cottages. He expressed his appreciation to volunteer firemen for their work in pumping out cellars, dozens of which were flooded. Many of the celars were flooded to the ceiling.

THE MAYOR SAID considerable damage occurred when electricity cut off, causing frozen foods, ice cream, etc., to perish.

He said utilities had been restored and the water situation was good. There were no breaks in the main water line. A check of water by the health department showed it was safe, he said.

A section of road on Lower James street between Route 32 and Upper James street was undermined by water and a culvert on Mountain road near Ebtinger Farm was damaged. Crews were repairing these spots today.

THE VILLAGE had a "canteen" for volunteer workers in the Rosendale Reformed Church.

Mrs. Howard Anderson of Accord said this morning that a good part of a herd of cattle, numbering about 60 head, was beginning to return to the farm. The entire herd was feared lost during the weekend but Mrs. Anderson was more optimistic today.

"We don't really know yet how many of the flock are lost," she told The Freeman. She said many of the Angus herd were "coming in out of the woods." She feared that some of the herd's 20 small calves might have been lost. The water rose four or five feet in the fields with no high ground in the vicinity. They might have swam to points of safety, however.

Dr. Dudley Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, said today the polio situation was unchanged with no new cases reported.

Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation for the Ulster County Health Department, said this morning that major damage to public water systems in the county had been repaired except in one section of Ellenville.

IN ELLENVILLE 35 homes were still without water service as the result of a break in the main line. A temporary line is being laid today to supply these homes. Another section of about 35 homes is being supplied by a fire hose.

There is ample water, he said. Samples are "satisfactory as of now." Mr. Edinger said Water Superintendent Joseph Burhans and the village board of trustees had done an excellent job in the water emergency.

There was no damage to the distribution system in Rosendale when the water receded, he said.

Margaret's Romantic Intentions Still Quiet

Ballater, Scotland, Aug. 22 (AP)—Britain's royal family got ready to barbecue a 200-pound side of beef today as a postscript to Princess Margaret's 25th birthday. The anniversary itself passed yesterday with the world no wiser as to her romantic intentions.

The festivity on the spacious lawns of Balmoral Castle normally would have taken place on Margaret's birthday, but her elder sister, Queen Elizabeth II, kept the Sabbath quiet in the tradition of her late father.

Margaret sat with her sister and other kin in crowded Crathie Parish Church yesterday as the Rev. John Lamb intoned:

"This is Princess Margaret's birthday. May she find the fulfilment of her desires."

Scouts Settle Down to Jamboree

Niagara-on-the Lake, Ont., Aug. 22 (AP) — With the official speech making over, for the time being at least, the 10,000 Boy Scouts here for the 8th World Jamboree settled down today to the business of sightseeing, swapping and just moseying.

Undaunted by the terrific heat that has engulfed the whole campsite at this historic little village, the scouts are busy making the trip worthwhile.

JUST ABOUT everyone is trying hard to make this a successful meeting, as well as to make the scouts at home. Signs in front of homes all through the village welcome the scouts to come in and partake of some cookies and refreshments. The scouts are obliging in large numbers. One woman reports she has dispensed 65 cases of soft drinks and 30 packages of sweets and cookies.

Elsewhere in the camp, the boys seem to be having little difficulty in getting past the language barriers to determine how many shoulder patches from a uniform are needed to purchase a "genuine" Gila Monster from Texas, and so forth.

THE SCOUTS seem willing to swap anything that isn't nailed down, with the possible exception of their tickets home.

Pageantry, too, has had its day as Canadian scouts enacted some of the historic events of nearby Fort George, scene of the War of 1812 action.

American scouts performed an Indian tribal dance yesterday and scouts from the 68 nations represented will present homeland specialties all this week.

SATURDAY, the Hon. Vincent Massey, Governor-General of Canada, officially welcomed the boys in wilting 99-degree heat.

the Joint Legislative Committee and has served as chairman of the New York State Bar Association Committee on Negligence Litigation.

In Ulster county he has been assistant district attorney and district attorney and also special prosecutor for Columbia county. He is the present City of Kingston chairman of the Republican Party in Ulster county.

Numerous members of the College were present at the induction for the 78th annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

Thirty-one attorneys who practice in New York state received the honor Saturday and included, besides Mr. Haver, Thomas E. Dewey, former governor.

An Honorary Fellowship was presented to George Wharton Pepper, former U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania. He joins Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson of the United States Supreme Court, Judge Harold R. Medina of the U. S. Court of Appeals, John W. Davis of New York and Sir Godfrey Russell Vick, Q. C. of London, England.

The principal address during the induction was made by Sir Lionel Heald, a Queen's Counsel and a member of the British Parliament, who served from 1951 until 1954 as attorney general under Winston Churchill, then prime minister. Simon Sobeloff, solicitor general of the United States, also spoke at the induction.

governor and both legislative houses to include the appropriation in the next annual budget. The state comptroller borrows the money from a bank and the money is made available immediately.

A MAJOR problem in Ellenville, it was noted, is the rebuilding of a dike which protects the business district against rising waters of the Good Beerkill. If another flood were to come soon, it could bring disaster before rebuilding of the concrete dike, which is about 1,500 feet long, and four-feet thick.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The stock market slipped a bit lower in early afternoon today.

Gains and losses were mostly in fractions and few price changes were as much as a point.

Activity was fair at the opening due to the usual pile-up of orders over the weekend but soon slowed down to about the pace of Friday when volume totaled 1,400,000 shares.

Tide Closes Beach

High tide in the Hudson river backing against a heavy down flow contributed by flood-swelled contributories, backed over Delaware avenue and caused the closing of Kingston Point Beach Sunday. A police report at 4:47 p. m., said that water covered Delaware avenue near North street and those at the beach were asked to leave. Officers Charles McCullough and Ira Hadsel, who investigated, said the water at the time they toured the area was up to the hub caps of automobiles.

Anti-Aircraft at Osan Is Activated by Rhee

Seoul, Aug. 21 (AP)—South Korea's first anti-aircraft artillery brigade was activated by President Syngman Rhee today at the Osan U. S. Air Base, 35 miles south of here.

The 10th U. S. AAA group trained the new unit.

Lt. Gen. John H. Collier, deputy U. S. 8th Army commander, said the activation "marks another milestone in the defense structure of the Republic of Korea."

Rhee told the unit it has "an important mission" because "Communist North Korea puppets are building up illegally their airpower."

strenuously to improve the situation in Morocco since his appointment last month, left yesterday for a quick visit to Algeria. Returning last night to Rabat, the Moroccan capital, he was to fly on to Aix Le Bains today.

The first arrivals in the French resort were supporters of the aging Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa, whose shaky regime is in extreme straits. The powerful Pasha of Marrakech, Thami El Glaoui, went by plane last night for the talks. His supporters provide the backbone in the new cabinet named over the weekend by the Sultan. The cabinet was not given much chance of success.

El Glaoui was the prime mover two years ago in the French ouster of former Sultan Mahammed Ben Youssef, who has become a nationalist symbol. Saturday's outbreaks were timed for the second anniversary of Ben Youssef's removal from the throne.

New Klan Head Will Halt Evils on Whites

Conway, S. C., Aug. 22 (AP)—A Georgia ex-serviceman, the new Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, says he wants his organization to be "strong and vicious enough to fight the evils against the white man."

E. L. Edwards of Atlanta, addressing a throng of about 1,500 here Saturday night against the background of a blazing white cross, promised his organization "will stay within the law . . . but this is a white man's organization fighting for white supremacy."

Edwards, who calls his organization "U. S. Klan, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," was dressed in a flowing gold robe topped by a gold hood. He wore no mask. An assistant, J. H. Brickley, a Marion carpenter, was robed in white.

Flood Reroutes Trains

Trains of the Erie and Delaware Lackawanna and Western railroads, unable to travel over their respective routes in the southeastern part of the state, are using the West Shore line through the Hudson Valley region, it was learned today. It is expected that the use of the West Shore tracks will continue until the other railroads are repaired. Railroad officials were unable to state today how long that would be.

He said he personally interrogated eyewitnesses to the incident.

The two-star air force general warned that allied troops, which so far have refrained from shooting at Communist aircraft which accidentally fly over United Nations lines, may soon resort to retaliation. "It may be difficult," Parks declared, "to maintain this one sided control" in the face of constant Communist abuse.

THE SMALL trainer plane, flying from Kimpo air base near Seoul, was blasted out of the sky by Communist gunners when it accidentally flew over the demilitarized zone.

In trying to evade the Red anti-aircraft fire, Parks said, the pilot veered toward Communist territory to the north and crashed in territory controlled by the Communists.

Parks told the Communists Sunday that it was ridiculous to suppose the pilot would have deliberately flown toward Red territory.

HE SAID the plane's course (toward North Korea) after first being fired upon proved the United Nations contention that the pilot was hopelessly lost and without directional orientation at the time.

(Communist North Korea's Pyongyang radio, in its broadcast account of the Sunday meeting, said "the American side jabbered nonsensical dogmas, full of incongruity and hopeless self-contradiction, in an attempt to obscure the real state of the incident. . . ."

(The broadcast, monitored in San Francisco, said the plane was "reconnoitering the defense installations of our side," and declared "the intrusion into the area under the military control of our side was confirmed by 2nd Lt. Bumpas himself. . . ."

(Pyongyang said the Communist representative, Maj. Gen. Chung Kook Rok, "sternly demanded the American side to punish severely the persons involved in this incident . . . and take effective measures so as to prevent the recurrence of similar instances in the future.")

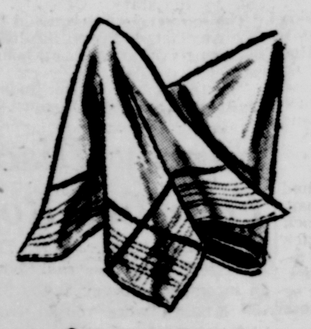

New Fighting Near Gaza

Gaza, Egyptian-held Palestine, Aug. 22 (AP)—A new outbreak of fighting between Israelis and Egyptians was reported near Gaza today. Machinegun and artillery firing could be heard from east of the town. There was no immediate announcement concerning the incident in the coastal strip which has been the scene of frequent clashes between Israel and Egypt.

Investor Forum

With the Dow-Jones stock averages about as high as they have ever been, this question arises in the minds of many American stockholders: "Should I take profits?"

Countless numbers of investors are psychologically and economically unprepared for a sharp sell-off in the stock market. Far too few stockholders have deep convictions about their shares. They are like a ship without a rudder, floating on a sea of economic uncertainty and buffetted about by cross-currents of opinion spoken in brokerage offices and on street corners.

Of course, every investor is a law unto himself. And the suggestions about profit-taking made in this article should be tempered by sound judgment. I shall speak in general terms about investors who fall into definite classifications.

THE FIRST GROUP are those stockholders whose shares are worth from $5,000 to $25,000. Most of these investors are interested in capital accumulation. There are tens of thousands of shareholders in this classification whose profits are 100, 200 and 300%. A 50 or 100 point decline in the Dow-Jones industrial averages would frighten many of these people.

Consequently, with large profits available, it would be wise to cash in some of their shares and buy other securities that will be stable price-wise if stock prices should tumble.

I shall illustrate. Ten and twelve years ago a man, now 40, bought $7,500 worth of good stocks. Today, they are worth $32,000. Will they go higher? Probably. Will they go lower? They could.

He has just sold $20,000 of them. He has paid off the $5,000 4½ per cent mortgage on his house, set aside capital gains taxes and bought himself $10,000 worth of United States government three per cent bonds due in 1995. The $300 interest on the bonds will pay the taxes and part of the upkeep on his house.

To all American stockholders with wealth in shares totaling around $25,000, let me urge that this year, next year and beyond, when you have interesting profits in shares, look about you to see if, by taking some of them, you can improve your economic position.

Then, there is another classification: those whose wealth runs from $25,000 to $100,000. Many of these people speculate for capital gains. Often they are stymied in taking profits. They ask: "I would like to take profits but what will I do with the money?"

It is well for all such speculators to select carefully a non-inflationary stock of a leading corporation (like a utility of national importance or a billion dollar international banking institution) and invest speculative profits into that.

Profit-takers should always have a clear idea about the reposing place of their gains. When this is so, decisions about cashing profits are more easily made.

Finally, we come to that classification of stockholders whose wealth runs from $100,000 into the millions. An investor whose stocks are worth $100,000 and produce annual income of from $5,000 to $10,000 usually disregards the price fluctuations in his shares. The investor whose shares are worth $200,000 to $1,000,000 or more should acclimate himself to price changes. A 25 per cent decline or a 50 per cent advance in the market value of his shares should not disturb him. Seldom will he take profits. And when he does, sound economic reasons will dictate such changes.

THE FORUM—(Q) "My uncle unexpectedly left me $5,000. I want to make $50,000 with it in ten years. If I lose it all it won't matter. But I do want to make a lot in ten years."

Teachers Wanted

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—Soon after the State Chamber of Commerce pooh-poohed the West Virginia teacher shortage in a bulletin to members, Managing Director Harry A. Stansbury received a letter. Wetzel County School Supt. S. R. Wood wrote facetiously asking if Stansbury could supply him with: a band instructor, an athletic coach, two librarians, a manual arts teacher, and a home economics teacher.

Scientific evidence indicates that the earth is about three billion years old.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Suppose you got 200 people into a hall with an aisle down the middle, 100 on each side of the aisle.

They hold a town meeting and vote that the 100 people on the right side of the aisle shall be assessed $1 each, their dollars to be handed to each of the 100 persons on the left side of the aisle.

Mr. Hutton

This pleases the people on the left side very much. But has it increased total purchasing power?

Won't the people on the right side have just as much LESS purchasing power as the other side has MORE? Is there any more money in the hall?

Sounds screwy that folks would vote for a thing like that, but they do. Increasing minimum wages is an example. More prominent today is increasing any wage that is not related to an increase in production.

Every wage is another man's cost, the ultimate consumer. You don't increase the total purchasing power of the nation by a compulsory transfer of money from consumers to producers. If these transfers all went only to very poor people, you might justify it as charity, paid for by a hidden sales tax.

But these forced transfers of money, in one way or the other, enrich the highest paid workers at the expense of all consumers.

Yet from Mrs. Roosevelt on down, we are told that "more people will have an opportunity to buy more of the things that they use."

Mrs. Roosevelt was talking only about the people on the left side of the aisle.

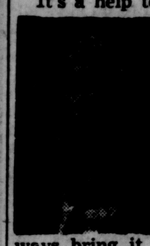

Right, neighbor?

Holding the Bag

By FRANK TRIPP

Almost every time a fellow rates a complimentary dinner, his friends give him a traveling bag. A going away present for a bird who often would rather stay right where he is and keep his job.

The only good reason that I can see is the chance it gives the diners to spring all the bromides about "holding the bag."

It's a help to a drafted toastmaster. There's a stock speech, with or without pathos, that always ends, "Elmer, your friends hope you will use this slight expression of their affection often but always bring it back."

Then the emcee reaches behind his chair and clumsily brings forth the satchel which has been there all evening, right where the recipient has had a good look at it and already wished they'd given him the dough.

The wit who's been presiding tips over two glasses and a candlestick but finally gets the luggage into the hands of the disappointed guest of honor. Elmer opens it, hoping to find a fifth inside; but it's empty and lined like a gypsy tent.

Hardly able to talk, he gulps his appreciation and sheds a few tears. The congregation thinks it's emotion but the poor guy is crying real grief. He's thinking of what he wished he got.

I HAD an attic full of traveling bags that were given me for making speeches. The bags were as good as the speeches, which isn't saying much. Meantime I had three watches go on the bum and every time I hoped the honorarium would be a watch, but it never was.

Finally I got wise. When they invited me to speak and mentioned that they didn't have much to spend for a fee, I told them how much is would be.

When they learned that I was fed up on traveling bags they'd write back that because of sickness in the chairman's family the affair had been called off.

If you can stand on your feet and keep your tongue wagging for 20 minutes or better you can make a speech a week, provided you stay amateur, charge no fee and settle for a traveling bag now and then.

When I bought my last watch I was tempted to emulate a cartoonist friend of mine, who also had an attic full of traveling gear.

One day he went off on a quiet solo toot. Passing a jeweler's window, watches caught his fancy. He bought one and had it engraved: "Presented to the biggest sap on earth, by himself, for no good reason whatever."

A RETIRING fire chief in a little burg near my town was given a big send off. They presented him a silver fire axe with a mahogany handle.

It was such an important occasion that the committee let the chief in on it so the ceremony could be letter perfect. The man who was to make the presentation and the chief got long speeches written for them and met every night for a week to rehearse. They had the whole thing down pat.

Then came the big night. The town hall was packed. The chairman called the chief to the rostrum. He had the axe behind his back and the chief stood before him.

The knees of both wobbled, then got weak. There was a long pause. The chairman couldn't get his speech started. Finally he said:

"Well, Joe, here's the axe."

"Damned if it ain't," stammered Joe—and the ceremony ended.

"THE FRIENDLY HOME OF THRIFT"

MEMO TO A HUSBAND:

Surprising how time flies! Yet, the girl you married so many years ago has changed so little!

True, she has acquired a new dignity and serenity — and they are so becoming to her!

Remember how you resolved, on your wedding day, that nothing was too good for her and that you would carry her through life on your own two hands?

Now, you realize that she was determined to be a real helpmate — and how successfully she has raised the whole difficult family—including you!

There's no one else in the world who can make hamburgers taste like the Waldorf's roast beef! And the little vixen sounded SO sincere when she said, "Cadillacs are awfully common this year! I'd really much rather have a Ford!"

She deserves so much from all of you! How in the world can you show your appreciation?

Confidentially, she's quite happy in her little family world— if it wasn't for that balky, old-fashioned furnace at the bottom of an endless flight of stairs! She dreams of a new, carefree, automatic heating system. And hers are always sweet dreams, so, of course, she dreams of an economical, clean, oil heating system.

Your oil heat dealer is not a magician, but he can make that fondest dream come true!

But these forced transfers of money, in one way or the other, enrich the highest paid workers at the expense of all consumers.

Yet from Mrs. Roosevelt on down, we are told that "more people will have an opportunity to buy more of the things that they use."

Mrs. Roosevelt was talking only about the people on the left side of the aisle.

Right, neighbor?

By FRANK TRIPP

Almost every time a fellow rates a complimentary dinner, his friends give him a traveling bag. A going away present for a bird who often would rather stay right where he is and keep his job.

The only good reason that I can see is the chance it gives the diners to spring all the bromides about "holding the bag."

It's a help to a drafted toastmaster. There's a stock speech, with or without pathos, that always ends, "Elmer, your friends hope you will use this slight expression of their affection often but always bring it back."

Then the emcee reaches behind his chair and clumsily brings forth the satchel which has been there all evening, right where the recipient has had a good look at it and already wished they'd given him the dough.

The wit who's been presiding tips over two glasses and a candlestick but finally gets the luggage into the hands of the disappointed guest of honor. Elmer opens it, hoping to find a fifth inside; but it's empty and lined like a gypsy tent.

Hardly able to talk, he gulps his appreciation and sheds a few tears. The congregation thinks it's emotion but the poor guy is crying real grief. He's thinking of what he wished he got.

I HAD an attic full of traveling bags that were given me for making speeches. The bags were as good as the speeches, which isn't saying much. Meantime I had three watches go on the bum and every time I hoped the honorarium would be a watch, but it never was.

Finally I got wise. When they invited me to speak and mentioned that they didn't have much to spend for a fee, I told them how much is would be.

When they learned that I was fed up on traveling bags they'd write back that because of sickness in the chairman's family the affair had been called off.

If you can stand on your feet and keep your tongue wagging for 20 minutes or better you can make a speech a week, provided you stay amateur, charge no fee and settle for a traveling bag now and then.

When I bought my last watch I was tempted to emulate a cartoonist friend of mine, who also had an attic full of traveling gear.

One day he went off on a quiet solo toot. Passing a jeweler's window, watches caught his fancy. He bought one and had it engraved: "Presented to the biggest sap on earth, by himself, for no good reason whatever."

A RETIRING fire chief in a little burg near my town was given a big send off. They presented him a silver fire axe with a mahogany handle.

It was such an important occasion that the committee let the chief in on it so the ceremony could be letter perfect. The man who was to make the presentation and the chief got long speeches written for them and met every night for a week to rehearse. They had the whole thing down pat.

Then came the big night. The town hall was packed. The chairman called the chief to the rostrum. He had the axe behind his back and the chief stood before him.

The knees of both wobbled, then got weak. There was a long pause. The chairman couldn't get his speech started. Finally he said:

"Well, Joe, here's the axe."

"Damned if it ain't," stammered Joe—and the ceremony ended.

"THE FRIENDLY HOME OF THRIFT"

MEMO TO A HUSBAND:

Surprising how time flies! Yet, the girl you married so many years ago has changed so little!

True, she has acquired a new dignity and serenity — and they are so becoming to her!

Remember how you resolved, on your wedding day, that nothing was too good for her and that you would carry her through life on your own two hands?

Now, you realize that she was determined to be a real helpmate — and how successfully she has raised the whole difficult family—including you!

There's no one else in the world who can make hamburgers taste like the Waldorf's roast beef! And the little vixen sounded SO sincere when she said, "Cadillacs are awfully common this year! I'd really much rather have a Ford!"

She deserves so much from all of you! How in the world can you show your appreciation?

Confidentially, she's quite happy in her little family world— if it wasn't for that balky, old-fashioned furnace at the bottom of an endless flight of stairs! She dreams of a new, carefree, automatic heating system. And hers are always sweet dreams, so, of course, she dreams of an economical, clean, oil heating system.

Your oil heat dealer is not a magician, but he can make that fondest dream come true!

KOREA—A FORCEFUL REMINDER

Korea, only two years ago just emerging from the dust of battle, has been pretty much on the list of forgotten places in 1955. When people have spoken of the "Asian problem," they have been thinking of Formosa and Indochina.

Now the South Koreans are forcefully and somewhat painfully reminding us of their existence. We are compelled to remember that Korea is still an unhappy land, torn between freedom and communism.

Since the 1953 truce, a neutral commission composed of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Switzerland has been supervising the armistice. The commission's duties include inspection in both North and South Korea to detect whether any illegal build-up of military force has been made.

It is now an old story that Communist North Korea never allowed commission members necessary access to vital areas prescribed by the truce terms. Despite this, the United Nations Command still established in South Korea ferreted out evidence of a tremendous Red build-up north of the demarcation line.

Knowing this, and fearing a new southward push some day by Communist armies, South Koreans from President Rhee on down have been inflamed. Hence they are today taking their wrath out on the neutral commission, which has been attempting to carry out similar inspections south of the truce line.

The fury and frustration of the South Koreans is understandable up to a point. They know the commission's Red members have balked the agency's work, and probably are operating as spies.

But Rhee and other South Korean leaders should not have let their anger erupt into violence, particularly against the American soldiers who are inescapably charged with the duty of protecting the commission. Americans have been stoned in mob riots and other incidents.

Belatedly, Rhee did speak out against violence. But it is well known that he wants a renewal of the Korean war because he believes that is the only way his country ever will be unified.

Yet America and its Western friends now are committed to seeking a political, not a military, settlement of the Korean problem.

We know such a course means anguish for millions of Koreans, as does our determination to seek peaceful solutions produce similar unhappiness in other divided lands like Germany and Indochina.

The alternative Rhee proposes is unthinkable. We would ask him to remember what sort of destruction another war might bring. And we would ask him and his people to remember, too, what America did to save at least a sizable part of their country for freedom. Stones are a poor reward for the blood sacrifices of thousands of young Americans.

STILL SHRINKING

It was an historic moment at the U. S. Census Bureau some decades back when it was determined that more Americans were living in cities than in rural areas.

Since that time, thé percentage of people in cities has mounted steadily. Not even the striking general increase in U. S. population during and after World War 2 has materially altered the trend.

Now we learn that our farm population has dropped another three million since 1950. It is down to 22 million out of more than 165 million for the country at large—only about 13.5 per cent.

Around the turn of the century, men would undoubtedly have laughed at the prospect of such ratios. But they are a reality, and evidence indicates the trek away from the farms will go on apace for more years still.

The lure of the city is just part of the story. The farms are becoming factories, and machines are taking the place of men. As this happens, the men go where work can be found. The land likely will never again teem with millions of hands relying on raw strength to draw out its wealth.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

NOT IN THE BAG

The technique employed by Adlai Stevenson's managers is to give the impression that his nomination is in the bag. How can it be in the bag if he does not have the delegations of New York, Ohio, and Texas? But the Stevenson managers take the position that all they need to do is to announce that Stevenson will run and all Democrats will fall in line. By the constant repetition of an attitude and by the most cleverly punctuated public relations, the Stevenson camp hopes to steam-roller the Democratic Convention so that he is nominated on the first ballot. It is a form of mass hypnosis like its Republican counterpart that Eisenhower cannot be defeated. If the party managers continue along these lines, no one will have any reason for going to the polls as everything is all decided anyhow.

It is clear that Carmine DeSapio does not want Stevenson. He turned down Vincent Impellitteri for Mayor of New York and achieved the nomination of Robert Wagner and won. Wagner has made an extraordinarily good Mayor and New York has the most efficient Administration it has known in decades.

Then Carmine DeSapio turned down Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., for Governor of the State of New York. It was risky politics rejecting a Roosevelt in New York. Junior tried the same trick that Stevenson is employing—blitz the leaders into believing that it is in the bag. When Junior lunched with Carmine DeSapio and Charles Buckley, the leader of the Bronx, and told them that all they had to do was to jump on his bandwagon, they gave him to understand that if he was so well-fixed, he did not need them. And that ended it. Averell Harriman was nominated and, beating the Dewey machine, was elected.

Last Spring, Charles Buckley delivered an address in which he told the A.D.A. and the Liberal Party that they were not wanted and that the Democrats in New York would have nothing further to do with them. Carmine DeSapio sat on the dais and applauded vociferously. That ended an alliance, which at one time included Communists, between the Democrats and the left-wingers, organized by Franklin D. Roosevelt to help keep Fiorello La Guardia in office.

Now comes the question of Adlai Stevenson. In the first place DeSapio does not like Stevenson because he has had a tendency to be A.D.A. in thought, if not in membership. Secondly, most of his personal associates have been of the A.D.A. stripe. Thirdly, he ran, he was humiliatingly defeated, and during the nearly three years since his defeat, he has done nothing to strengthen himself.

As a matter of arithmetic, Stevenson was defeated by Democrats. He lost the Solid South to Eisenhower because of his radical connections. For what reason would he not lose the Solid South in 1956? He did not do too well in the Big Cities which Roosevelt had turned into fortresses of Democratic strength. For what reason would Stevenson do better in the Big Cities in 1956? What has Stevenson done since 1952 to strengthen his position besides me-tooing Eisenhower? And if Eisenhower is so perfect, how is he going to be defeated by Stevenson?

The position of Carmine DeSapio would be that Stevenson does not have an outside chance of being elected; therefore why should he be nominated? Is that an admission of the Democratic Party that it is running for defeat in 1956? Is it sound for a party ever to run for defeat? Are there no men in the Democratic Party who might win? Does the Party have to accept the Republican slogan that Eisenhower is unbeatable? Is not such a slogan itself in the nature of a public relations Blitzkrieg?

At any rate, this is the nature of New York Democratic thinking on the subject of Adlai Stevenson and obviously as long as the leaders think that way, Stevenson will not get the New York delegation unless there is no other candidate. The New Yorkers like Averell Harriman, but they would take Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio; they would take Governor Shivers of Texas. They do not become ecstatic over either Senator Kefauver or Senator Symington who once was quite a hero in these parts before the McCarthy television show. But Stevenson, they do not want, as they do not want the A.D.A.

That Body of Yours

PHYSICIANS' FEES

Some weeks ago we discussed the misunderstandings that occasionally arise between doctors and patients concerning fees and stressed the idea of the physician discussing early the question of finances with the patient. Many people do not like to discuss this question and yet, when the doctor's bill arrives, they are likely to be horrified at the amount involved. They feel that the subject of money should not be mentioned but they have a good deal to say when it comes to settling the bill.

In this regard, I would like to quote at some length, a letter which appeared in the correspondence section of the Journal of the American Medical Association sent in by the head of a large company. It may be said that he was in a position in which doctors' bills were no worry to him. However, some of the points he makes are worth our attention.

"I travel all over the world continuously and I often hear the statement in foreign countries, and also in our own country, that doctors charge outrageous prices. Well, my feeling is that doctors charge far too little, for they are probably the most underpaid group of working people anywhere in the world. Statistics show that their life expectancy is below average in most countries. I started to make a living when I was 16 years old and there are very few doctors who are in a position to have an income even if they are 26 years old. Many doctors have to borrow large sums of money to be able to complete their studies and then have to buy a lot of equipment before they can ever hope to make their first dollar.....

"I have built up my business and so have dozens of other people, so that I can take into my business junior partners as I get older; I can sell shares and can retain a certain number of shares, a sufficient quantity so that when I stop working I will still have an income. Long after I have retired from working I will still have a comfortable income and so do thousands and thousands of other people in all walks of life. Workers get retirement benefits, storekeepers let their sons-in-law work for them and everybody except a doctor is in a position to take care of old age. When our workers take a vacation their pay continues; when I take a vacation my factories still produce profits; when a storekeeper takes a vacation the public still buys wares in his store. Any day or any week that a doctor does not work is a complete loss to him. The day a doctor retires he doesn't make a dollar any more. The earning capacity, therefore, of a doctor in his lifetime is far more limited than in most other professions, and this is something that the public has to realize in order to appreciate that we have to pay our doctors a decent living wage."

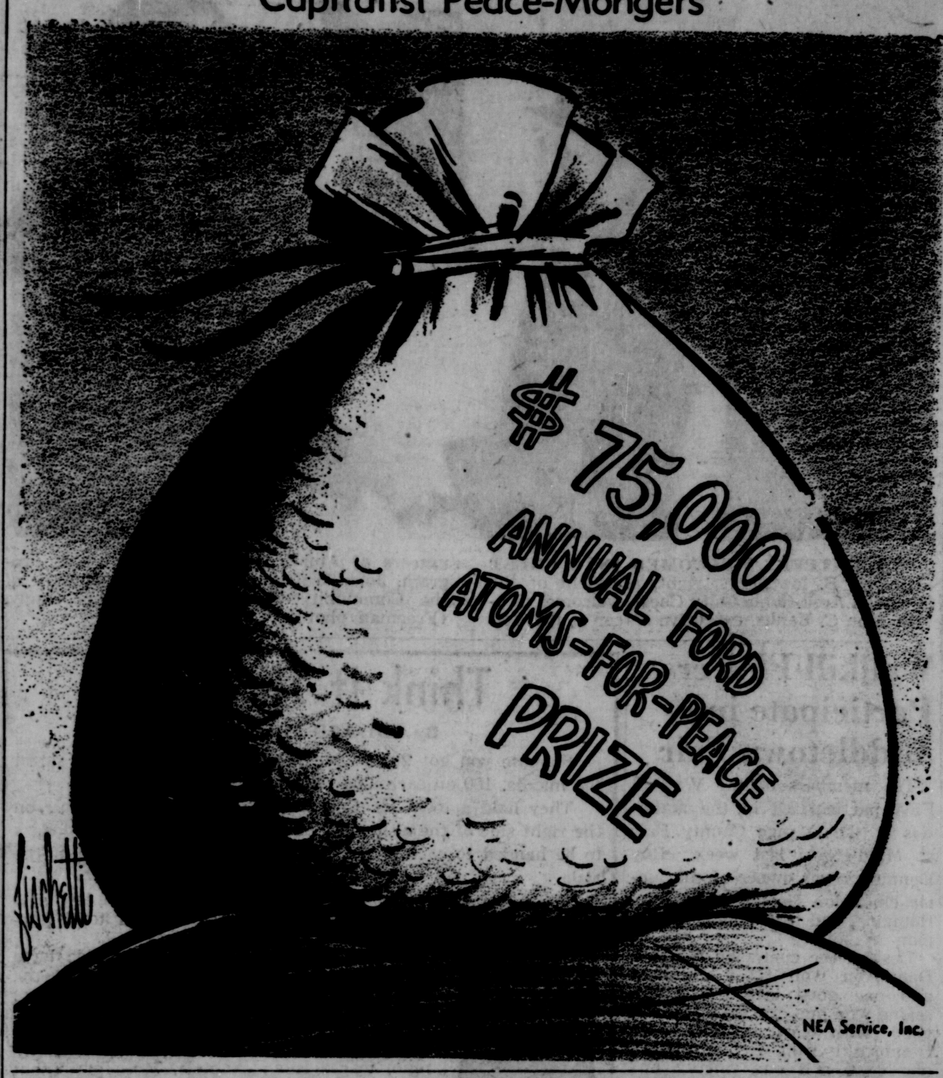

Another point which may be added is that it is fairly safe to say that no doctor gets fully paid for his services. that is, some bills are never paid and in certain cases he may send no bill, knowing the family's circumstances. There are very few occupations in which a person does not expect to get full pay for the hours of work he puts in.

Capitalist Peace-Mongers

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA) — Teetotalers like Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson have a new "cover drink" for the cocktail parties they must attend. Called "soup on the rocks," it's a special brand of beef-bouillon poured over ice into an old-fashioned glass and looks like whisky.

Several nondrinkers have amazed and startled friends by appearing to down a half-dozen "straighties" at parties without being affected a whit. Question has come up, however, as to whether consuming this new-type beverage produces a bouillion hangover next morning.

A NEW ELEVATOR operator on Capitol Hill generously allowed a gentleman to step aboard the other day. But not without letting the rider know what a good guy he was.

"Whether you realize it or not, this elevator is reserved for senators only" he announced prompously. "But I'm going to let you on anyway."

"Fine," said the gentleman. "My name is Gore, Senator Gore of Tennessee."

A FAMILIAR FIGURE on the military and embassy party circuit is Maj. Adam Eisenhauer, chief of protocal for the army. But he's always being mistaken for the President's son, Maj. John Eisenhower.

The invetiable happened at a recent reception given by the Jordan ambassador, Abdul Monen Rifa'i. Eisenhauer was happily digging into an Arabic dish of ground meat and crushed wheat called "kibbeh," when a young thing rushed up to him.

She gushed on as to how it was such a thrill to actually meet the son of President Eisenhower. Politely he pointed out his name was spelled "hauer" not "hower."

"Oh, you spell it differently than the President," she said brightly.

"No, he is the one who spells it differently," replied the major. "The original German name is Eisenhauer."

DON QUARLES, new Secretary of the Air Force, is a quiet man, and if past experience is any indication, he is not one to welcome reporters into his office very frequently. However, he is a fast man with a quip and gets around to a lot of parties.

At a recent reception he was about to get a drink at a crowded bar when a hefty dowager rudely shouldered him out of position to get a glass of champagne. When she mumbled an apology he replied:

"Madam, there is no one I would rather have bump me out of line than you."

AS LONG as the bus and streetcar strike lasts here, police aren't standing for any nonsense from drivers who delay traffic. A few days ago, a senator doubleparked downtown and went into a department store to get a suit.

"If a cop tells you to move along just explain you're waiting for me, and you won't have any trouble," the senator told his aide. Soon a policeman pulled up and asked the young man to get on his way.

So he informed the cop just who it was he was waiting for. "That's interesting, buddy," came the reply. "But President Eisenhower is right behind you. So move on!"

DURING THE LAST hectic days of this session of Congress a number of virtually unnoticed bills were brought up. One of these was a private bill to allow a wealthy Oregon lumberman to return to this country with eight adopted South Korean war orphans. The legal limit is two.

While Mr. Harry Holt of Creswell, Ore., waited for word in Korea, Rep. Edith Green (D.-Ore) and Sen. Richard Neuberger (D.-Ore.) desperately worked to steer the legislation through their respective bodies. First it was okayed by the Senate.

Then Mrs. Green sought out influential House members to help keep the bill from being dropped in the rush to adjourn. At the last minute it was passed.

"Come and see our big family when the orphans arrive," joyous Mrs. Holt telegramed Rep. Green after hearing the news. And she meant "big." The Holts already have six children of their own.

OUTGOING CHIEF of Naval Operations Robert Carney has now lost count of the number of farewell parties which have been thrown for him. What bothers him slightly is that he has had to buy two new white formal uniform jackets—just as he leaves the top Navy job—to keep ahead of the laundry.

Incidentally, he reports that what looks like a stiff, uncomfortable white band around his neck on the uniform is actually a comfortable, cool arrangement. The jacket serves as both shirt and coat.

ALSO IN THE men's wear department, Secretary of Navy Charles Thomas used to be an executive of a big clothing firm and is the snappiest dresser in town. He has currently started a trend back to side vent on men's coats. Now most men's suits have a single vent in the middle. But since he had his tailor make up six new suits with side vents, men all over Washington have been copying him.

If Court Rules Unions Can Contribute, Firms May Also

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 22 — Big business has every now and then reason to welcome the advent of big unionism on the American scene. There may even be rejoicing if big unionism prevails on the Supreme Court of the United States to rule that unions can spend any amounts they please in political campaigns.

Time was when only the corporations were forbidden by the federal corrupt practices act to make any contributions, loans, or gifts to any political campaign involving offices. But in the Taft-Hartley Act passed in 1947, an amendment to the federal corrupt practices act forbade labor unions, too, from making such contributions.

NOW THE CIO is testing the issue and claims that any such restriction is an interference with the right of free speech as guaranteed by the constitution. But, though it may be disasteful to the unions, the truth is the consitution protects free speech for corporations as well. So, if the Supreme Court says the unions can contribute to political campaigns, corporations will be able to do the same thing. The 1956 campaign could yet come to be known as "the battle of billions."

Attorney General Brownell requested the indictment of a CIO union—no individuals were named — just to find out what the rights of citizens are in respect to campaign contributions. Strange as it may seem, the constitutional issue has never been passed upon squarely by the supreme court. As usual, some cases have been decided that skirted around the ends of the question but a full-fledged test has never resulted.

The Department of Justice in prosecuting the case will have to take the position that neither unions nor corporations should be allowed to finance political campaigns and that Congress was right in imposing restrictions of this kind. The question will not turn so much on the rights of free speech but on the right to assure free elections.

THE HISTORY of the cases under the corrupt practices law shows that constitutional rights are not unlimited or without qualification. Thus, campaign expenditures themselves have been limited in amount by law. Congress has from time to time felt it had the right to say what is or is not an excessive expenditure. The theory has been that candidates without funds and without the backing of powerful labor unions or rich corporations shall not be deprived of an opportunity to run for federal office.

The bill of rights in the constitution has never been interpreted by the Supreme Court as permitting unlimited liberty or license. Thus a citizen has the right of free speech, but the Supreme Court has said this doesn't give him the right "to cry fire in a crowded theatre."

NEWSPAPERS, moreover, are protected under the first amendment from any law "abridging the freedom of the press" but if, in their business of commercial pursuits, they violate the anti-trust laws, they cannot plead the first amendment as a protection.

The issue that will come before the Supreme Court is whether a labor union may use the dues of its members for political purposes and thus become converted into a "political organization" for the perod of a political campaign. If so, has Congress no right to pass laws governing the activities of "political organizations"? This is the question that will logically arise and will have to be answered.

If the freedom of speech clause is ruled to be paramount and both labor unions and corporations may spend millions upon millions of dollars in political campaigns, individual members of unions as well as individual stockholders of corporations could then file lawsuits under state laws to determine whether this is a proper use of union dues or stockholders' funds and company earnings.

IF THE COURTS say the sky is the limit and "free speech" is the only criterion, then the nation may see the beginning of the end of all the efforts by Congress in the last half century to exercise control over the methods used and the money spent in federal elections. Generally speaking, there would then be no barrier to the buying of elections by an individual or group of individuals with the most money.

Maybe when it is all over, the labor-union bosses will wish they hadn't presented the challenge in 1954 by expending money directly from their treasuries to aid congressional candidates in Michigan. In past years labor groups, known as "Political Action Committees," were organized, but they solicited funds from individuals just as any political organization does. Workers could accept or reject such pleas. This time the CIO union admits it spent money directly from union coffers and defies the federal government to stop it and argues that any law restricting such spending is unconstitutional.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Geneva — The Paris Herald Tribune recently reported from Strasbourg that A. A. Berle, Jr., a political adventurer of the Roosevelt-Truman regime, had finally come right out with the plan which the whole cabal has been promoting ever since Woodrow Wilson and his Guru, E. M. House, tried to throw our country into the old League of Nations on equal footing with Soviet Russia. According to the Paris H-T's version of a speech by Berle, he said there was no place for nationalism in the Twentieth Century. Therefore, the world must reject communism, nationalism, and other "dead ideas" and push for the creation of a universal world peace organization. This is a frank statement at last of the hostility toward the United States of America under the constitution which Berle and the rest of the cult all have sworn to defend.

The United States is organized as a nation of Republics. It has had many internal enemies most of whom, however, even today, stop short of Berle's candor in this oration delivered, the H-T told us, at something called the Free Europe University in Exile, Berle, a precocious study-boy from Harvard, went lisping off to Europe in Wilson's time and, like William C. Bullitt, another audacious gate-crasher at fateful political affairs, somehow horned into the Versailles Conference. Bullitt teamed up in Paris with Colonel House and a mincing faker slightly on the sweet side, named Lincoln Steffens. House sent Bullitt and Steffens on a mission to Moscow long before paper-collar Joe Davies ever heard of the term. Steffens was a revolutionary much too proud to fight who did his blood-letting on paper. He and Bullitt enjoyed bolshevism as they saw it in Moscow and came back to Paris to recommend to House that Wilson hold out for recognition of Soviet Russia. Wickham Steed, the Northcliffe editor, told Lloyd George this would be a dirty repudiation of the principles which the English people had fought for and wrote an editorial in the Daily Mail which wrecked the scheme for then. When Lloyd George flinched, Wilson and House had to abandon their dream of fellowship with the Kremlin.

Bullitt later married the widow of John Reed, a Harvard Red and a bum in all personal respects who, at least, had the courage, however, to man the barricades which to his dilettante comrades were only a figure of speech. This female, between Reed's death in Moscow and her marriage to Bullitt, ran a candle-light seminar in the [illegible] murky Greenwich Village which Don Marquis used to ridicule wth wondrous art. In that phase, one of her goggle-eyed sycophants was a youth with wavy golden locks which he used to toss in petulant disdain for the crude tastes of the American average man. His name was James Vincent Sheehan and he has since become a colonel, no less, although not by the old gradual process, and a member of the summer colony at Bethel, Vt., where Lucille Miller and her old man have been waging their campaign against Reds. Sheehan is not a Red himself, but he has sometimes taken esthetic pleasure and comfort in the company of such.

To get back to Berle, we may recall that he was the first person to whom Isaac Don Levine introduced a mysterious stranger named Whittaker Chambers way back in 1939. Levine, a journalist, had chanced upon the weird story of the Alger Hiss apparatus and Chambers was willing to talk and testify. For hours one night, therefore, he sat in Berle's home in Washington and poured forth his story. Berle was an assistant secretary of state. There is no record of what Berle subsequently said in conversation with President Roosevelt. But long afterward, before the House committee, he said there was a pro-Russian clique in the department, including Dean Acheson, the Hiss brothers, Alger and Donald, and others so he was outvoted and sent away to Brazil as our ambassador. He just didn't give it another thought.

However, in his testimony, he did say flatly that Drew Pearson had a leg-man snooping around state and that secret stuff so important that it was called "Magic" was leaking into papers. Pearson has had two Communist leg-men and Berle never did say which of the two was bringing in the "magic" from the Department of State. The method was for one of the Hiss cult to go to

New Atom Smasher

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP)—They are trying something new in atom smashing at the University of Michigan. Eight midwest universities — Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Purdue, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa State, are sending scientists to work on a model atom smasher combining two old principles which never have been used together. The model will use a fixed magnetic field through which the atomic particles will move. Then oddly-shaped magnets will be stationed along the way to keep them on the track. KOREA—A FORCEFUL REMINDER

Korea, only two years ago just emerging from the dust of battle, has been pretty much on the list of forgotten places in 1955. When people have spoken of the "Asian problem," they have been thinking of Formosa and Indochina.

Now the South Koreans are forcefully and somewhat painfully reminding us of their existence. We are compelled to remember that Korea is still an unhappy land, torn between freedom and communism.

Since the 1953 truce, a neutral commission composed of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Switzerland has been supervising the armistice. The commission's duties include inspection in both North and South Korea to detect whether any illegal build-up of military force has been made.

It is now an old story that Communist North Korea never allowed commission members necessary access to vital areas prescribed by the truce terms. Despite this, the United Nations Command still established in South Korea ferreted out evidence of a tremendous Red build-up north of the demarcation line.

Knowing this, and fearing a new southward push some day by Communist armies, South Koreans from President Rhee on down have been inflamed. Hence they are today taking their wrath out on the neutral commission, which has been attempting to carry out similar inspections south of the truce line.

The fury and frustration of the South Koreans is understandable up to a point. They know the commission's Red members have balked the agency's work, and probably are operating as spies.

But Rhee and other South Korean leaders should not have let their anger erupt into violence, particularly against the American soldiers who are inescapably charged with the duty of protecting the commission. Americans have been stoned in mob riots and other incidents.

Belatedly, Rhee did speak out against violence. But it is well known that he wants a renewal of the Korean war because he believes that is the only way his country ever will be unified.

Yet America and its Western friends now are committed to seeking a political, not a military, settlement of the Korean problem.

We know such a course means anguish for millions of Koreans, as does our determination to seek peaceful solutions produce similar unhappiness in other divided lands like Germany and Indochina.

The alternative Rhee proposes is unthinkable. We would ask him to remember what sort of destruction another war might bring. And we would ask him and his people to remember, too, what America did to save at least a sizable part of their country for freedom. Stones are a poor reward for the blood sacrifices of thousands of young Americans.

STILL SHRINKING

It was an historic moment at the U. S. Census Bureau some decades back when it was determined that more Americans were living in cities than in rural areas.

Since that time, thé percentage of people in cities has mounted steadily. Not even the striking general increase in U. S. population during and after World War 2 has materially altered the trend.

Now we learn that our farm population has dropped another three million since 1950. It is down to 22 million out of more than 165 million for the country at large—only about 13.5 per cent.

Around the turn of the century, men would undoubtedly have laughed at the prospect of such ratios. But they are a reality, and evidence indicates the trek away from the farms will go on apace for more years still.

The lure of the city is just part of the story. The farms are becoming factories, and machines are taking the place of men. As this happens, the men go where work can be found. The land likely will never again teem with millions of hands relying on raw strength to draw out its wealth.

'These Days'

NOT IN THE BAG

The technique employed by Adlai Stevenson's managers is to give the impression that his nomination is in the bag. How can it be in the bag if he does not have the delegations of New York, Ohio, and Texas? But the Stevenson managers take the position that all they need to do is to announce that Stevenson will run and all Democrats will fall in line. By the constant repetition of an attitude and by the most cleverly punctuated public relations, the Stevenson camp hopes to steam-roller the Democratic Convention so that he is nominated on the first ballot. It is a form of mass hypnosis like its Republican counterpart that Eisenhower cannot be defeated. If the party managers continue along these lines, no one will have any reason for going to the polls as everything is all decided anyhow.

It is clear that Carmine DeSapio does not want Stevenson. He turned down Vincent Impellitteri for Mayor of New York and achieved the nomination of Robert Wagner and won. Wagner has made an extraordinarily good Mayor and New York has the most efficient Administration it has known in decades.

Then Carmine DeSapio turned down Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., for Governor of the State of New York. It was risky politics rejecting a Roosevelt in New York. Junior tried the same trick that Stevenson is employing—blitz the leaders into believing that it is in the bag. When Junior lunched with Carmine DeSapio and Charles Buckley, the leader of the Bronx, and told them that all they had to do was to jump on his bandwagon, they gave him to understand that if he was so well-fixed, he did not need them. And that ended it. Averell Harriman was nominated and, beating the Dewey machine, was elected.

Last Spring, Charles Buckley delivered an address in which he told the A.D.A. and the Liberal Party that they were not wanted and that the Democrats in New York would have nothing further to do with them. Carmine DeSapio sat on the dais and applauded vociferously. That ended an alliance, which at one time included Communists, between the Democrats and the left-wingers, organized by Franklin D. Roosevelt to help keep Fiorello La Guardia in office.

Now comes the question of Adlai Stevenson. In the first place DeSapio does not like Stevenson because he has had a tendency to be A.D.A. in thought, if not in membership. Secondly, most of his personal associates have been of the A.D.A. stripe. Thirdly, he ran, he was humiliatingly defeated, and during the nearly three years since his defeat, he has done nothing to strengthen himself.

As a matter of arithmetic, Stevenson was defeated by Democrats. He lost the Solid South to Eisenhower because of his radical connections. For what reason would he not lose the Solid South in 1956? He did not do too well in the Big Cities which Roosevelt had turned into fortresses of Democratic strength. For what reason would Stevenson do better in the Big Cities in 1956? What has Stevenson done since 1952 to strengthen his position besides me-tooing Eisenhower? And if Eisenhower is so perfect, how is he going to be defeated by Stevenson?

The position of Carmine DeSapio would be that Stevenson does not have an outside chance of being elected; therefore why should he be nominated? Is that an admission of the Democratic Party that it is running for defeat in 1956? Is it sound for a party ever to run for defeat? Are there no men in the Democratic Party who might win? Does the Party have to accept the Republican slogan that Eisenhower is unbeatable? Is not such a slogan itself in the nature of a public relations Blitzkrieg?

At any rate, this is the nature of New York Democratic thinking on the subject of Adlai Stevenson and obviously as long as the leaders think that way, Stevenson will not get the New York delegation unless there is no other candidate. The New Yorkers like Averell Harriman, but they would take Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio; they would take Governor Shivers of Texas. They do not become ecstatic over either Senator Kefauver or Senator Symington who once was quite a hero in these parts before the McCarthy television show. But Stevenson, they do not want, as they do not want the A.D.A.

That Body of Yours

PHYSICIANS' FEES

Some weeks ago we discussed the misunderstandings that occasionally arise between doctors and patients concerning fees and stressed the idea of the physician discussing early the question of finances with the patient. Many people do not like to discuss this question and yet, when the doctor's bill arrives, they are likely to be horrified at the amount involved. They feel that the subject of money should not be mentioned but they have a good deal to say when it comes to settling the bill.

In this regard, I would like to quote at some length, a letter which appeared in the correspondence section of the Journal of the American Medical Association sent in by the head of a large company. It may be said that he was in a position in which doctors' bills were no worry to him. However, some of the points he makes are worth our attention.

"I travel all over the world continuously and I often hear the statement in foreign countries, and also in our own country, that doctors charge outrageous prices. Well, my feeling is that doctors charge far too little, for they are probably the most underpaid group of working people anywhere in the world. Statistics show that their life expectancy is below average in most countries. I started to make a living when I was 16 years old and there are very few doctors who are in a position to have an income even if they are 26 years old. Many doctors have to borrow large sums of money to be able to complete their studies and then have to buy a lot of equipment before they can ever hope to make their first dollar.....

"I have built up my business and so have dozens of other people, so that I can take into my business junior partners as I get older; I can sell shares and can retain a certain number of shares, a sufficient quantity so that when I stop working I will still have an income. Long after I have retired from working I will still have a comfortable income and so do thousands and thousands of other people in all walks of life. Workers get retirement benefits, storekeepers let their sons-in-law work for them and everybody except a doctor is in a position to take care of old age. When our workers take a vacation their pay continues; when I take a vacation my factories still produce profits; when a storekeeper takes a vacation the public still buys wares in his store. Any day or any week that a doctor does not work is a complete loss to him. The day a doctor retires he doesn't make a dollar any more. The earning capacity, therefore, of a doctor in his lifetime is far more limited than in most other professions, and this is something that the public has to realize in order to appreciate that we have to pay our doctors a decent living wage."

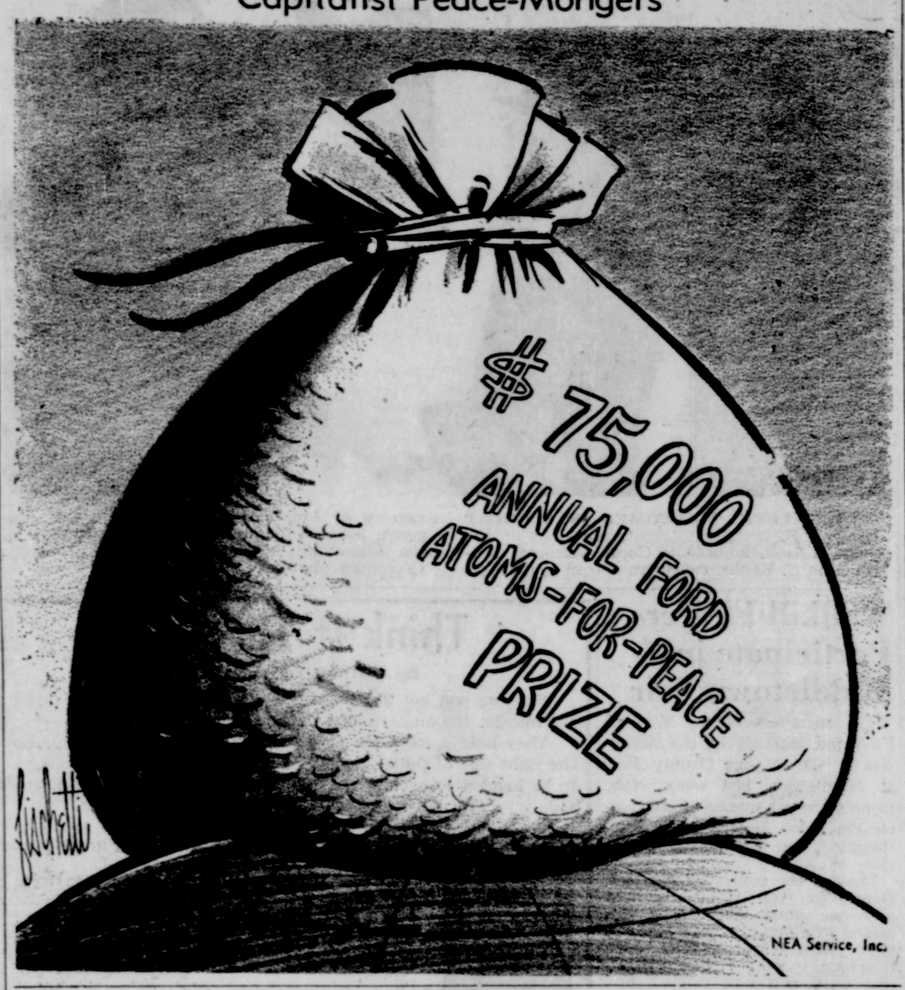

Another point which may be added is that it is fairly safe to say that no doctor gets fully paid for his services, that is, some bills are never paid and in certain cases he may send no bill, knowing the family's circumstances. There are very few occupations in which a person does not expect to get full pay for the hours of work he puts in.

Capitalist Peace-Mongers

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA) — Teetotalers like Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson have a new "cover drink" for the cocktail parties they must attend. Called "soup on the rocks," it's a special brand of beef-bouillon poured over ice into an old-fashioned glass and looks like whisky.

Several nondrinkers have amazed and startled friends by appearing to down a half-dozen "straighties" at parties without being affected a whit. Question has come up, however, as to whether consuming this new-type beverage produces a bouillon hangover next morning.

A NEW ELEVATOR operator on Capitol Hill generously allowed a gentleman to step aboard the other day. But not without letting the rider know what a good guy he was.

"Whether you realize it or not, this elevator is reserved for senators only" he announced prompously. "But I'm going to let you on anyway."

"Fine," said the gentleman. "My name is Gore, Senator Gore of Tennessee."

A FAMILIAR FIGURE on the military and embassy party circuit is Maj. Adam Eisenhauer, chief of protocal for the army. But he's always being mistaken for the President's son, Maj. John Eisenhower.

The invetiable happened at a recent reception given by the Jordan ambassador, Abdul Monen Rifa'i. Eisenhauer was happily digging into an Arabic dish of ground meat and crushed wheat called "kibbeh," when a young thing rushed up to him.

She gushed on as to how it was such a thrill to actually meet the son of President Eisenhower. Politely he pointed out his name was spelled "hauer" not "hower."

"Oh, you spell it differently than the President," she said brightly.

"No, he is the one who spells it differently," replied the major. "The original German name is Eisenhauer."

DON QUARLES, new Secretary of the Air Force, is a quiet man, and if past experience is any indication, he is not one to welcome reporters into his office very frequently. However, he is a fast man with a quip and gets around to a lot of parties.

At a recent reception he was about to get a drink at a crowded bar when a hefty dowager rudely shouldered him out of position to get a glass of champagne. When she mumbled an apology he replied:

"Madam, there is no one I would rather have bump me out of line than you."

AS LONG as the bus and streetcar strike lasts here, police aren't standing for any nonsense from drivers who delay traffic. A few days ago, a senator doubleparked downtown and went into a department store to get a suit.

"If a cop tells you to move along just explain you're waiting for me, and you won't have any trouble," the senator told his aide. Soon a policeman pulled up and asked the young man to get on his way.

So he informed the cop just who it was he was waiting for. "That's interesting, buddy," came the reply. "But President Eisenhower is right behind you. So move on!"

DURING THE LAST hectic days of this session of Congress a number of virtually unnoticed bills were brought up. One of these was a private bill to allow a wealthy Oregon lumberman to return to this country with eight adopted South Korean war orphans. The legal limit is two.

While Mr. Harry Holt of Creswell, Ore., waited for word in Korea, Rep. Edith Green (D.-Ore) and Sen. Richard Neuberger (D.-Ore.) desperately worked to steer the legislation through their respective bodies. First it was okayed by the Senate.

Then Mrs. Green sought out influential House members to help keep the bill from being dropped in the rush to adjourn. At the last minute it was passed.

"Come and see our big family when the orphans arrive," joyous Mrs. Holt telegramed Rep. Green after hearing the news. And she meant "big." The Holts already have six children of their own.

OUTGOING CHIEF of Naval Operations Robert Carney has now lost count of the number of farewell parties which have been thrown for him. What bothers him slightly is that he has had to buy two new white formal uniform jackets—just as he leaves the top Navy job—to keep ahead of the laundry.

Incidentally, he reports that what looks like a stiff, uncomfortable white band around his neck on the uniform is actually a comfortable, cool arrangement. The jacket serves as both shirt and coat.

ALSO IN THE men's wear department, Secretary of Navy Charles Thomas used to be an executive of a big clothing firm and is the snappiest dresser in town. He has currently started a trend back to side vent on men's coats. Now most men's suits have a single vent in the middle. But since he had his tailor make up six new suits with side vents, men all over Washington have been copying him.

If Court Rules Unions Can Contribute, Firms May Also

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 22 — Big business has every now and then reason to welcome the advent of big unionism on the American scene. There may even be rejoicing if big unionism prevails on the Supreme Court of the United States to rule that unions can spend any amounts they please in political campaigns.

Time was when only the corporations were forbidden by the federal corrupt practices act to make any contributions, loans, or gifts to any political campaign involving offices. But in the Taft-Hartley Act passed in 1947, an amendment to the federal corrupt practices act forbade labor unions, too, from making such contributions.

NOW THE CIO is testing the issue and claims that any such restriction is an interference with the right of free speech as guaranteed by the constitution. But, though it may be disasteful to the unions, the truth is the consitution protects free speech for corporations as well. So, if the Supreme Court says the unions can contribute to political campaigns, corporations will be able to do the same thing. The 1956 campaign could yet come to be known as "the battle of billions."

Attorney General Brownell requested the indictment of a CIO union—no individuals were named—just to find out what the rights of citizens are in respect to campaign contributions. Strange as it may seem, the constitutional issue has never been passed upon squarely by the supreme court. As usual, some cases have been decided that skirted around the ends of the question but a full-fledged test has never resulted.

The Department of Justice in prosecuting the case will have to take the position that neither unions nor corporations should be allowed to finance political campaigns and that Congress was right in imposing restrictions of this kind. The question will not turn so much on the rights of free speech but on the right to assure free elections.

THE HISTORY of the cases under the corrupt practices law shows that constitutional rights are not unlimited or without qualification. Thus, campaign expenditures themselves have been limited in amount by law. Congress has from time to time felt it had the right to say what is or is not an excessive expenditure. The theory has been that candidates without funds and without the backing of powerful labor unions or rich corporations shall not be deprived of an opportunity to run for federal office.

The bill of rights in the constitution has never been interpreted by the Supreme Court as permitting unlimited liberty or license. Thus a citizen has the right of free speech, but the Supreme Court has said this doesn't give him the right "to cry fire in a crowded theatre."

NEWSPAPERS, moreover, are protected under the first amendment from any law "abridging the freedom of the press" but if, in their business of commercial pursuits, they violate the anti-trust laws, they cannot plead the first amendment as a protection.

The issue that will come before the Supreme Court is whether a labor union may use the dues of its members for political purposes and thus become converted into a "political organization" for the perod of a political campaign. If so, has Congress no right to pass laws governing the activities of "political organizations"? This is the question that will logically arise and will have to be answered.

If the freedom of speech clause is ruled to be paramount and both labor unions and corporations may spend millions upon millions of dollars in political campaigns, individual members of unions as well as individual stockholders of corporations could then file lawsuits under state laws to determine whether this is a proper use of union dues or stockholders' funds and company earnings.

IF THE COURTS say the sky is the limit and "free speech" is the only criterion, then the nation may see the beginning of the end of all the efforts by Congress in the last half century to exercise control over the methods used and the money spent in federal elections. Generally speaking, there would then be no barrier to the buying of elections by an individual or group of individuals with the most money.

Maybe when it is all over, the labor-union bosses will wish they hadn't presented the challenge in 1954 by expending money directly from their treasuries to aid congressional candidates in Michigan. In past years labor groups, known as "Political Action Committees," were organized, but they solicited funds from individuals just as any political organization does. Workers could accept or reject such pleas. This time the CIO union admits it spent money directly from union coffers and defies the federal government to stop it and argues that any law restricting such spending is unconstitutional.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Geneva — The Paris Herald Tribune recently reported from Strasbourg that A. A. Berle, Jr., a political adventurer of the Roosevelt-Truman regime, had finally come right out with the plan which the whole cabal has been promoting ever since Woodrow Wilson and his Guru, E. M. House, tried to throw our country into the old League of Nations on equal footing with Soviet Russia. According to the Paris H-T's version of a speech by Berle, he said there was no place for nationalism in the Twentieth Century. Therefore, the world must reject communism, nationalism, and other "dead ideas" and push for the creation of a universal world peace organization. This is a frank statement at last of the hostility toward the United States of America under the constitution which Berle and the rest of the cult all have sworn to defend.

The United States is organized as a nation of Republics. It has had many internal enemies most of whom, however, even today, stop short of Berle's candor in this oration delivered, the H-T told us, at something called the Free Europe University in Exile, Berle, a precocious study-boy from Harvard, went lisping off to Europe in Wilson's time and, like William C. Bullitt, another audacious gate-crasher at fateful political affairs, somehow horned into the Versailles Conference. Bullitt teamed up in Paris with Colonel House and a mincing faker slightly on the sweet side, named Lincoln Steffens. House sent Bullitt and Steffens on a mission to Moscow long before paper-collar Joe Davies ever heard of the term. Steffens was a revolutionary much too proud to fight who did his blood-letting on paper. He and Bullitt enjoyed bolshevism as they saw it in Moscow and came back to Paris to recommend to House that Wilson hold out for recognition of Soviet Russia. Wickham Steed, the Northcliffe editor, told Lloyd George this would be a dirty repudiation of the principles which the English people had fought for and wrote an editorial in the Daily Mail which wrecked the scheme for then. When Lloyd George flinched, Wilson and House had to abandon their dream of fellowship with the Kremlin.

Bullitt later married the widow of John Reed, a Harvard Red and a bum in all personal respects who, at least, had the courage, however, to man the barricades which to his dilettante comrades were only a figure of speech. This female, between Reed's death in Moscow and her marriage to Bullitt, ran a candle-light seminar in the [illegible] murky Greenwich Village which Don Marquis used to ridicule wth wondrous art. In that phase, one of her goggle-eyed sycophants was a youth with wavy golden locks which he used to toss in petulant disdain for the crude tastes of the American average man. His name was James Vincent Sheehan and he has since become a colonel, no less, although not by the old gradual process, and a member of the summer colony at Bethel, Vt., where Lucille Miller and her old man have been waging their campaign against Reds. Sheehan is not a Red himself, but he has sometimes taken esthetic pleasure and comfort in the company of such.

To get back to Berle, we may recall that he was the first person to whom Isaac Don Levine introduced a mysterious stranger named Whittaker Chambers way back in 1939. Levine, a journalist, had chanced upon the weird story of the Alger Hiss apparatus and Chambers was willing to talk and testify. For hours one night, therefore, he sat in Berle's home in Washington and poured forth his story. Berle was an assistant secretary of state. There is no record of what Berle subsequently said in conversation with President Roosevelt. But long afterward, before the House committee, he said there was a pro-Russian clique in the department, including Dean Acheson, the Hiss brothers, Alger and Donald, and others so he was outvoted and sent away to Brazil as our ambassador. He just didn't give it another thought.

However, in his testimony, he did say flatly that Drew Pearson had a leg-man snooping around state and that secret stuff so important that it was called "Magic" was leaking into papers. Pearson has had two Communist leg-men and Berle never did say which of the two was bringing in the "magic" from the Department of State. The method was for one of the Hiss cult to go to

Prize Menu Ready For Red Visitors

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Department of Agriculture brought out its best menu—similar to one served President Eisenhower—for its luncheon today honoring 12 visiting Russian farm delegates.

Eisenhower, soon after his inauguration, dined at Beltsville, Md., where the Agriculture Department has an experimental farm. The idea was to let the President taste some of the foods the department has had a hand in developing over the years.

THERE WAS, for instance, ham from the "lean type" hogs the department has developed. They give more lean pork, the kind many Americans like.

And then there were Charleston Gray watermelons to top off the luncheon as dessert. At the moment they are the pride and joy of the department, which describes them as "gray-green, but deep red inside, with black seeds and sweet, juicy meat with fine texture."

Other items:

Milk, served in bottles so it could be examined, from a prize Holstein Beltsville cow that produced, in her third year, 17,384 pounds of milk and 783 pounds of butterfat.

Dehydro frozen peas, processed by a method of partly dehydrating the peas before freezing them. There were mushrooms in the peas.

Fresh pasteurized pickles processed by a one-day method developed by the department.

A NEW VARIETY of yellow tomatoes described as especially good for eating raw, with salt; also red tomatoes for salad.

Cheddar cheese made by a new process.

Corn meal biscuits from a recipe created by the department's cafeteria.

Honey fruit spread, which is honey and fruit juice developed to increase honey consumption.

Hard candy from sugar produced by a method the department says increases the yield per ton of cane.

All the Liederkranz cheese in the world is produced in the world's largest cheese factory, located at Van Wert, Ohio.

Berle was a witness with a mouth in the back of his head. Every time he said anything against the cabal he would say something else to rob that statement of meaning. He later became state chairman of Dave Dubinsky's so-called Liberal party in New York, a private political apparatus of the Garment Workers' Union. It is a glaring fault of our system that utterly paltry, political elves can slide into government jobs, foment publicity and status in our political life and acquire such power as Berle has had over people who never saw him.

I have never before heard of the Free Europe University in Exile. However, it is just the sort of thing that Berle would connect with as "president of the board." I may learn more about it later but even if so I may not bother you without details.

To close, the Paris H-T reported that Berle said: "The foundations of nationalism have been shot from under it by airplanes, telecommunications, economics and steam, factories, markets and, most of all, by the common sense of peoples who wish to be themselves in their national culture but wish to use for that culture the resources of the entire world."

Man Is Injured As Plane Lands In Flood Sector

Port Jervis, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP) — A Long Island man was injured when a light plane reportedly crashed while landing at Camp Colange, in flood-ravaged Pike county, Pa., yesterday.

Samuel Susser, 45, of 1431 Peninsula Blvd., Hewlett, N. Y., was brought to Port Jervis Hospital suffering from a broken arm, a possible fractured spine, and shock.

A daughter, Arlene Susser, 13, and the pilot, identified as Karl H. Limpe, 38, were treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises and released.

Susser apparently had flown to the camp to pick up another daughter. Surface travel in the area, criss-crossed with washed out roads, is difficult.

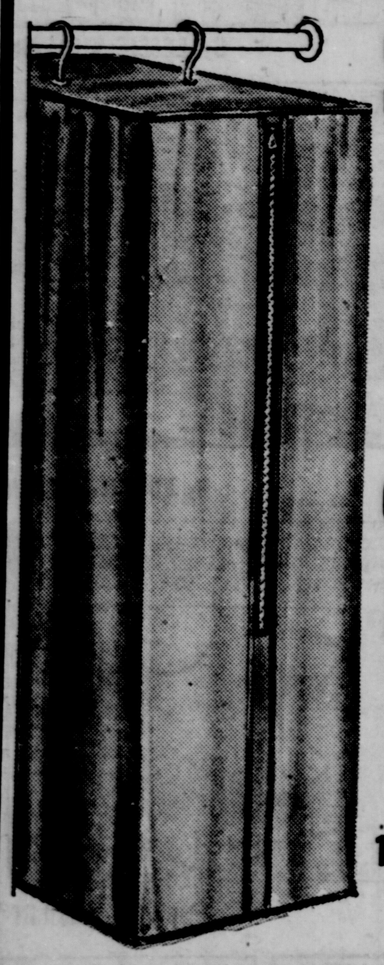

Police and hospital authorities here had no direct report of the plane crash. Damaged telephone facilities prevented reaching the camp directly. It was not known from what point the plane took off to fly to Pennsylvania.

This picture was snapped at a recent meeting of a Farm Bureau Insurance Policyholder Advisory Committee meeting in Pittsburgh. This is an experiment in business democracy. Local committees like this one meet annually to have their say about what they like and don't like about their Companies' activities. The experiment works. This month and next there are 300 Policyholder Committees meeting in 300 communities.

Imagine Farm Bureau Insurance taking the advice of us policyholders in changing the company name!

Can you imagine a big insurance company taking the advice of us policyholders on such an important matter as changing its name? Well, that's the way things are done at Farm Bureau Insurance . . . and we like it. For 29 years it has been our Companies' goal to give every policyholder a chance to have his say about company affairs.

Why change our name?

Lots of people like this democratic way of doing business. That's one of the reasons why Farm Bureau grew from a handful of Ohio farmers to more than two million policyholders in 13 states.

Now more people want to join with us. Policyholders who have moved to other states often write back to the home office to ask why they can't buy our insurance there.

But the simple fact is, although we have always had the benefit of Farm Bureau claims service in every state, our Companies couldn't use the Farm Bureau name everywhere. In some states there are already "Farm Bureau" companies. So to avoid confusion our companies had to take a new name, even though it means giving up one which to many of us is like an old friend.

We have our say

At a policyholder meeting the reasons for changing our name were fully explained. The name that has been chosen, and the one which the company-wide Policyholder Advisory Committee was glad to approve is—

NATIONWIDE INSURANCE

So on September 1st the name Farm Bureau Insurance will be changed to Nationwide Insurance.

This isn't the first time we policyholders have "had our say." For example, we suggested the bridal policy that may be used to pay wedding expenses. We passed approval on "package" policies that provide protection for the whole family . . . and the budget plan to ease premium payments.

New name . . . same company

Now our management—after consulting with us—has made the big decision to change our name. That's proof enough for us that the cooperative spirit of our Companies won't change with our new name.

Our low premium rates will remain the same. Our policies will guarantee us the same benefits as before. Our Nationwide representative will be the same straight-from-the-shoulder advisor we've come to count on.

The big difference is that now all of us policyholders will have a stake in a business which will become Nationwide in name and sales service, just as for years we have been nationwide in our claims service.

Advisory Committee of Policyholders

An invitation to you

"When you really want to find the answers to people's needs—just go ask the people," says Murray Lincoln, Farm Bureau Insurance president. That's why we have the Policyholder Advisory Committees. Representative policyholders are chosen by our agents in more than 300 districts. These policyholders then elect representatives to a regional and then a Company-wide Advisory Committee which meets annually in Columbus. Here the policyholders "tell us" what their needs are and suggest how we might fill those needs. If you'd like to participate in one of these meetings—or if you're not already a policyholder and think this is the kind of company you'd like to deal with—just call your Farm Bureau representative. A warm welcome awaits you!

Prize Menu Ready For Red Visitors

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Department of Agriculture brought out its best menu—similar to one served President Eisenhower—for its luncheon today honoring 12 visiting Russian farm delegates.

Eisenhower, soon after his inauguration, dined at Beltsville, Md., where the Agriculture Department has an experimental farm. The idea was to let the President taste some of the foods the department has had a hand in developing over the years.

THERE WAS, for instance, ham from the "lean type" hogs the department has developed. They give more lean pork, the kind many Americans like.

And then there were Charleston Gray watermelons to top off the luncheon as dessert. At the moment they are the pride and joy of the department, which describes them as "gray-green, but deep red inside, with black seeds and sweet, juicy meat with fine texture."

Other items:

Milk, served in bottles so it could be examined, from a prize Holstein Beltsville cow that produced, in her third year, 17,384 pounds of milk and 783 pounds of butterfat.

Dehydro frozen peas, processed by a method of partly dehydrating the peas before freezing them. There were mushrooms in the peas.

Fresh pasteurized pickles processed by a one-day method developed by the department.

A NEW VARIETY of yellow tomatoes described as especially good for eating raw, with salt; also red tomatoes for salad.

Cheddar cheese made by a new process.

Corn meal biscuits from a recipe created by the department's cafeteria.

Honey fruit spread, which is honey and fruit juice developed to increase honey consumption.

Hard candy from sugar produced by a method the department says increases the yield per ton of cane.

All the Liederkranz cheese in the world is produced in the world's largest cheese factory, located at Van Wert, Ohio.

The coating of civilization is so thin that it comes off with a little alcohol.

Who are the happiest people on earth? This question was asked by an English newspaper, and prizes were offered for the best answers. There were four prize winning answers:

"A craftsman or artist whistling over a job well done."

"A little child building air castles."

"A mother after a busy day, bathing her baby."

"A doctor who has finished a difficult and dangerous operation, and saved a human life."

There are neither kings, emperors, riches nor rank mentioned in the list of answers. The things that make happiness are honest toil, and the consciousness of making a success of any and every job undertaken. It would be a sad day on earth if only the great could be happy.

Happiness is for everybody who seeks it, and not for a few. We realize exactly the things we reach out for despite disappointments that cast shadows over life.

An indication of today's speed: Lots of girls in the movie magazines don't even have time to dress.

"Mine is picking up," smiled the cheerful ragpicker.

Lower Death Rate Recorded for 1955

New York, Aug. 22—American wage-earners and their families recorded a lower death rate during the first six months of 1955 than ever before in the country's history. This is on the basis of the experience among the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's millions of industrial policyholders.

Through June, the death rate among these policyholders was 644.4 per 100,000 insured, which compared with the previous minimum of 652.1 established last year, and 668.6 for the first half of 1953.

TUBERCULOSIS mortality was one sixth lower this year than last, and only one half of what it was as recently as three years ago, the company's statisticians report. Other diseases to establish new low death rates this year include the complications of pregnancy and childbirth, and the principal communicable diseases of childhood as a group.

A mild outbreak of respiratory disease early in the year raised the mortality from pneumonia and influenza, above that for the corresponding months of 1954. By the end of the January-June period, however, the death rates from these diseases were virtually the same this year as last, when a new minimum was established.

THE POLIO death rate in the insurance experience was the same—2 per 100,000—in both years. The reported number of cases in the general population of the United States, however, decreased from 4,697 in the first half of 1954 to 3,708 in the like period of 1955.

The mortality from the major chronic diseases was not appreciably different from last year's. For the cardiovascular-renal disorders the death rate was 344.9 per 100,000, compared with 347.1 a year ago. The toll from the cancers has remained at last year's level—about 129 per 100,000.

The accident death rate was 5 per cent lower, reflecting decreases in motor vehicle, home, and occupational accidents.

Mastadon Bones Are Found on Farmland

King Ferry, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—A jawbone and tusk of a mastodon, probably 5,000 years old, have been found on a farm near here.

A bulldozer operator found the relics four feet underground last Monday on the farm of Myles L. Colgan, near Cayuga Lake and 18 miles south of Auburn. Dr. Donald W. Fisher, state paleontologist, and his colleagues, said they were from the extinct elephant-like creature.

A tooth in the jawbone was larger than a child's head. The tusk, 10 feet 1 inch long, was so heavy that three men were needed to carry it to a nearby house.

Would Provide Federal Funds For Delinquency

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—City Council President Abe Stark today recommended that federal funds be provided for the fight on Juvenile delinquency.

Declaring "the time has come for bold, affirmative and forthright action," Stark said:

"I believe that at least a small percentage of the national budget should be allocated on a community level towards preparing those young people who will ultimately govern, guide and defend this nation in good times and in times of crisis."

STARK, SAYING A solution "cannot wait for further delay and deliberation, declared:

"If necessary, the legislative bodies in Albany and Washington should be asked to convene in a special emergency session so that action can be assured before the end of the year."

Stark, who welcomed the conference in behalf of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, said:

"IN RECENT YEARS, we have witnessed a dangerous trend in public expenditures for youth problems. As the government gets larger in size, less and less money is spent on children.

"For example, the city of New York spends almost 25 million dollars a year to combat delinquency, whereas the state allocates only 6¾ millions and the federal government almost nothing."

Citing bills in Congress for an appropriation of 5 million dollars in federal grants throughout the nation, Stark said "the senators who are sponsoring this legislation are trying to do good, but the amount is much too small to be of any real value on a nationwide basis. I would rather see this token legislation defeated than sit back and allow a pittance to be wasted as conscience money."

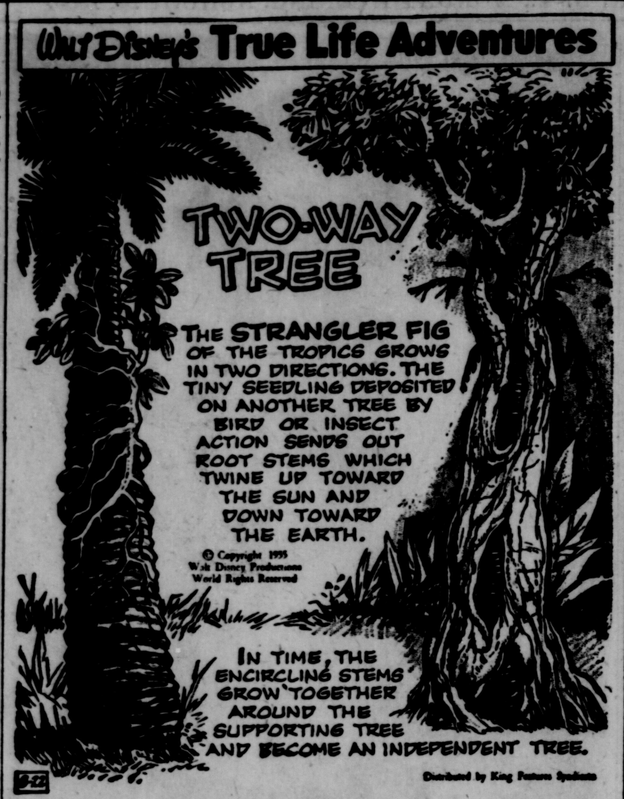

Silver said his board will act soon on a recommendation to the next session of the Legislature for the abolition of continuation schools.

Report on School

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—The new state mental hygiene commissioner, Dr. Paul Hoch, is preparing a report for Gov. Harriman on conditions at Wassaic State School for Mental Defectives. The governor's office said Saturday night that Dr. Hoch was investigating but had not yet completed the report. The spokesman said the inquiry was inspired by newspaper stories and letters.

New Zoning Proposed

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Adoption of a comprehensive modern zoning regulation was recommended today in the fifth of a series of reports by units of the mayor's committee for better housing. The report urged that top priority be given to re-mapping community areas within the city as "pilot projects."

Would Revise Act About Refugees

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) called today for congressional consideration of possible extension, as well as revision, of the European Refugee Admission Act.

Watkins, a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said he believes the original goal of admitting 214,000 expellees and escapees may almost be reached by the time the act expires at the end of next year.

"WE WILL HAVE to consider in the next session whether to extend this act as well as whether it should be revised as President Eisenhower suggested," he said. "Unless it is extended, it won't do much good to amend it."

Eisenhower proposed several changes in the law to relax restrictions that Sen. Lehman (D-N. Y.) and others have contended have held the influx of refugees to a mere trickle.

The Judiciary Committee considered these proposals, along with others, but took no action before adjournment.

Watkins said he thinks there are some "weak spots" in the act which have made its terms difficult to carry out. Nevertheless, he said the program now is going "in high gear" with about 1,400 persons being admitted weekly.

"I am confident that all of the Greeks and Italians contemplated under the act will be admitted," Watkins said.

"NOT ALL of the escapees and expellees from Germany are likely to get here and there is trouble about the admission of people from the low countries."

Up to now he said only about 50,000 refugees have been received in this country. But he added that the stepped up pace indicates "we are going to come close to the goal that Congress set."

He said he had no indication whether President Eisenhower will ask for an extension of the act but assumes he at least will revive proposals for its revision in his State of the Union message next January.

Cameraman Dies Filming Jamboree

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., Aug. 22 (AP)—A television-cameraman was killed here yesterday when he fell from a moving crane while test shooting panoramic views of the 8th world Boy Scout jamboree.

Ian George Murray, 24, of Toronto, a cameraman for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, fell 20 feet from the moving crane when cables supporting the crane bucket snapped.

He died a short time later in a hospital set up on the jamboree campsite. A number of scouts witnessed the accident.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Early Bird End Play Bags Slam

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Most bridge players think of the end play as something that happens during the last two or three tricks of a hand. This is often true, of course, but today's hand shows an end play that occurred at the fourth trick.

South won the opening lead with the king of clubs and led the ace of hearts, expecting to have no trouble with the hand. He assumed that the trumps would break normally, falling in two rounds. South would then knock out the ace of diamonds, enter dummy with a trump, and discard the low spade on dummy's queen of diamonds.

West's failure to follow suit was a rude shock. It meant that South couldn't get to dummy with a trump, therefore couldn't discard on the queen of diamonds, and therefore might lose a spade and a diamond.

There was always the chance that the queen of spades would drop on the ace or king, but South decided he could try for that as a last resort. In the meantime there was no harm in trying for the early end play.

As you remember, South had taken the king of clubs and the ace of hearts. He next took the ace of clubs. At the fourth trick he led the king of diamonds, giving the lead to West with the ace of diamonds.

What could West return to defeat the slam contract? If West returned a club, dummy would ruff while South discarded the losing spade. If West returned a spade, declarer would get a free finesse. If West returned a diamond, dummy would win with the queen, allowing South to discard the losing spade.

Whatever West returned, in short, South was sure to make the slam. South had executed an end play at the fourth trick.

One Victim May Still Be Among Bomber Wreckage

Greenville, Ala., Aug 22 (AP)—The wreckage of two air force B-26 bombers which collided near Greenville Saturday may still contain the body of one victim.

Three bodies have been found. The body of First Lt. Donald L. Glover, 30, of Bellville, Ill., has not been recovered.

THE OTHER three victims were identified as Capt. Raymond Fagan of St. Louis, Mo.; Capt. Robert W. White, 31, Moweaqua, Ill.; and Capt. John Franklin Kirby, 39, of St. Louis.

Air force crash crews and Greenville firemen were unable to bring heavy chemical fire-fighting equipment into the densely wooded area about 15 miles northwest of Greenville where the two twin-engine attack bombers crashed after colliding while on a flight from Scott AFB, Ill., to Tyndall AFB, Fla. One bomber burned after the crash.

Capt Fagan was a regular air force officer assigned to Scott AFB from Chanute AFB, Ill., to teach reserve officers transition training in B-26 aircraft. The other three were reserve officers on two-week active duty tours with the 332nd bombardment squadron of the 94th tactical bombardment wing (reserve).

THE WRECKAGE of the plane containing Capt. Fagan and Lt. Glover was found in a deep ravine soon after the crash late Saturday. A helicopter from Eglin AFB, Fla., spotted the wreckage of the other bomber Sunday morning.

Crewmen in a third B-26 taking part in the flight were unaware of the crash of the two planes until they landed at Tyndall AFB near Panama City, Fla.

The planes fell about two miles apart after colliding in the air. Farm hands reported seeing one dropping out of formation with a trail of smoke.

Lower Death Rate Recorded for 1955

New York, Aug. 22—American wage-earners and their families recorded a lower death rate during the first six months of 1955 than ever before in the country's history. This is on the basis of the experience among the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's millions of industrial policyholders.

Through June, the death rate among these policyholders was 644.4 per 100,000 insured, which compared with the previous minimum of 652.1 established last year, and 668.6 for the first half of 1953.

TUBERCULOSIS mortality was one sixth lower this year than last, and only one half of what it was as recently as three years ago, the company's statisticians report. Other diseases to establish new low death rates this year include the complications of pregnancy and childbirth, and the principal communicable diseases of childhood as a group.

A mild outbreak of respiratory disease early in the year raised the mortality from pneumonia and influenza, above that for the corresponding months of 1954. By the end of the January-June period, however, the death rates from these diseases were virtually the same this year as last, when a new minimum was established.

THE POLIO death rate in the insurance experience was the same—2 per 100,000—in both years. The reported number of cases in the general population of the United States, however, decreased from 4,697 in the first half of 1954 to 3,708 in the like period of 1955.

The mortality from the major chronic diseases was not appreciably different from last year's. For the cardiovascular-renal disorders the death rate was 344.9 per 100,000, compared with 347.1 a year ago. The toll from the cancers has remained at last year's level—about 129 per 100,000.

The accident death rate was 5 per cent lower, reflecting decreases in motor vehicle, home, and occupational accidents.

Mastadon Bones Are Found on Farmland

King Ferry, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—A jawbone and tusk of a mastodon, probably 5,000 years old, have been found on a farm near here.

A bulldozer operator found the relics four feet underground last Monday on the farm of Myles L. Colgan, near Cayuga Lake and 18 miles south of Auburn. Dr. Donald W. Fisher, state paleontologist, and his colleagues, said they were from the extinct elephant-like creature.

A tooth in the jawbone was larger than a child's head. The tusk, 10 feet 1 inch long, was so heavy that three men were needed to carry it to a nearby house.

Would Provide Federal Funds For Delinquency

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—City Council President Abe Stark today recommended that federal funds be provided for the fight on Juvenile delinquency.

Declaring "the time has come for bold, affirmative and forthright action," Stark said:

"I believe that at least a small percentage of the national budget should be allocated on a community level towards preparing those young people who will ultimately govern, guide and defend this nation in good times and in times of crisis."

STARK, SAYING A solution "cannot wait for further delay and deliberation, declared:

"If necessary, the legislative bodies in Albany and Washington should be asked to convene in a special emergency session so that action can be assured before the end of the year."

Stark, who welcomed the conference in behalf of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, said:

"IN RECENT YEARS, we have witnessed a dangerous trend in public expenditures for youth problems. As the government gets larger in size, less and less money is spent on children. "For example, the city of New York spends almost 25 million dollars a year to combat delinquency, whereas the state allocates only 6¾ millions and the federal government almost nothing."

Citing bills in Congress for an appropriation of 5 million dollars in federal grants throughout the nation, Stark said "the senators who are sponsoring this legislation are trying to do good, but the amount is much too small to be of any real value on a nationwide basis. I would rather see this token legislation defeated than sit back and allow a pittance to be wasted as conscience money."

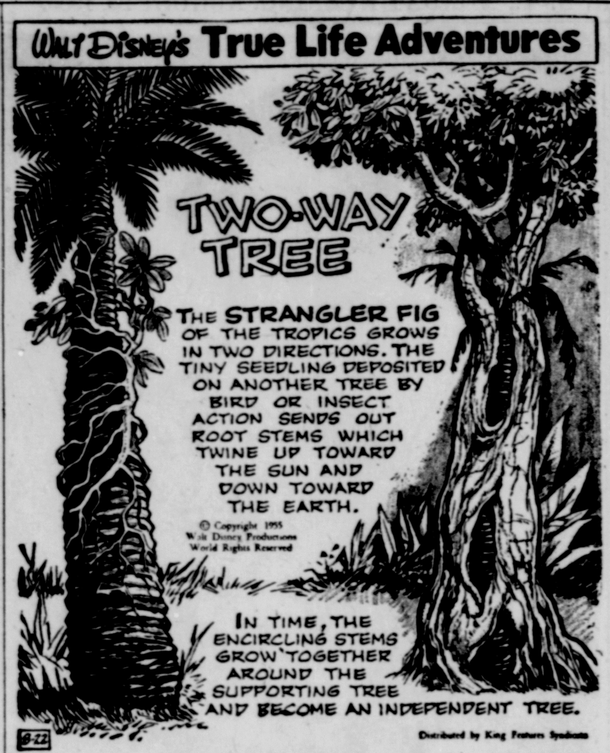

Silver said his board will act soon on a recommendation to the next session of the Legislature for the abolition of continuation schools.

Report on School

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—The new state mental hygiene commissioner, Dr. Paul Hoch, is preparing a report for Gov. Harriman on conditions at Wassaic State School for Mental Defectives. The governor's office said Saturday night that Dr. Hoch was investigating but had not yet completed the report. The spokesman said the inquiry was inspired by newspaper stories and letters.

New Zoning Proposed

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Adoption of a comprehensive modern zoning regulation was recommended today in the fifth of a series of reports by units of the mayor's committee for better housing. The report urged that top priority be given to re-mapping community areas within the city as "pilot projects."

Would Revise Act About Refugees

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) called today for congressional consideration of possible extension, as well as revision, of the European Refugee Admission Act.

Watkins, a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said he believes the original goal of admitting 214,000 expellees and escapees may almost be reached by the time the act expires at the end of next year.

"WE WILL HAVE to consider in the next session whether to extend this act as well as whether it should be revised as President Eisenhower suggested," he said. "Unless it is extended, it won't do much good to amend it."

Eisenhower proposed several changes in the law to relax restrictions that Sen. Lehman (D-N. Y.) and others have contended have held the influx of refugees to a mere trickle.

The Judiciary Committee considered these proposals, along with others, but took no action before adjournment.

Watkins said he thinks there are some "weak spots" in the act which have made its terms difficult to carry out. Nevertheless, he said the program now is going "in high gear" with about 1,400 persons being admitted weekly.

"I am confident that all of the Greeks and Italians contemplated under the act will be admitted," Watkins said.

"NOT ALL of the escapees and expellees from Germany are likely to get here and there is trouble about the admission of people from the low countries."

Up to now he said only about 50,000 refugees have been received in this country. But he added that the stepped up pace indicates "we are going to come close to the goal that Congress set."

He said he had no indication whether President Eisenhower will ask for an extension of the act but assumes he at least will revive proposals for its revision in his State of the Union message next January.

Cameraman Dies Filming Jamboree

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., Aug. 22 (AP)—A television-cameraman was killed here yesterday when he fell from a moving crane while test shooting panoramic views of the 8th world Boy Scout jamboree.

Ian George Murray, 24, of Toronto, a cameraman for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, fell 20 feet from the moving crane when cables supporting the crane bucket snapped.

He died a short time later in a hospital set up on the jamboree campsite. A number of scouts witnessed the accident.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Early Bird End Play Bags Slam

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Most bridge players think of the end play as something that happens during the last two or three tricks of a hand. This is often true, of course, but today's hand shows an end play that occurred at the fourth trick.

South won the opening lead with the king of clubs and led the ace of hearts, expecting to have no trouble with the hand. He assumed that the trumps would break normally, falling in two rounds. South would then knock out the ace of diamonds, enter dummy with a trump, and discard the low spade on dummy's queen of diamonds.

West's failure to follow suit was a rude shock. It meant that South couldn't get to dummy with a trump, therefore couldn't discard on the queen of diamonds, and therefore might lose a spade and a diamond.

There was always the chance that the queen of spades would drop on the ace or king, but South decided he could try for that as a last resort. In the meantime there was no harm in trying for the early end play.

As you remember, South had taken the king of clubs and the ace of hearts. He next took the ace of clubs. At the fourth trick he led the king of diamonds, giving the lead to West with the ace of diamonds.

What could West return to defeat the slam contract? If West returned a club, dummy would ruff while South discarded the losing spade. If West returned a spade, declarer would get a free finesse. If West returned a diamond, dummy would win with the queen, allowing South to discard the losing spade.

Whatever West returned, in short, South was sure to make the slam. South had executed an end play at the fourth trick.

One Victim May Still Be Among Bomber Wreckage

Greenville, Ala., Aug 22 (AP)—The wreckage of two air force B-26 bombers which collided near Greenville Saturday may still contain the body of one victim.

WHEN SHARING EXPENSES

Among the ever - increasing shower questions is the following letter: "My girl friend and I gave a shower the other evening for a mutual friend. The shower was given at my girl friend's house as I live in a small apartment and could not accommodate the number of guests invited. The expenses of the shower were divided equally between us. After the presents were opened we served a buffet supper consisting of several varieties of cold meats, salads, rolls, etc., and a large cake. There was a great deal of food left over and as I paid for half of it I thought my friend should have offered some of the leftovers to me to take home, but she said nothing and put all the remaining food in her refrigerator. I was very much put out over this and throught she had a lot of nerve. Don't you think I was entitled to half the food, and would it have been proper for me to ask her for it?

You were entitled to half the food and, as you wanted it, you should have said, "I'll take my share home with me now."

Invitation to Son's Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: Our son is going to be married shortly and my husband and I have pust received an invitation to the wedding from the bride's parents. Enclosed was a reply card with a stamped, addressed envelope to be returned to them stating whether or not we are going. This was quite a surprise to us as we naturally plan to go to our son's wedding, and feel that this invitation was uncalled for and out of order. Will you please give me your opinion on this, and also tell me whether or not I am expected to send a reply?

Answer: It is entirely proper to send an invitation to even the nearest members of the bridegroom's family because it is taken for granted that they will be interested in seeing the invitations and perhaps want to keep it as a souvenir. It is certainly not necessary to send a reply.

MISS JOYCE ELLEN TUCK, a senior at Potsdam, Saturday became the bride of Sgt. Donald DeWitt, who is with the U. S. Military Academy band at West Point.

Potsdam Student, Sgt. Donald DeWitt Are Wed in Camden

Before an altar banked with white gladioli, Miss Joyce Ellen Tuck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Tuck of Camden, was married to Sgt. Donald Norman DeWitt, son of Mrs. Norman DeWitt of 112 Ten Broeck avenue. Sgt. DeWitt is at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

The double ring ceremony was performed Saturday at St. John's church in Camden with the Rev. Roger A. Bowen officiating.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin with a long fitted bodice fastened with tiny buttons down the back, a scalloped illusion yoke and fashioned with a Queen Anne lace collar. Her bouffant skirt fell over a hoop and terminated in a chapel train. Her tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones held a fingertip illusion veil and she carried a shower bouquet of stephanotis with orchid inset.

Miss Joan Ross of Amsterdam, a classmate of the bride, was maid of honor. Airman Given Highest Peacetime Award

Bangor, Maine, Aug. 22 (AP)—An Ogdensburg, N. Y., airman has been given the services' highest peacetime award for the rescue of a mother and three children from a flame-filled house.

Richard L. Gulbrandson, 21, was decorated with the soldiers' medal at Dow Air Force Base Saturday. Col. Orie O. Schurter, commanding officer of the 4050th Air Refueling Wing, made the presentation against a background of 1,500 massed airmen and rows of giant KB97 flying tankers.

The citation said Gulbrandson was on his way home on leave last February when he passed the burning home at Watertown. He turned in an alarm and then went after the family trapped in an upper floor. He ripped a floor ventilator loose and the mother passed the three children down.

He dashed into the house after a fourth child but was unsuccessful.

THE SUMMER STAGE

"The Moon Is Blue" Opens Tuesday

While "Next of Kin" is winding up its premiere week at the Hyde Park Playhouse, Donald Woods is preparing to open Tuesday in the spicy comedy, "The Moon Is Blue."

The play is well known to most people today since it was the subject of nation-wide controversy when it was distributed as a film two years ago. The spicy dialogue of the Broadway presentation was edited very little in the film. It is the story of a so-called "professional virgin" (played by Barbara Bel Geddes when it had a smash run on Broadway, and later by Maggie McNamarra) who is intent on keeping her virtue even though she is spending a rainy night in the bachelor apartment with a man.

Donald Woods is not a stranger to fans of any medium. To daytime radio listeners he will be remembered as Dr. Foster on "Those We Love." From television, he will be recognized as the host for the "Damon Runyon Theatre" and for roles on the top dramatic shows. Movie goers will remember Mr. Woods for starring roles in "Tale of Two Cities," "Watch on the Rhine" and "Anthony Adverse." Tuesday he will re-create the role he played in the national company of "The Moon Is Blue" when the comedy made its first sensational tour of the country.

Mr. Woods will be assisted at the playhouse by John Conwell, leading man of the resident company. Mr. Conwell will also be playing a familiar role—the same he played in the Chicago company of the comedy, opposite Maggie McNamarra.

"Next of Kin" which finishes up its week at Hyde Park, is being prepared for Broadway production in the fall by the producers, Polly Jo McCulloch and George Quick.

Pine Hill Company in Last Week

The Turnau Opera Players will present their last week of opera at their playhouse in Pine Hill starting Tuesday with Vernon's "Grand Slam" and excerpts from "Manon" and "Der Freischutz."

The group established their own theatre under the drive of Prof. Joseph Turnau of the Hunter College Opera Workshop and is a company of comparatively young singers with diversified backgrounds in radio, television and the concert stage.

Besides Tuesday's program, the company will present Mozart's "The Impressario" and scenes from "The Marriage of Figaro" Friday evening. Saturday they will repeat "Grand Slam" and "The Marriage of Figaro" adding excerpts from Massenet's "Manon."

Two Operas at Festival This Week

The fourth week of the Empire State Music Festival in Ellenville will feature two operas, "Love Triumphant" and "Cosi Fan Tutte" and a dance program by Jose Limon and his company, in addition to concerts by the Symphony of the Air.

"Love Triumphant," a one-act opera with Hugh Ross conducting, will be on Wednesday and Friday evenings along with the Jose Limon company. The opera will feature Madelaine Chambers, Evelyn Sachs, Brent Williams and Ezio Flagello. The regular Thursday and Saturday opera presentation will be "Cosi Fan Tutte," sung in English, and sung by Phyllis Curtin, Brian Sullivan, Mildred Miller and others. Tibor Kozman will direct the Symphony of the Air.

Sunday, Arthur Fiedler takes over the Symphony in a program of light music with Oscar Shumsky as violin soloist. They will present offerings from Offenbach, Strauss, Mendelssohn, Rimski-Korsakov, Ravel and Weber.

WHEN SHARING EXPENSES

Among the ever - increasing shower questions is the following letter: "My girl friend and I gave a shower the other evening for a mutual friend. The shower was given at my girl friend's house as I live in a small apartment and could not accommodate the number of guests invited. The expenses of the shower were divided equally between us. After the presents were opened we served a buffet supper consisting of several varieties of cold meats, salads, rolls, etc., and a large cake. There was a great deal of food left over and as I paid for half of it I thought my friend should have offered some of the leftovers to me to take home, but she said nothing and put all the remaining food in her refrigerator. I was very much put out over this and throught she had a lot of nerve. Don't you think I was entitled to half the food, and would it have been proper for me to ask her for it?

You were entitled to half the food and, as you wanted it, you should have said, "I'll take my share home with me now."

Invitation to Son's Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: Our son is going to be married shortly and my husband and I have pust received an invitation to the wedding from the bride's parents. Enclosed was a reply card with a stamped, addressed envelope to be returned to them stating whether or not we are going. This was quite a surprise to us as we naturally plan to go to our son's wedding, and feel that this invitation was uncalled for and out of order. Will you please give me your opinion on this, and also tell me whether or not I am expected to send a reply?

Answer: It is entirely proper to send an invitation to even the nearest members of the bridegroom's family because it is taken for granted that they will be interested in seeing the invitations and perhaps want to keep it as a souvenir. It is certainly not necessary to send a reply.

Maryland Leader Sure Eisenhower Will Run

Carver, Mass., Aug. 22 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland says he is certain President Eisenhower will accept the GOP nomination again next year and that he will be reelected.

In a talk yesterday at the annual clambake of the Republican Club of Plymouth county, McKeldin said he believes Eisenhower will be reelected for the following seven main reasons:

1. Ending the war in Korea.
2. Strengthening collective security against communism by leading in establishing West German sovereignty and membership in NATO and accomplishing the Austrian peace treaty.
3. Strengthening "American defenses even while reducing the costs."
4. Leadership in advancing the southeast Asia treaty organization.
5. "His bold move to turn the destructive power of the atom to constructive uses for the promotion of world peace."
6. Laying the groundwork for better international trade relations through improved reciprocal agreements.
7. "His genuinely constructive proposal for launching international disarmament free from suspicion, doubt and deception."

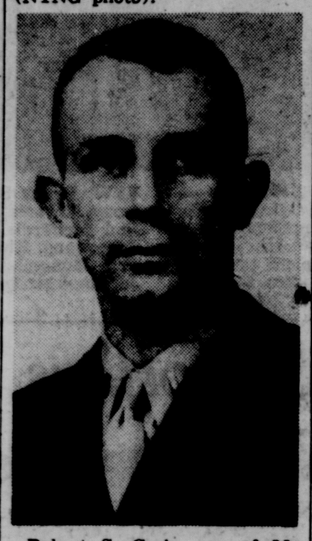

McKeldin said the Eisenhower administration has produced on the home front a "new and better look" by helping to promote a "revitalized system of free enterprise."

Others who spoke briefly were U. S. Rep. Nicholson (R.-Mass.) and Elmer Nelson, chairman of the Massachusetts State Republican Committee.

Moves to Abolish Continuation Schools

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Charles H. Silver, president of the New York City Board of Education, urged today the abolition of the continuation schools here as now conducted, as a step toward combatting juvenile delinquency.

Silver said his board will act soon on a recommendation to the new session of the legislature for the abolition move.

Silver made the proposal in remarks prepared for a regional hearing before the temporary state commission on youth and delinquency.

Silver explained his continuation school proposal this way:

"Under existing law a high school student may obtain an employment certificate and go to work at age 16, but is required to attend continuation school one-half day each week until age 17. The student may be completing his high school in the evening, but is still obliged to attend the day school.

"Experience has shown that the requirement for day school attendance results in great difficulty for the youngster who has gone out to work in an earnest attempt to assist in a difficult home situation. The regulation prevents him from obtaining certain types of jobs because employers will not consent to his absence or he accepts a job and, with the connivance of the employer, is a regular truant from continuation school."

Attend Crime Conference

Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 22 (AP) — More than 500 delegates from 60 nations met here today to consider international action to reduce crime. They also plan to set agreed standards for the treatment of prisoners. Former Swiss president Eduard Von Steiger was unanimously elected chairman of the two-weeks Congress, sponsored by the UN. The Soviet bloc nations are boycotting the congress on the grounds that prevention of crime and treatment of criminals are matters of domestic jurisdiction and outside the scope of the UN.

The Aug. 18 meeting of the Federated Sportsmen's Club, postponed when only four clubs showed up because of the rain, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the county court house. All clubs interested in the annual trapshoot are urged to attend.

Pickets Freed In City Court

Special City Judge Harry Gold, who reserved decision after recent trial of two pickets on disorderly conduct charges, today announced dismissal of the complaints.

James J. Uhl, Jr., of East Chester street extension, and James Colao, of Flatbush avenue extension, were arrested earlier this month by Samuel W. Seigel, of Mist Maid Fashions, Inc., 17 Cornell street, after a disturbance was reported at the plant.

A few days later Seigel was arrested on a warrant charging third degree assault on complaint of Frances Colao, of the Flatbush road, who had also been picketing. Judge Gold reserved decision after trial and expects to announce it soon.

Whistling figured as part of the alleged annoyance on which the complaints were based, and since it was noted by the complainant himself that only "defendant Colao was whistling, the judge ruled that "the information against the defendant Uhl should be summarily dismissed." No other grounds for the charge were proved, he said.

Picketing was by Local 259, International Ladies Garment Workers Union in an effort to organize about 40 workers.

The judge's decision on the other charge noted "no credible evidence in the record to show that anyone other than the complainant was annoyed or disturbed by the whistling," and held that "In this case the acts were not sufficient to cause consternation and alarm such as would disturb the peace and quiet of the community."

Attorney Frank Martocci appearel for Colao and Uhl and Arthur B. Ewig for Seigel.

Freighter Gale-Battered

The 7,133-ton Arbobeam made a slow progress as the little salvage tug Salveda towed her through 18-foot Atlantic seas towards the Scottish shore nearly 200 miles away.

Homes Are . . .

washed out, with asphalt surfaces churned up.

Health hazards were a major problem. Flood survivors in most places were ordered to boil drinking water. Emergency anti-typhoid serums were flown into isolated communities by helicopter.

DRY ICE WAS an emergency item and supplies were commandeered to refrigerate vital food supplies where regular refrigerators were still without electric power.

On top of all their other problems, many flood survivors looked ahead to an uncertain future with their regular jobs gone, at least temporarily. Factory damage in Woonsocket, R. I., alone left thousands out of work.

SOME BUILDINGS that first appeared to have survived the floods were found so weakened that they had to be condemned.

In Torrington, Conn., once a thriving industrial city of 28,000, dozens of stores were smashed and factories put out of order. Bridges were gone and vital supplies were flown in by helicopters using a schoolyard for an emergency landing field.

THE FLOOD TOOK three lives there and left many others homeless. Emergency aid stations were set up to house and feed the victims.

Normal life was brought to a standstill in Putnam, Conn., where floods and uncontrollable magnesium fires had combined to wreck the town.

"We're done. This valley is dead," a veteran textile worker commented to an Associated Press reporter who managed to get to the stricken community.

THE WORST single tragedy occurred near Stroudsburg, Pa., where Brodhead creek swept over a summer vacation camp and carried away 40 persons, mostly women and children. Nine persons survived to tell of the horror when the flash flood collapsed a building in which the campers had sought refuge. The others were dead or missing.

Brodhead creep, fed by torrential rains and the collapse of mountain dams, rose 25 to 30 feet within 15 minutes. It devastated parts of Stroudsburg, a Pocono Mountain resort center.

FORTUNATELY MOST other camps in the flood areas were above the torrents, or the campers were able to reach safety without major tragedy.

Among these were 80 youngsters from a camp at Bantam Lake, Conn., who were fished from the floods Friday by firemen in motorboats. Relieved families welcomed them back to New York yesterday after fathers and uncles formed a motor caravan to bring them home.

One father hired a helicopter and flew into an isolated camp at East Stroudsburg to bring out his two children and four others. Except for being cut off by impassable roads, things were "completely normal" with the camp and its 400 campers, he reported.

THE FIRST REPAIR efforts went to restore utilities and open roads into the flooded districts. By yesterday many places at last had electricity and gas again and telephone circuits were opened. Drinking water was still a general problem, however.

Most railroads were operating through the flood sections but in many cases had to skirt hard-hit cities and avoid weakened or washed out bridges.

The Lackawanna Railroad, which serves New York, New Jersey and flood-stricken areas around Stroudsburg and Scranton in Pennsylvania, has restored service on some of its lines. Major repair work however, will hold up the return of trains to Stroudsburg and Scranton.

In western Massachusetts scores of highways were still blocked. Two communities, Charlton and Southbridge, could be reached only by boat or helicopter. Southbridge was still without gas, water or power.

THE BIG CRISIS was over in New York state, but damage estimated at many millions remained, particularly at Port Jervis and Ellenville.

Praising the work of the Red Cross and other volunteer rescue workers, New York Gov. Averell Harriman reported, "There are no longer any critical areas in New York state."

Flood reports were relayed to President Eisenhower, on vacation in Colorado. He was "highly gratified" over the rescue work and aid the armed forces were able to render.

MOST OF THE helicopters, whose rescues and relief deliveries were a spectacular part of the flood story, came from army, navy and coast guard stations.

States designated by the President as disaster areas and entitled to federal aid in repairing flood damage were Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Rhode Island. South Carolina had received a disaster designation earlier when she was hit by hurricane Diane before that windstorm blew out and dumped flooding water onto sections of the northeast.

For most of the weekend the sun shone brightly over the flooded areas. Brief thunderstorms hit New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts last night but added no new flood threats.

telephone circuits have been reestablished. "We are at last making headway in getting back to normal, commented police chief Edward Cullinan.

The National Guard, called in at the height of the flood crisis, was released Saturday and police protection was left to the normal 13-man force aided by 15 to 20 auxiliary officers.

After a tour of the flood area, including hard-hit Ellenville, northeast of here, Gov. Averell Harriman said conditions "are steadily improving." He praised the work of volunteers and the Red Cross and added:

"There are no longer any critical areas in New York state."

The state escaped the heavy devastation that befell neighboring states, five of which were designated as disaster areas by President Eisenhower.

HARRIMAN SAID it now appears that New York would not need federal aid to restore public services and could rely on state and local funds for this job.

In the warm weekend sunshine, flood victims spread out their drenched belongings and got busy cleaning out the slime and debris that the flooding rivers deposited.

AT THE PEAK of the flood the Delaware rose to 27 feet and spread half a mile beyond its normal bed.

Two highways were opened into Port Jervis but a third remained closed. This was the scenic highway over Hawk's Nest to Binghamton. It was blocked by landslides. Two other routes, 97 and 42 to Monticello, were reported "impassable indefinitely."

Cullinan reported that food supplies in the city were ample, but drinking water still had to be boiled.

A BRIEF RAIN yesterday made flood-conscious residents of Port Jervis uneasy but the showers were not enough to do any damage.

On Saturday night some 1,500 residents were alarmed by a report that a dam had broken 20 miles above the city. They fled to high ground and stayed there for about two hours until police and radio stations got word around that the report was false.

Western Electric Strike

Haverhill, Mass., Aug. 22 (AP)—An estimated 3,200 Western Electric Co. workers in Haverhill and Lawrence struck early today for a wage increase. The men walked out after negotiations broke down about 5. a. m. (EDT) between management and the Communications Workers Union (CIO). The men rejected a company offer of four to nine cents an hour. The union seeks a higher pay boost and a seventh paid holiday.

Thyphoid Is . . .

wiped out and the only present connection is by outboard motorboat, a precarious trip what with the swift current.

Plans are being made for the erection of Bailey bridges, prefabricated steel bridges put up by army engineers.

A TWILIGHT curfew was imposed and armed soldiers of the Pennsylvania National Guard patrolled streets over night to prevent looting.

Guardsmen also patrolled streets in Scranton, to the northwest, and other flood-damaged cities. Emergency shelters have been set up in churches and schools and the thousands of homeless throughout the area at least have a place to sleep and food to eat.

The Camp Davis disaster was a numbing tragedy for survivors and relatives back home.

MOST OF THE victims were women and children from northern New Jersey and New York. They were vacationing at the summer retreat while husbands stayed on the job back home. Usually, the men turned up on weekends.

Seven members of one New Jersey family were among the dead or missing. Four other families had triple losses.

Nancy Johnson, a 19-year-old student nurse from Jersey City, N. J., survived the flood despite a terrifying experience lasting all Thursday night. Her two brothers were lost in the torrent. Her mother, another survivor, is in Monroe County General Hospital.

NANCY and her camp mates had crowded into the attic of a central building, called the winter house, at Camp Davis as the flood waters crept higher. She gave this description of the last horror packed minutes before the building began to float into the stream and crumble into kindling wood.

"It just began to sway and grind and everybody went. We all grabbed what we could and hung on as well as we could. I must have floated a mile downstream and things were bumping into me all the time and hurting me. But there was nothing I could do. I can't swim.

"About a mile down the creek I bumped into a tree and hung on. I've never climbed a tree before in my life but I certainly climbed that one."

Two fingers of her left hand were injured and one was almost cut off by the ordeal of clinging to the tree all night.

"They told me I had been on the tree for nine hours, most of it with my head under swirls of water. I remember a searchlight being played on me during the night but little else."

She was rescued the next morning by two men in a motorboat with a powerful engine.

Before the building collapsed, Miss Johnson said, the campers were singing and praying.

"We took food and water up there but we never really dreamed anything would happen—we couldn't think that."

Returns in Iron Lung

Tokyo, Aug. 22 (AP) — Miss Mary Chisolm, a young poliostricken American missionary, left in an iron lung tonight for the United States. An air force DC6 carrying the 24-year-old woman took off at 7:50 p. m. on the first leg of the trip to the Buffalo, N. Y., hospital of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis. Miss Chisolm was stricken with polio May 30 at Pusan, Korea, where both she and her father, William Chisolm of Philadelphia, have been with the American Independent Presbyterian Mission.

Maryland Leader Sure Eisenhower Will Run

Carver, Mass., Aug. 22 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland says he is certain President Eisenhower will accept the GOP nomination again next year and that he will be reelected.

In a talk yesterday at the annual clambake of the Republican Club of Plymouth county, McKeldin said he believes Eisenhower will be reelected for the following seven main reasons:

1. Ending the war in Korea.
2. Strengthening collective security against communism by leading in establishing West German sovereignty and membership in NATO and accomplishing the Austrian peace treaty.
3. Strengthening "American defenses even while reducing the costs."
4. Leadership in advancing the southeast Asia treaty organization.
5. "His bold move to turn the destructive power of the atom to constructive uses for the promotion of world peace."
6. Laying the groundwork for better international trade relations through improved reciprocal agreements.
7. "His genuinely constructive proposal for launching international disarmament free from suspicion, doubt and deception."

McKeldin said the Eisenhower administration has produced on the home front a "new and better look" by helping to promote a "revitalized system of free enterprise."

Others who spoke briefly were U. S. Rep. Nicholson (R.-Mass.) and Elmer Nelson, chairman of the Massachusetts State Republican Committee.

A TWILIGHT curfew was imposed and armed soldiers of the Pennsylvania National Guard patrolled streets over night to prevent looting.

Guardsmen also patrolled streets in Scranton, to the northwest, and other flood-damaged cities. Emergency shelters have been set up in churches and schools and the thousands of homeless throughout the area at least have a place to sleep and food to eat.

The Camp Davis disaster was a numbing tragedy for survivors and relatives back home.

MOST OF THE victims were women and children from northern New Jersey and New York. They were vacationing at the summer retreat while husbands stayed on the job back home. Usually, the men turned up on weekends.

Seven members of one New Jersey family were among the dead or missing. Four other families had triple losses.

Nancy Johnson, a 19-year-old student nurse from Jersey City, N. J., survived the flood despite a terrifying experience lasting all Thursday night. Her two brothers were lost in the torrent. Her mother, another survivor, is in Monroe County General Hospital.

NANCY and her camp mates had crowded into the attic of a central building, called the winter house, at Camp Davis as the flood waters crept higher. She gave this description of the last horror packed minutes before the building began to float into the stream and crumble into kindling wood.

"It just began to sway and grind and everybody went. We all grabbed what we could and hung on as well as we could. I must have floated a mile downstream and things were bumping into me all the time and hurting me. But there was nothing I could do. I can't swim.

"About a mile down the creek I bumped into a tree and hung on. I've never climbed a tree before in my life but I certainly climbed that one."

Two fingers of her left hand were injured and one was almost cut off by the ordeal of clinging to the tree all night.

"They told me I had been on the tree for nine hours, most of it with my head under swirls of water. I remember a searchlight being played on me during the night but little else."

She was rescued the next morning by two men in a motorboat with a powerful engine.

Before the building collapsed, Miss Johnson said, the campers were singing and praying.

"We took food and water up there but we never really dreamed anything would happen—we couldn't think that."

Returns in Iron Lung

Tokyo, Aug. 22 (AP)—Miss Mary Chisolm, a young poliostricken American missionary, left in an iron lung tonight for the United States. An air force DC6 carrying the 24-year-old woman took off at 7:50 p. m. on the first leg of the trip to the Buffalo, N. Y., hospital of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis. Miss Chisolm was stricken with polio May 30 at Pusan, Korea, where both she and her father, William Chisolm of Philadelphia, have been with the American Independent Presbyterian Mission.

Moves to Abolish Continuation Schools

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Charles H. Silver, president of the New York City Board of Education, urged today the abolition of the continuation schools here as now conducted, as a step toward combatting juvenile delinquency.

Silver said his board will act soon on a recommendation to the new session of the legislature for the abolition move.

Silver made the proposal in remarks prepared for a regional hearing before the temporary state commission on youth and delinquency.

Silver explained his continuation school proposal this way:

"Under existing law a high school student may obtain an employment certificate and go to work at age 16, but is required to attend continuation school one-half day each week until age 17. The student may be completing his high school in the evening, but is still obliged to attend the day school.

"Experience has shown that the requirement for day school attendance results in great difficulty for the youngster who has gone out to work in an earnest attempt to assist in a difficult home situation. The regulation prevents him from obtaining certain types of jobs because employers will not consent to his absence or he accepts a job and, with the connivance of the employer, is a regular truant from continuation school."

Attend Crime Conference

Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 22 (AP) — More than 500 delegates from 60 nations met here today to consider international action to reduce crime. They also plan to set agreed standards for the treatment of prisoners. Former Swiss president Eduard Von Steiger was unanimously elected chairman of the two-weeks Congress, sponsored by the UN. The Soviet bloc nations are boycotting the congress on the grounds that prevention of crime and treatment of criminals are matters of domestic jurisdiction and outside the scope of the UN.

Pickets Freed In City Court

Special City Judge Harry Gold, who reserved decision after recent trial of two pickets on disorderly conduct charges, today announced dismissal of the complaints.

James J. Uhl, Jr., of East Chester street extension, and James Colao, of Flatbush avenue extension, were arrested earlier this month by Samuel W. Seigel, of Mist Maid Fashions, Inc., 17 Cornell street, after a disturbance was reported at the plant.

A few days later Seigel was arrested on a warrant charging third degree assault on complaint of Frances Colao, of the Flatbush road, who had also been picketing. Judge Gold reserved decision after trial and expects to announce it soon.

Whistling figured as part of the alleged annoyance on which the complaints were based, and since it was noted by the complainant himself that only "defendant Colao was whistling, the judge ruled that "the information against the defendant Uhl should be summarily dismissed." No other grounds for the charge were proved, he said.

Picketing was by Local 259, International Ladies Garment Workers Union in an effort to organize about 40 workers.

The judge's decision on the other charge noted "no credible evidence in the record to show that anyone other than the complainant was annoyed or disturbed by the whistling," and held that "In this case the acts were not sufficient to cause consternation and alarm such as would disturb the peace and quiet of the community."

Attorney Frank Martocci appearel for Colao and Uhl and Arthur B. Ewig for Seigel.

Freighter Gale-Battered

London, Aug. 23 (AP)—A crippled British freighter was inched uncertainly toward shelter today. Her captain and mate finally had to quit the ship after 53 hours alone aboard her gale-battered bridge. Santa Maria of Bronx Defeats St. Joseph's in CYO Finals

New Yorkers Win 7-4 in Contest Marred by Errors

Santa Maria of the Bronx captured the New York archdiocese CYO Met baseball championship yesterday, defeating St. Joseph's of Kingston 7-4 at Jack Coffey Field, Fordham University.

The game was marred by numerous errors on both sides. Hits were at a premium. The winners managed five and St. Joseph's had only three.

Dom Falciglia pitched for the winners. Outside of the errors, he worked an effective game in the 98-degree heat. He struck out four and walked six.

EVERY RUN IN the game was unearned. The local team tallied once in the first and came up with three in the fourth. Santa Maria, with three in the first and two in the third, sewed it up with another pair in the fourth.

It was a rough day for the St. Joseph's pitchers. Frank Reis started but got only one man out before departing in favor of Renny Giannuzzi. Giannuzzi hurled through the fifth frame. Joe Altamore finished. This trio was the victim of six errors.

Ronnie Ashdown scored for St. Joseph's in the first when, with two out, he walked, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and came home on a throwing error.

IN THE FOURTH a quartet of walks, three errors and a hit batter produced the locals' trio of runs.

Santa Maria tallied on three errors, two walks and a base hit in the first. Two hits, as many errors and a pass got the Bronx team its runs in the third. A pair of walks, a single, an error and another hit batter resulted in the final SM runs.

The game was delayed one and one-half hours by the Junior championship contest. St. Anthanasius of the Bronx took the victory, 14-4 over St. Mary's of Wappingers Falls.

Kramer Predicts U. S. Victory In Davis Cup

Forest Hills, Aug. 22 (AP)—Jack Kramer, serving as a trial horse for Uncle Sam's Davis Cup forces, said today America looks like a cinch to beat Australia in tennis' world series next week-end.

"How can we lose?" the former champion from Los Angeles asked as the players relaxed at the West Side Tennis Club.

"These fellows (the Aussies) haven't won a big match since January. Tony Trabert looks like a sure bet for two points in singles and you can't count out Vic Seixas.

"After all, Vic has an 8-2 record against Lew Hoad and he can beat Ken Rosewall if he follows the formula he used last year.

"In doubles, you have to stick with the Americans. Trabert and Seixas beat Hoad and Rex Hartwig, who make Australia's present team, in the 1954 challenge round at Melbourne. Last year they beat Hoad and Rosewall."

Blue Jays Drop From 1st Division In Eastern Loop

(By The Associated Press)

Through an accident of scheduling, the Schenectady Blue Jays were out of the Eastern League first division again today.

Don Cardwell hurled the Jays to a 5-0 shutout over the Albany Senators yesterday. But the Williamsport Grays, with whom the Jays were tied for fourth place, were equally determined to make the playoffs and they had a double header scheduled.

The Grays trampled over the Johnstown Johnnies twice, 11-3 and 4-2, ending a six-game losing streak and giving them a half-game edge over the Jays.

THE ALLENTOWN Redbirds and the league-leading Reading Indians split a double header. The opener, which the Indians won 7-3, was decided with a big five-run first inning. Both of Allentown's runs in the 2-0 nightcap were homers by Dick Cordell.

Les Fessette turned in a two-hit relief performance for the last-place Elmira Pioneers. He came on in the fifth to squash the Binghamton Triplets' only scoring threat, and helped his team to a 9-1 victory.

Williamsport manager Larry Shepard won his 15th in 19 pitching starts. All Johnstown runs were homers in that game. Ron Sheetz pitched a three-hitter to win the second game.

Daley Registers First Ace at New Wiltwyck

The new Wiltwyck golf course has its first hole-in-one and, appropriately enough, the club tournament chairman, Bob Daley is the No. 1 acer.

Daley bagged the dream shot on the rugged par 3, 175-yard No. 8 hole Saturday. He used a 3 iron. Playing in the foursome with Daley were Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., Maurice Davenport and Clyde Wanderly Jr. It was the first hole-in-one of Daley's career.

Meanwhile, pro Fred McMeekin staged his first organized tournament of the season Saturday, with Bill Egan winning the kicker's with a 73 net. He grossed 98 and had 25 handicap.

Tops Mrs. Burnett, 1 Up in Thrilling 19-Hole Finals

Mrs. Anthony J. "Wiggie" DeLisio is the new woman's golf champion at Woodstock Country Club after staging a tremendous rally to nip defending champion, Mrs. Charles E. Burnett, 1-up, in a dramatic 19-hole final.

Three down at the end of nine holes in Saturday's playoff, the club president's wife rallied to square the 15th hole and went one up on the 16th.

Mrs. Burnett, a veteran of nearly 25 years of the tournament trail, showed her mettle by running down a 16-foot birdie putt on the 17th hole to square the match.

BOTH GOT OFF good drives from the 18th tee but three-putted for double-bogie 5s to send the match into a sudden death playoff.

The pressure was terrific on both as they teed off for the first extra hole. Both drives were good. Mrs. DeLisio's second shot landed just under the bank fronting the first green while Mrs. Burnett was on top, short of the green.

Mrs. DeLisio's pitch shot was too strong and skittered across the green to rim behind the green. She chipped back beautifully leaving herself a 10-inch putt for ran it down a bogie-5.

MRS. BURNETT, meanwhile, was short with her pitch to the green and left herself a 6-foot putt which she missed on her attempt for an equalizer. The ball rimmed the cup but failed to drop.

The club title was the first for Mrs. DeLisio, who has made remarkable strides as a golfer in the past couple years.

The two finalists had marched impressively through the round of eight in the championship fight.

Mrs. DeLisio defeated Mrs. Terry Staples in her first round and then beat Doris Murray, 3 and 2. Mrs. Burnett won over Mrs. Terry Staples, 4 and 3; and Mrs. Inger Walker, 5 and 4. Mrs. Walker won her first round match from Mrs. Eleanor Schirmer and Mrs. Murray defeated Mrs. Frances Prior, 3 and 2.

Baseball folks were beginning to wonder today whether Brooklyn may be heading for what would be the most spectacular smash-up in the long Dodger tradition of blowing pennants.

Actually, it would take a complete Brooklyn collapse together with an incredible finish by either of the two top contenders—Milwaukee or New York—to accomplish the miracle. But those who still recall the late-season slides of the Dodgers in 1942 and 1951 are convinced nothing is impossible.

Win or lose, the Dodgers haven't looked like pennant winners since the All-Star break, playing eight games under .500 ball since July 9. Beaten for the third straight time by Philadelphia yesterday 6-4, the Dodgers limped home with a record of 10 losses in their last 14 games cutting their 16½ games lead of Aug. 12 over Milwaukee to 11 in nine days.

Manager Walter Alston is sufficiently concerned about the Dodger doldrums to have ordered a rare late-season workout in Brooklyn at 11 a. m. today.

THE BRAVES, continuing their battle against huge odds, won their fifth in a row, humbling the Chicago Cubs 8-1 and Cincinnati shut out St. Louis 4-0 behind the four-hit pitching of rookie Don Gross. Rain washed out the scheduled doubleheader between the Giants and Pirates in Pittsburgh.

The slumping Dodgers managed only six hits off Herman Weheimer, who won his 10th with the relief help of Jack Meyer. Homers by Willie Jones, who hit a grand slammer in the third, Glen Gorbous and Del Ennis accounted for the Phils' runs off six Dodger pitchers.

The Dodgers haven't reached the alarming stage yet but old Brooklyn sufferers still haven't forgotten that the Dodgers blew an early August lead of 10½ games over the Cardinals in 1942 and a mid-August 13½ games lead over the Giants nine years later.

Veteran outfielders Bobby Thomson and Andy Pafko rapped three hits apiece and Thomson drove in three runs to spark the Braves to victory. Righthander Bob Buhl spaced seven Cub hits for his 12th victory and seventh in his last eight starts.

Outfielder Wally Post drove in three runs with his 31st home run and a single in the Reds' victory over the Cardinals. Harvey Haddix was the victim, dropping his 12th against 10 victories.

CHICAGO'S relentless White Sox climbed within a half-game—and two percentage points—of New York's American League leading Yankees, sweeping a doubleheader from Detroit 2-0 and 8-2. The Yanks dumped Baltimore 6-1, while third place Cleveland remained one game from the top by walloping Kansas City 9-4 and fourth place Boston, 4½ games short, beat Washington 4-1.

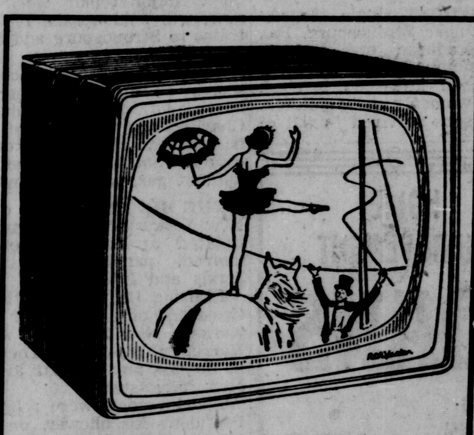

Righthander Dick Donovan, just three weeks after undergoing an appendectomy, followed a four-hitter by Connie Johnson with a well-spaced eight-hitter for his 14th victory in 18 decisions.

Minnie Minoso, with six hits in nine times at bat in the twin bill, broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Johnson and loser Billy Hoeft when he unloaded his seventh home run in the sixth inning of the opener. Walt Dropo ignited a four-run second in the nightcap with his 17th homer off rookie Jim Bunning.

Three Yankee home runs proved the undoing of veteran southpaw Eddie Lopat, making his first Yankee Stadium start against his former mates. Hank Bauer hit his 15th in the second, Bill Skowron his 11th and Mickey Mantle his 32nd in the third.

Don Larsen pitched the six-hit triumph to give the Yankees their 10th victory in the last 11 starts, and their 18th in 20 meetings with the Orioles.

In winning his fifth straight race, Decathlon defeated Nan's Mink by a neck in the Tyro Stakes at Monmouth Park. The two colts were raised together in the same paddock in Kentucky.

Santa Maria of Bronx Defeats St. Joseph's in CYO Finals

New Yorkers Win 7-4 in Contest Marred by Errors

Santa Maria of the Bronx captured the New York archdiocese CYO Met baseball championship yesterday, defeating St. Joseph's of Kingston 7-4 at Jack Coffey Field, Fordham University.

The game was marred by numerous errors on both sides. Hits were at a premium. The winners managed five and St. Joseph's had only three.

Dom Falciglia pitched for the winners. Outside of the errors, he worked an effective game in the 98-degree heat. He struck out four and walked six.

EVERY RUN IN the game was unearned. The local team tallied once in the first and came up with three in the fourth. Santa Maria, with three in the first and two in the third, sewed it up with another pair in the fourth.

It was a rough day for the St. Joseph's pitchers. Frank Reis started but got only one man out before departing in favor of Renny Giannuzzi. Giannuzzi hurled through the fifth frame. Joe Altamore finished. This trio was the victim of six errors.

Ronnie Ashdown scored for St. Joseph's in the first when, with two out, he walked, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and came home on a throwing error.

IN THE FOURTH a quartet of walks, three errors and a hit batter produced the locals' trio of runs.

Santa Maria tallied on three errors, two walks and a base hit in the first. Two hits, as many errors and a pass got the Bronx team its runs in the third. A pair of walks, a single, an error and another hit batter resulted in the final SM runs.

The game was delayed one and one-half hours by the Junior championship contest. St. Anthanasius of the Bronx took the victory, 14-4 over St. Mary's of Wappingers Falls.

Kramer Predicts U. S. Victory In Davis Cup

Forest Hills, Aug. 22 (AP)—Jack Kramer, serving as a trial horse for Uncle Sam's Davis Cup forces, said today America looks like a cinch to beat Australia in tennis' world series next week-end.

"How can we lose?" the former champion from Los Angeles asked as the players relaxed at the West Side Tennis Club.

"These fellows (the Aussies) haven't won a big match since January. Tony Trabert looks like a sure bet for two points in singles and you can't count out Vic Seixas.

"After all, Vic has an 8-2 record against Lew Hoad and he can beat Ken Rosewall if he follows the formula he used last year.

"In doubles, you have to stick with the Americans. Trabert and Seixas beat Hoad and Rex Hartwig, who make Australia's present team, in the 1954 challenge round at Melbourne. Last year they beat Hoad and Rosewall."

Blue Jays Drop From 1st Division In Eastern Loop

(By The Associated Press)

Through an accident of scheduling, the Schenectady Blue Jays were out of the Eastern League first division again today.

Don Cardwell hurled the Jays to a 5-0 shutout over the Albany Senators yesterday. But the Williamsport Grays, with whom the Jays were tied for fourth place, were equally determined to make the playoffs and they had a double header scheduled.

The Grays trampled over the Johnstown Johnnies twice, 11-3 and 4-2, ending a six-game losing streak and giving them a half-game edge over the Jays.

THE ALLENTOWN Redbirds and the league-leading Reading Indians split a double header. The opener, which the Indians won 7-3, was decided with a big five-run first inning. Both of Allentown's runs in the 2-0 nightcap were homers by Dick Cordell.

Les Fessette turned in a two-hit relief performance for the last-place Elmira Pioneers. He came on in the fifth to squash the Binghamton Triplets' only scoring threat, and helped his team to a 9-1 victory.

Williamsport manager Larry Shepard won his 15th in 19 pitching starts. All Johnstown runs were homers in that game. Ron Sheetz pitched a three-hitter to win the second game.

Daley Registers First Ace at New Wiltwyck

The new Wiltwyck golf course has its first hole-in-one and, appropriately enough, the club tournament chairman, Bob Daley is the No. 1 acer.

Daley bagged the dream shot on the rugged par 3, 175-yard No. 8 hole Saturday. He used a 3 iron. Playing in the foursome with Daley were Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., Maurice Davenport and Clyde Wanderly Jr. It was the first hole-in-one of Daley's career.

Meanwhile, pro Fred McMeekin staged his first organized tournament of the season Saturday, with Bill Egan winning the kicker's with a 73 net. He grossed 98 and had 25 handicap.

Tops Mrs. Burnett, 1 Up in Thrilling 19-Hole Finals

Mrs. Anthony J. "Wiggie" DeLisio is the new woman's golf champion at Woodstock Country Club after staging a tremendous rally to nip defending champion, Mrs. Charles E. Burnett, 1-up, in a dramatic 19-hole final.

Three down at the end of nine holes in Saturday's playoff, the club president's wife rallied to square the 15th hole and went one up on the 16th.

Mrs. Burnett, a veteran of nearly 25 years of the tournament trail, showed her mettle by running down a 16-foot birdie putt on the 17th hole to square the match.

BOTH GOT OFF good drives from the 18th tee but three-putted for double-bogie 5s to send the match into a sudden death playoff.

The pressure was terrific on both as they teed off for the first extra hole. Both drives were good. Mrs. DeLisio's second shot landed just under the bank fronting the first green while Mrs. Burnett was on top, short of the green.

Mrs. DeLisio's pitch shot was too strong and skittered across the green to rim behind the green. She chipped back beautifully leaving herself a 10-inch putt for ran it down a bogie-5.

MRS. BURNETT, meanwhile, was short with her pitch to the green and left herself a 6-foot putt which she missed on her attempt for an equalizer. The ball rimmed the cup but failed to drop.

The club title was the first for Mrs. DeLisio, who has made remarkable strides as a golfer in the past couple years.

The two finalists had marched impressively through the round of eight in the championship fight.

Mrs. DeLisio defeated Mrs. Terry Staples in her first round and then beat Doris Murray, 3 and 2. Mrs. Burnett won over Mrs. Terry Staples, 4 and 3; and Mrs. Inger Walker, 5 and 4. Mrs. Walker won her first round match from Mrs. Eleanor Schirmer and Mrs. Murray defeated Mrs. Frances Prior, 3 and 2.

Baseball folks were beginning to wonder today whether Brooklyn may be heading for what would be the most spectacular smash-up in the long Dodger tradition of blowing pennants.

Actually, it would take a complete Brooklyn collapse together with an incredible finish by either of the two top contenders—Milwaukee or New York—to accomplish the miracle. But those who still recall the late-season slides of the Dodgers in 1942 and 1951 are convinced nothing is impossible.

Win or lose, the Dodgers haven't looked like pennant winners since the All-Star break, playing eight games under .500 ball since July 9. Beaten for the third straight time by Philadelphia yesterday 6-4, the Dodgers limped home with a record of 10 losses in their last 14 games cutting their 16½ games lead of Aug. 12 over Milwaukee to 11 in nine days.

Manager Walter Alston is sufficiently concerned about the Dodger doldrums to have ordered a rare late-season workout in Brooklyn at 11 a. m. today.

THE BRAVES, continuing their battle against huge odds, won their fifth in a row, humbling the Chicago Cubs 8-1 and Cincinnati shut out St. Louis 4-0 behind the four-hit pitching of rookie Don Gross. Rain washed out the scheduled doubleheader between the Giants and Pirates in Pittsburgh.

The slumping Dodgers managed only six hits off Herman Weheimer, who won his 10th with the relief help of Jack Meyer. Homers by Willie Jones, who hit a grand slammer in the third, Glen Gorbous and Del Ennis accounted for the Phils' runs off six Dodger pitchers.

The Dodgers haven't reached the alarming stage yet but old Brooklyn sufferers still haven't forgotten that the Dodgers blew an early August lead of 10½ games over the Cardinals in 1942 and a mid-August 13½ games lead over the Giants nine years later.

Veteran outfielders Bobby Thomson and Andy Pafko rapped three hits apiece and Thomson drove in three runs to spark the Braves to victory. Righthander Bob Buhl spaced seven Cub hits for his 12th victory and seventh in his last eight starts.

Outfielder Wally Post drove in three runs with his 31st home run and a single in the Reds' victory over the Cardinals. Harvey Haddix was the victim, dropping his 12th against 10 victories.

CHICAGO'S relentless White Sox climbed within a half-game—and two percentage points—of New York's American League leading Yankees, sweeping a doubleheader from Detroit 2-0 and 8-2. The Yanks dumped Baltimore 6-1, while third place Cleveland remained one game from the top by walloping Kansas City 9-4 and fourth place Boston, 4½ games short, beat Washington 4-1.

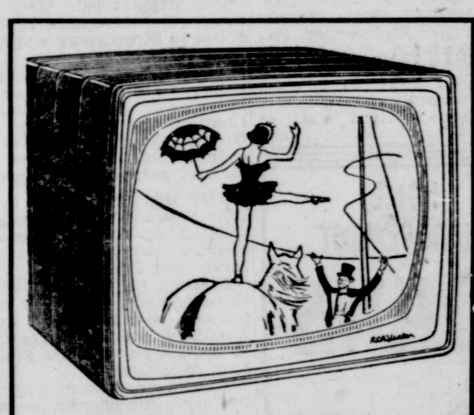

Righthander Dick Donovan, just three weeks after undergoing an appendectomy, followed a four-hitter by Connie Johnson with a well-spaced eight-hitter for his 14th victory in 18 decisions.

Minnie Minoso, with six hits in nine times at bat in the twin bill, broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Johnson and loser Billy Hoeft when he unloaded his seventh home run in the sixth inning of the opener. Walt Dropo ignited a four-run second in the nightcap with his 17th homer off rookie Jim Bunning.

Three Yankee home runs proved the undoing of veteran southpaw Eddie Lopat, making his first Yankee Stadium start against his former mates. Hank Bauer hit his 15th in the second, Bill Skowron his 11th and Mickey Mantle his 32nd in the third.

Don Larsen pitched the six-hit triumph to give the Yankees their 10th victory in the last 11 starts, and their 18th in 20 meetings with the Orioles.

In winning his fifth straight race, Decathlon defeated Nan's Mink by a neck in the Tyro Stakes at Monmouth Park. The two colts were raised together in the same paddock in Kentucky.

Jerry Oster, 18, Brings Pin Average of 192 From Detroit

JERRY OSTER

Kingston's bowling fraternity will get a look at one of the latest "Boy Wonders" of the pin sport in a couple of weeks when the season begins here.

The highly-touted newcomer to local bowling circles is Gerald "Jerry" Oster, now a Port Ewen resident by way of Detroit, Mich., where he won numerous honors.

Tall, good looking and 18 years old, Oster brings a 192 average to Kingston. He's scheduled to perform with the Jones Dairy team in the Hudson Valley League.

Oster, the oldest of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Oster's nine children, moved to the area with his family six weeks ago.

A few days after arriving here, the youth's father stopped to call on Johnny Ferraro, local bowling star who operates the Bowlodrome alleys. Ferraro had heard of young Oster's prowess as a bowler. He watched him perform and then offered him a spot on the Jones quintet.

Oster is no veteran as bowlers go. The coming season will be only his fourth. His average has climbed steadily, from 154 the first year to 177 the second and now the 192 mark.

After leaving Catholic Central High School in Detroit, Oster worked as a counter boy in Detroit's Olympic Recreation alleys, scene of the 1955 national team championships.

Jerry credits a Detroit coworker, Jim Pantazides, as the reason for the big improvement in his game last year.

"Jim taught me the ways of finding the characteristics of different alleys," says Oster of his teacher, who has rolled a 749 in American Bowling Congress tournament competition and who has also won several Detroit area tournaments.

Oster's tournament victory list is impressive. He won the Michigan Junior Class B title in 1954. He was first in the Detroit News Motor Bowl and was a member of the Olympic Recreation team which won the Detroit Times Sweepstakes.

In his first try in ABC tournament competition last year, Oster had an all-events sum of 1700, rolling 592, 567 and 541.

Jerry isn't a member of the "300" club—yet. He powered a 299 game when he was 16. A missed 6 pin in the final frame cost him a perfect score. He also had a pair of 279 efforts.

On local alleys, Jerry's best three-game total to date was a 650 at the Bowlodrome two weeks ago.

Unlike most topnotch bowlers, Oster is long and lanky. He's six-one and weighs 155 pounds. Those who've watched him here say he has classic form.

Oster is now working at the Barclay Knitwear Company. His father is the used car sales manager at the Denton Cadillac-Oldsmobile Corp.

With the arrival of Oster, Ferraro's "youth movement" seems just about complete. Johnny will captain one of the youngest squads in the Valley circuit this winter.

Oster is the youngest at 18. Chris Gallo is 21 and Ferraro's son, Jack, is 25. Charley Manfro is one of the veterans at 42. Ferraro Senior is the "old man" of the quintet at 52.

Chuck Davey Returns In Bout With Manzi

(By The Associated Press)

Chuck Davey, onetime idol of television boxing fans, ends a 15-month "retirement" tonight when he faces Pat Manzi of Syracuse at Saginaw, Mich., in a 10-round bout.

The 29-year-old Michigan State graduate hung up his gloves 15 months ago following a seventh round knockout by Vince Martinez. He first fell from the heights on Feb. 11, 1953, when Kid Gavilan, then the welterweight king, stopped him in the 10th round of a title fight.

This fight won't be televised. If Davey wins decisively, he'll probably be seen soon on TV.

TONIGHT'S network TV fight matches middleweights Rinzi Nocero (25-2-0) of New York and Paola Melis (32-8-2), the former Italian welter champion now living in Montreal. The two meet in a 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (Dumont-TV, 9 p. m., EST).

Middleweights Ray Drake (20-4) and Danny Giovanelli (26-4-1) collide in the television 10-rounder at New York's Madison Square Garden Wednesday night (ABC-TV, radio, 9 p. m. (EST).

BIG BOB BAKER, second ranking heavyweight contender from Pittsburgh, faces pudgy Rex Layne of Lewiston, Utah, in a return 10-rounder at West Jordan, Utah, Wednesday night. Baker narrowly outpointed the 10th ranking Layne in the same town July 18.

Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson, getting in shape for his tentative title defense against Sugar Ray Robinson in November, takes on Soldier Joey Giambra in a non-title telvision fight at the San Francisco Cow Palance Friday night (NBC-TV, 9 p. m., EST).

This is Olson's second start since he was flattened in the third round by light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, June 22. Bobo outpointed Jimmy Martinez, Aug. 13. Giambra, a ranking middleweight until he was inducted into the Army a year and a half ago, has fought three times (winning all) since donning the uniform.

Dobler-Panther Clash Tuesday In City League

The City Baseball League is without action today, but Dobler Beer and the New York Panthers are carded for a Tuesday clash at 6 o'clock.

Only two games are scheduled this week, with Thursday set aside for playing off one of the postponed games on the backlog.

Jones Dairy and Nadlers meet in Wednesday's game.

The Lions Yankees escaped the American Little League cellar Friday with a 4-3 victory over the Moose Red Sox at the LL Stadium.

Frank Fay pitched a five-hitter, striking out eight and walking three. He allowed single runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings.

The Yanks got only four hits off Mike Ferraro and Mike Carpino, the Sox hurlers. Ferraro, the starter and loser, lasted three innings.

Playoffs between the first and second-round winners, the Electrol Giants and the Sprague Dodgers, begin tonight at the Stadium. The best-of-three series ends Wednesday.

Swim Across Ontario Slated in Afternoon

Wicked Point, Ont., Aug. 22 (AP) — Winds permitting, a 29-year-old Rochester appliance salesman was to attempt swimming Lake Ontario from here to Rochester sometime this afternoon. If he is successful he will be the first man to do so.

Wesley Struble hopes to make the 50 miles to Ontario beach park in a little more than 40 hours. He was stopped yesterday by unfavorable winds.

Marilyn Bell, a 17-year-old Toronto school girl, was the first and only person to complete the swim across the lake. She swam from Youngstown, N. Y. to Toronto, last summer.

Arthur A. Davis' speech before the Lions Club last week unfolded the splendor that will be Wiltwyck's by next season.

If Davis' retirement from active command at Wiltwyck is as close as he sometimes predicts, there will be no need for testimonials, monuments or memorials when, and if, he does retire.

The finest tribute to his long search for a modern 18-hole golf course for Wiltwyck members and its smashing culmination in 1956 will be visible henceforth and forever on the east side of the New York Thruway.

• Chips and Putts:

A word for the ladies: Pro Betty Hicks in a recent article in Golf Digest urged that if women golfers want to add yardage to their shots they should "develop a more hostile attitude toward the golf ball." Miss Hicks says the lady golfers should literally "smash and crush" the ball rather than "merely caress it" if it's distance she's after. Woodstock Country Club hopes to have Gene Sarazen for an exhibition in September when it presents the Germantown immortal with an honorary life membership. . . . Like all good golf chairmen, Clarence "Dubby" Raichle and thousands of others around the country are concerned these days with the failure or refusal of members to meet their schedule commitments in the various club flights. We have long advocated a four-day tournament in the championship flight. A 36-hole qualifying one weekend with the matches the next Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with a 36-hole finals on Sunday. But the inevitable reaction is a howl that such a setup would limit the competition to "bankers, loafers, and vacationers."

• The Nineteenth Hole:

A tip of the golf sombrero to Mrs. Helen Dendy for getting Woodstock women out for a championship, Class B and C flight this year. . . . These torrential rains have disturbed many folks and caused unlimited damage but for golf courses, the rains were a godsend. The fairways and greens have returned to their virginal beauty of springtime and for the remainder of the 1955 season conditions should be terrific. An amateur could steal the show in the Woodstock Open Friday. Clinton Traver, of Rhinebeck, a member of the Columbia Golf and Country Club, fired a 103 with 34-34-35 last year and could easily repeat. He tied for low amateur in 1952. He was Columbia club champion in 1952 and runner-up in 1953-54. Travers also holds the course record of 62, nine-under par and placed second in the New York State Masonic championship in 1954. Another threat is Dom Magnino of Schenectady.

• Looking Ahead at Wiltwyck:

Wiltwyck will probably make an early bid for the New York State Amateur championship and should land it within a few years. The 7000-yard layout is a golf course with great character and should bring state and national golf prestige to the community. Wiltwyck might also sponsor a 36-hole City Open next season to replace the traditional Labor Day weekend playoff between the individual champions of Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck, a series that appears to be losing its spectator appeal. . . . Any member of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association of Detroit who shows up for a tournament in a skimpy skirt and halter is automatically disqualified. "We're for cool, sensible clothing, especially in the heat," an executive of the WMGA explained. "But scanty costumes don't improve anyone's golf. If they did, the women professionals would play in bikinis. . . ."

New Baltimore Driver Cops Duke Washburn Memorial

No doubt the happiest man in New Baltimore, N. Y., today is Chuck Irving.

The reason behind the joy is that Saturday night Chuck, driving the Parks Ford, captured the Duke Washburn Memorial sweepstakes stock car race at Rhinebeck Speedway.

The triumph was worth $1,070 and a trophy emblematic of stock car supremacy in the Hudson Valley area.

IRVING TOOK the lead on the 154th of the 250-lap, or 50-mile, race and was never headed. Stan Disbrow, veteran pilot from Poughkeepsie, was second. Gene Bergin took third and another Bridge City pilot, Chauncey "Jokko" Maggiacomo, finished in fourth position.

Ken Gootermote of Troy led at the start, with Maggiacomo and Moe Gherzi the early challengers. "Jokko" retired early with a blown engine and Gherzi spun out temporarily.

Link Pettit, then in second place, went out via a smashed radiator. Pettit's mishap moved Irving into second position. The New Baltimore throttle jockey pulled into first position when Gootermote needed a tire change. Gootermote never did get back into serious contention, finishing sixth.

GHERZI WAS a victim of heat exhaustion after 180 laps. Maggiacomo took over behind the wheel.

A pileup temporarily stopped the race on the 224th lap when Bob Devine skidded on oil and rammed the fence. Tiny Weyer flipped and Gootermote and Don Cronk sailed into the wreckage.

Completing the first 10 finishers were Ed Westervelt, Gootermote, Sales Casey, Bill Darragh, Ray Palen and Weyer.

Pete Peterson of Albany won the non-Ford feature, followed across the line by Bill Boo, Bill King and Dick Overfield.

Rookie of Year In International Might Be Brandt

By The Associated Press

When they get around to handing out rookie of the year honors in the International League, it will be impossible to overlook Jackie Brandt's credentials.

The Rochester centerfielder salvaged what seemed to be a lost cause yesterday with a last-inning, two-out, three-run homer to give Rochester a 12-11 victory over Richmond in the second game of a doubleheader. His leadoff roundtripper off Jim Konstanty in the seventh of the first game tied it at 1-1 and his mates went on to win it, 3-1.

MONTREAL jumped into first place with a pair of one-run victories at Syracuse, 2-1 and 3-2. The Toronto Maple Leafs fell ½ game back into second, losing 2-0 to Havana's Pat Scantlebury. The Leafs led 11-7 after 5½ innings of the second game, which was called because of a curfew.

The Buffalo Bisons opened a four-game spread between themselves and cellar-dwelling Richmond by virtue of 8-2 and 9-6 victories over Columbus.

Brandt's game-winning blow was his fourth homer in the last three games and his 12th of the season. The 21-year-old speedster has 19 stolen bases to his credit and is tied for the league lead in doubles and triples with 34 and 11, respectively.

Philadelphia Youth Captures Distance Swim

Lake George, Aug. 22 (AP)—Frank Brunell of Philadelphia won his second consecutive AUU long-distance swimming championship yesterday—a day after setting four Canadian records at the Canadian swimming and diving championships.

The 16-year-old Brunell swam the choppy four-mile course here in 1 hour, 39 minutes and 26 seconds. He was 11 seconds ahead of George Holtrey, representing the Huntington, Ind., YMCA. The Huntington Y repeated its 1954 team championship.

Brunell, a student at Lawrenceville, N. J., Prep, swims for the Vespers Swimming Club of Philadelphia. He is the son of Octave Brunell of Philadelphia.

Michael Wolk of the Knickerbocker Swim Club, New York, finished third in 1 hour, 46 minutes and 35 seconds.

Palmer's 65 Cops Canadian Open

Toronto, Aug. 22 (AP)—Young Arnold Palmer has proved himself a qualified member of the elite and tough professional golf fraternity by winning the Canadian Open with a near record 265.

The 25-year-old pro of Labtrobe, Pa., will play starting Thursday in the $26,800 Montreal Open. Palmer, who less than a year ago won the U. S. Amateur title, gained his first pro victory Saturday when he finished the 72 holes of the $15,000 Canadian Open with a 265.

The 265, 23 under par, was the second best in the history of the Canadian championship. The only lower score was the 263 put together by namesake Johnny Palmer of Baden, N. C., in 1952 at Winnipeg.

Palmer, who didn't become eligible to compete for money until last May when he finished his PGA probation period, picked up $2,400.

Tom Gerber spaced six hits and got three safeties himself Saturday at Kingman Park, leading the Trailways Braves to a 6-1 victory over the Island Dock Tigers in the National Little League.

It was the first win of the second round for the Braves.

Gerber worked a steady game on the mound. He struck out seven and walked only one. All the Tigers' hits were singles.

FIVE RUNS in the first inning proved to be the downfall of Tigers hurler Jack Darwak. Darwak left the mound early, with Joe Spada taking over. Jerry Bradford finished.

Gerber had good support in the field. Of particular note was Pete Tatarzewski's spectacular running catch of Darwak's drive down the right field line.

The regular season ends this week. The Braves and Tigers tangle again tonight. On Tuesday, it's Indians vs. Tigers; Wednesday, Braves vs. Pirates; Thursday, Pirates vs. Braves.

Chuck Davey Returns In Bout With Manzi

(By The Associated Press)

Chuck Davey, onetime idol of television boxing fans, ends a 15-month "retirement" tonight when he faces Pat Manzi of Syracuse at Saginaw, Mich., in a 10-round bout.

The 29-year-old Michigan State graduate hung up his gloves 15 months ago following a seventh round knockout by Vince Martinez. He first fell from the heights on Feb. 11, 1953, when Kid Gavilan, then the welterweight king, stopped him in the 10th round of a title fight.

This fight won't be televised. If Davey wins decisively, he'll probably be seen soon on TV.

TONIGHT'S network TV fight matches middleweights Rinzi Nocero (25-2-0) of New York and Paola Melis (32-8-2), the former Italian welter champion now living in Montreal. The two meet in a 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (Dumont-TV, 9 p. m., EST).

Middleweights Ray Drake (20-4) and Danny Giovanelli (26-4-1) collide in the television 10-rounder at New York's Madison Square Garden Wednesday night (ABC-TV, radio, 9 p. m. (EST).

BIG BOB BAKER, second ranking heavyweight contender from Pittsburgh, faces pudgy Rex Layne of Lewiston, Utah, in a return 10-rounder at West Jordan, Utah, Wednesday night. Baker narrowly outpointed the 10th ranking Layne in the same town July 18.

Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson, getting in shape for his tentative title defense against Sugar Ray Robinson in November, takes on Soldier Joey Giambra in a non-title telvision fight at the San Francisco Cow Palance Friday night (NBC-TV, 9 p. m., EST).

This is Olson's second start since he was flattened in the third round by light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, June 22. Bobo outpointed Jimmy Martinez, Aug. 13. Giambra, a ranking middleweight until he was inducted into the Army a year and a half ago, has fought three times (winning all) since donning the uniform.

Dobler-Panther Clash Tuesday In City League

The City Baseball League is without action today, but Dobler Beer and the New York Panthers are carded for a Tuesday clash at 6 o'clock.

Only two games are scheduled this week, with Thursday set aside for playing off one of the postponed games on the backlog.

Jones Dairy and Nadlers meet in Wednesday's game.

The Lions Yankees escaped the American Little League cellar Friday with a 4-3 victory over the Moose Red Sox at the LL Stadium.

Frank Fay pitched a five-hitter, striking out eight and walking three. He allowed single runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings.

The Yanks got only four hits off Mike Ferraro and Mike Carpino, the Sox hurlers. Ferraro, the starter and loser, lasted three innings.

Playoffs between the first and second-round winners, the Electrol Giants and the Sprague Dodgers, begin tonight at the Stadium. The best-of-three series ends Wednesday.

Swim Across Ontario Slated in Afternoon

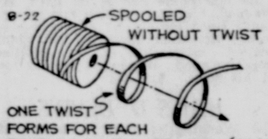

Wicked Point, Ont., Aug. 22 (AP) — Winds permitting, a 29-year-old Rochester appliance salesman was to attempt swimming Lake Ontario from here to Rochester sometime this afternoon. If he is successful he will be the first man to do so.

Wesley Struble hopes to make the 50 miles to Ontario beach park in a little more than 40 hours. He was stopped yesterday by unfavorable winds.

Marilyn Bell, a 17-year-old Toronto school girl, was the first and only person to complete the swim across the lake. She swam from Youngstown, N. Y. to Toronto, last summer.

Arthur A. Davis' speech before the Lions Club last week unfolded the splendor that will be Wiltwyck's by next season.

If Davis' retirement from active command at Wiltwyck is as close as he sometimes predicts, there will be no need for testimonials, monuments or memorials when, and if, he does retire.

The finest tribute to his long search for a modern 18-hole golf course for Wiltwyck members and its smashing culmination in 1956 will be visible henceforth and forever on the east side of the New York Thruway.

• Chips and Putts:

A word for the ladies: Pro Betty Hicks in a recent article in Golf Digest urged that if women golfers want to add yardage to their shots they should "develop a more hostile attitude toward the golf ball." Miss Hicks says the lady golfers should literally "smash and crush" the ball rather than "merely caress it" if it's distance she's after. Woodstock Country Club hopes to have Gene Sarazen for an exhibition in September when it presents the Germantown immortal with an honorary life membership. . . . Like all good golf chairmen, Clarence "Dubby" Raichle and thousands of others around the country are concerned these days with the failure or refusal of members to meet their schedule commitments in the various club flights. We have long advocated a four-day tournament in the championship flight. A 36-hole qualifying one weekend with the matches the next Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with a 36-hole finals on Sunday. But the inevitable reaction is a howl that such a setup would limit the competition to "bankers, loafers, and vacationers."

• The Nineteenth Hole:

A tip of the golf sombrero to Mrs. Helen Dendy for getting Woodstock women out for a championship, Class B and C flight this year. . . . These torrential rains have disturbed many folks and caused unlimited damage but for golf courses, the rains were a godsend. The fairways and greens have returned to their virginal beauty of springtime and for the remainder of the 1955 season conditions should be terrific. An amateur could steal the show in the Woodstock Open Friday. Clinton Traver, of Rhinebeck, a member of the Columbia Golf and Country Club, fired a 103 with 34-34-35 last year and could easily repeat. He tied for low amateur in 1952. He was Columbia club champion in 1952 and runner-up in 1953-54. Travers also holds the course record of 62, nine-under par and placed second in the New York State Masonic championship in 1954. Another threat is Dom Magnino of Schenectady.

• Looking Ahead at Wiltwyck:

Wiltwyck will probably make an early bid for the New York State Amateur championship and should land it within a few years. The 7000-yard layout is a golf course with great character and should bring state and national golf prestige to the community. Wiltwyck might also sponsor a 36-hole City Open next season to replace the traditional Labor Day weekend playoff between the individual champions of Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck, a series that appears to be losing its spectator appeal. . . . Any member of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association of Detroit who shows up for a tournament in a skimpy skirt and halter is automatically disqualified. "We're for cool, sensible clothing, especially in the heat," an executive of the WMGA explained. "But scanty costumes don't improve anyone's golf. If they did, the women professionals would play in bikinis. . . ."

New Baltimore Driver Cops Duke Washburn Memorial

No doubt the happiest man in New Baltimore, N. Y., today is Chuck Irving.

The reason behind the joy is that Saturday night Chuck, driving the Parks Ford, captured the Duke Washburn Memorial sweepstakes stock car race at Rhinebeck Speedway.

The triumph was worth $1,070 and a trophy emblematic of stock car supremacy in the Hudson Valley area.

IRVING TOOK the lead on the 154th of the 250-lap, or 50-mile, race and was never headed. Stan Disbrow, veteran pilot from Poughkeepsie, was second. Gene Bergin took third and another Bridge City pilot, Chauncey "Jokko" Maggiacomo, finished in fourth position.

Ken Gootermote of Troy led at the start, with Maggiacomo and Moe Gherzi the early challengers. "Jokko" retired early with a blown engine and Gherzi spun out temporarily.

Link Pettit, then in second place, went out via a smashed radiator. Pettit's mishap moved Irving into second position. The New Baltimore throttle jockey pulled into first position when Gootermote needed a tire change. Gootermote never did get back into serious contention, finishing sixth.

GHERZI WAS a victim of heat exhaustion after 180 laps. Maggiacomo took over behind the wheel.

A pileup temporarily stopped the race on the 224th lap when Bob Devine skidded on oil and rammed the fence. Tiny Weyer flipped and Gootermote and Don Cronk sailed into the wreckage.

Completing the first 10 finishers were Ed Westervelt, Gootermote, Sales Casey, Bill Darragh, Ray Palen and Weyer.

Rookie of Year In International Might Be Brandt

By The Associated Press

When they get around to handing out rookie of the year honors in the International League, it will be impossible to overlook Jackie Brandt's credentials.

The Rochester centerfielder salvaged what seemed to be a lost cause yesterday with a last-inning, two-out, three-run homer to give Rochester a 12-11 victory over Richmond in the second game of a doubleheader. His leadoff roundtripper off Jim Konstanty in the seventh of the first game tied it at 1-1 and his mates went on to win it, 3-1.

MONTREAL jumped into first place with a pair of one-run victories at Syracuse, 2-1 and 3-2. The Toronto Maple Leafs fell ½ game back into second, losing 2-0 to Havana's Pat Scantlebury. The Leafs led 11-7 after 5½ innings of the second game, which was called because of a curfew.

The Buffalo Bisons opened a four-game spread between themselves and cellar-dwelling Richmond by virtue of 8-2 and 9-6 victories over Columbus.

Brandt's game-winning blow was his fourth homer in the last three games and his 12th of the season. The 21-year-old speedster has 19 stolen bases to his credit and is tied for the league lead in doubles and triples with 34 and 11, respectively.

Philadelphia Youth Captures Distance Swim

Lake George, Aug. 22 (AP)—Frank Brunell of Philadelphia won his second consecutive AUU long-distance swimming championship yesterday—a day after setting four Canadian records at the Canadian swimming and diving championships.

The 16-year-old Brunell swam the choppy four-mile course here in 1 hour, 39 minutes and 26 seconds. He was 11 seconds ahead of George Holtrey, representing the Huntington, Ind., YMCA. The Huntington Y repeated its 1954 team championship.

Brunell, a student at Lawrenceville, N. J., Prep, swims for the Vespers Swimming Club of Philadelphia. He is the son of Octave Brunell of Philadelphia.

Michael Wolk of the Knickerbocker Swim Club, New York, finished third in 1 hour, 46 minutes and 35 seconds.

Palmer's 65 Cops Canadian Open

Toronto, Aug. 22 (AP)—Young Arnold Palmer has proved himself a qualified member of the elite and tough professional golf fraternity by winning the Canadian Open with a near record 265.

The 25-year-old pro of Labtrobe, Pa., will play starting Thursday in the $26,800 Montreal Open. Palmer, who less than a year ago won the U. S. Amateur title, gained his first pro victory Saturday when he finished the 72 holes of the $15,000 Canadian Open with a 265.

The 265, 23 under par, was the second best in the history of the Canadian championship. The only lower score was the 263 put together by namesake Johnny Palmer of Baden, N. C., in 1952 at Winnipeg.

Palmer, who didn't become eligible to compete for money until last May when he finished his PGA probation period, picked up $2,400.

Pony League Series Reaches Semi-Finals

Washington, Pa., Aug. 22 (AP)—The San Antonio, Tex., and Washington, D. C., baseball teams meet tonight in a semi-final game of the Pony League world series.

The winner will go against Youngstown, Ohio, tomorrow night in the final. If Youngstown should lose, a second game would be played Wednesday night. The series is a double elimination tournament and Youngstown has not yet lost a game with a 3-0 record.

San Antonio has a 3-1 record and Washington has a 2-1 record.

No games were played yesterday. Results Saturday: San Bernardino (Calif.) 8, North Charleston (S. C.) 4; San Antonio 7, Chicago 6; Youngstown 4, Washington 2; San Antonio 9, San Bernardino 5.

National LL

Team	Won	Lost

Hiltebrant Pirates	2	5
Trailways Braves	1	5

Tom Gerber spaced six hits and got three safeties himself Saturday at Kingman Park, leading the Trailways Braves to a 6-1 victory over the Island Dock Tigers in the National Little League.

It was the first win of the second round for the Braves.

Gerber worked a steady game on the mound. He struck out seven and walked only one. All the Tigers' hits were singles.

At the plate, Gerber connected for a double and two singles in four trips. Bill Huber chipped in with a pair of two-baggers.

FIVE RUNS in the first inning proved to be the downfall of Tigers hurler Jack Darwak. Darwak left the mound early, with Joe Spada taking over. Jerry Bradford finished.

Gerber had good support in the field. Of particular note was Pete Tatarzewski's spectacular running catch of Darwak's drive down the right field line.

The regular season ends this week. The Braves and Tigers tangle again tonight. On Tuesday, it's Indians vs. Tigers; Wednesday, Braves vs. Pirates; Thursday, Pirates vs. Braves.

New York Boy Finds Way Out Of Accord Woods

Dennis Coddington, 12, of Flushing, Queens, missing all night, walked out of the woods near Accord today, unharmed excepting that he was suffering somewhat from exposure.

State police said the boy told them he had been walking all night trying to find a way out. He had no shirt when he arrived at the home of Mrs. Clarence Statler. She called state police, who cancelled a search that had been under way all night by about 75 volunteers.

The boy and his mother, Mrs. Anita Coddington, have been spending a vacation at Montgomery and yesterday visited friends at Lake Minnewaska, near New Paltz. The boy became separated from relatives and friends while walking in the woods.

State police said the boy went back to Montgomery today with his mother.

854th Engineers Awarded Letter Of Commendation

Brigadier General William H. Colbern, Deputy First Army Commander, has written a letter of Commendation to the 854th Engineer Aviation Battalion, United States Army Reserve, on its current status of high espirit, development of training standards, appearance and general efficiency of officers and men.

Contributing materially with excellent training reports were the two companies of the Battalion located in Kingston. Headquarters and Service Company, commanded by First Lieutenant Bronislaw Hudela of Kingston and A Company, commanded by Captain Thomas Bell of Poughkeepsie.

The commendation highly endorsed by subordinate Headquarters, resulted from inspection reports submitted to First Army Headquarters by inspection teams from the various echelons of the Reserve. Noteworthy to the Battalion is the endorsement of the letter by Colonel Frank I. Pethick Jr., commanding officer of the 411th Engineer Aviation Brigade, United States Army Reserve, under which this Battalion trains during its annual two weeks of active duty.

Lt. Col. Carl E. Hedman of Cornwall on the Hudson, commanding officer of the Battalion, attributes the units progress to the conscientious efforts and devotion to duty of the officers and men. The unselfish contribution of time and themselves to Reserve Military matters has made possible the firm establishment of this reserve unit in the area to serve both the community and the nation.

General Colberns letter of commendation read in part; "that the esprit in your unit was rated as outstandingly high. Such high morale, despite the handicap of inadequate training facilities, deserves recognition especially in view of the increased emphasis being placed on reserve training required by the new National Defense Program".

When the Battalion was relocated in the Mid-Hudson area in March, 1951, its quarters at first consisted of cellars and hallways. Slowly it began the job of organization and training of personnel that were needed for the expected expansion of the Battalion. After its first year the various Companies moved into their present quarters, which are adequate but still a far cry from what is really needed to provide the space and facilities that an Engineer unit must have for proper training. Plans are now under way for the Battalion to have larger quarters, with the lease of the newly constructed hanger type building on Albany avenue extension. It has been made known by Captain Wayne C. Reynolds, Detachment Co. of the Army Reserve Center at Poughkeepsie, that occupancy of this building will take place prior to Sept. 1.

At Poughkeepsie, a new Reserve Armory will be built and Company C, located there, will move its headquarters and training into the new armory. Company B and the Medical Detachment, both of Newburgh now meet in the same quarters that house the Air Force Reserve at 44 Montgomery street. Plans are now under way for the Air Force to build a large reserve armory in the Newburgh area, and it is hoped that the Aviation Engineers may be able to find training quarters there.

Training, which is the primary purpose of active reserve units presented the largest challenge. A unit such as an Engineer Aviation Battalion must have personnel that are qualified in a large variety of vocations and specialties. It presents a problem to train these men when only two hours a week are available and space limitations confine the Battalion indoors. It is contemplated that in the new quarters space will be available for the Battalion to be able to have construction equipment on hand so that operators and maintenance men can be trained on the job.

In contrast to the initial problems of activation and organization the unit has enlarged to the point where it is the largest Reserve Engineer Battalion in the First Army area. The aim of the Battalion is to train personnel at their home stations to be able to take their place with the regular Army in time of National emergencies and to achieve its basic mission: The construction and rehabilitation of airfields and its facilities. The lessons learned during the year are put into practice during the two weeks that the Battalion goes on active duty training at the "Home of the Engineers" Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

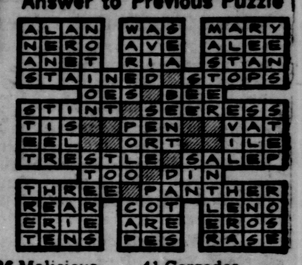

The establishment of the 854th Engineer Aviation Battalion in the Mid-Hudson area affords the youth of the communities with an active Reserve unit and the opportunity to take an active part in the Reserve Plan for National Preparedness. Former servicemen and youths over 18 years of age are urged to contact the Unit Headquarters at 22 Ferry street.

Sudan Troops Quieted

Khartoum, Sudan, Aug. 22 (AP) — The Sudan government announced today that 158 mutinous troops in the south Sudan town of Yei have been captured or surrendered. A government spokesman said the rest of the force which rebelled Thursday was holding out in the small village of Torit. He added loyal troops were expected to overcome this resistance shortly. Yei is just north of the Uganda border and 100 miles southwest of Juba, the capital of Equatoria province. Torit, a battalion headquarters, is 84 miles east of Juba. Government sources insisted their forces had the situation in the south in hand.

Climbers Killed

Zermatt, Switzerland, Aug. 22 (AP)—Allen Crawford, 22, of Denver, Colo., and a 19-year-old Englishman, Roderick Phillips, fell 3,000 feet to their deaths while returning from the summit of the 13,500 foot Matterhorn Friday, police reported today. The two men were relatively inexperienced climbers, the police said, but made the dangerous ascent without guides. Other climbers on the mountain at the time said they saw one of the two slip on an icy patch near the Solvay hut and drag his roped companion down over the precipice.

New York Boy Finds Way Out Of Accord Woods

Dennis Coddington, 12, of Flushing, Queens, missing all night, walked out of the woods near Accord today, unharmed excepting that he was suffering somewhat from exposure.

State police said the boy told them he had been walking all night trying to find a way out. He had no shirt when he arrived at the home of Mrs. Clarence Statler. She called state police, who cancelled a search that had been under way all night by about 75 volunteers.

The boy and his mother, Mrs. Anita Coddington, have been spending a vacation at Montgomery and yesterday visited friends at Lake Minnewaska, near New Paltz. The boy became separated from relatives and friends while walking in the woods.

State police said the boy went back to Montgomery today with his mother.

854th Engineers Awarded Letter OfCommendation

Brigadier General William H. Colbern, Deputy First Army Commander, has written a letter of Commendation to the 854th Engineer Aviation Battalion, United States Army Reserve, on its current status of high espirit, development of training standards, appearance and general efficiency of officers and men.

Contributing materially with excellent training reports were the two companies of the Battalion located in Kingston, Headquarters and Service Company, commanded by First Lieutenant Bronislaw Hudela of Kingston and A Company, commanded by Captain Thomas Bell of Poughkeepsie.

The commendation highly endorsed by subordinate Headquarters, resulted from inspection reports submitted to First Army Headquarters by inspection teams from the various echelons of the Reserve. Noteworthy to the Battalion is the endorsement of the letter by Colonel Frank I. Pethick Jr., commanding officer of the 411th Engineer Aviation Brigade, United States Army Reserve, under which this Battalion trains during its annual two weeks of active duty.

Lt. Col. Carl E. Hedman of Cornwall on the Hudson, commanding officer of the Battalion, attributes the units progress to the conscientious efforts and devotion to duty of the officers and men. The unselfish contribution of time and themselves to Reserve Military matters has made possible the firm establishment of this reserve unit in the area to serve both the community and the nation.

General Colberns letter of commendation read in part; "that the esprit in your unit was rated as outstandingly high. Such high morale, despite the handicap of inadequate training facilities, deserves recognition especially in view of the increased emphasis being placed on reserve training required by the new National Defense Program".

When the Battalion was relocated in the Mid-Hudson area in March, 1951, its quarters at first consisted of cellars and hallways. Slowly it began the job of organization and training of personnel that were needed for the expected expansion of the Battalion. After its first year the various Companies moved into their present quarters, which are adequate but still a far cry from what is really needed to provide the space and facilities that an Engineer unit must have for proper training. Plans are now under way for the Battalion to have larger quarters, with the lease of the newly constructed hanger type building on Albany avenue extension. It has been made known by Captain Wayne C. Reynolds, Detachment Co. of the Army Reserve Center at Poughkeepsie, that occupancy of this building will take place prior to Sept. 1.

At Poughkeepsie, a new Reserve Armory will be built and Company C, located there, will move its headquarters and training into the new armory. Company B and the Medical Detachment, both of Newburgh now meet in the same quarters that house the Air Force Reserve at 44 Montgomery street. Plans are now under way for the Air Force to build a large reserve armory in the Newburgh area, and it is hoped that the Aviation Engineers may be able to find training quarters there.

Training, which is the primary purpose of active reserve units presented the largest challenge. A unit such as an Engineer Aviation Battalion must have personnel that are qualified in a large variety of vocations and specialties. It presents a problem to train these men when only two hours a week are available and space limitations confine the Battalion indoors. It is contemplated that in the new quarters space will be available for the Battalion to be able to have construction equipment on hand so that operators and maintenance men can be trained on the job.

In contrast to the initial problems of activation and organization the unit has enlarged to the point where it is the largest Reserve Engineer Battalion in the First Army area. The aim of the Battalion is to train personnel at their home stations to be able to take their place with the regular Army in time of National emergencies and to achieve its basic mission: The construction and rehabilitation of airfields and its facilities. The lessons learned during the year are put into practice during the two weeks that the Battalion goes on active duty training at the "Home of the Engineers" Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

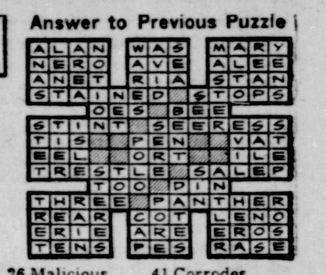

The establishment of the 854th Engineer Aviation Battalion in the Mid-Hudson area affords the youth of the communities with an active Reserve unit and the opportunity to take an active part in the Reserve Plan for National Preparedness. Former servicemen and youths over 18 years of age are urged to contact the Unit Headquarters at 22 Ferry street.

Sudan Troops Quieted

Khartoum, Sudan, Aug. 22 (AP) — The Sudan government announced today that 158 mutinous troops in the south Sudan town of Yei have been captured or surrendered. A government spokesman said the rest of the force which rebelled Thursday was holding out in the small village of Torit. He added loyal troops were expected to overcome this resistance shortly. Yei is just north of the Uganda border and 100 miles southwest of Juba, the capital of Equatoria province. Torit, a battalion headquarters, is 84 miles east of Juba. Government sources insisted their forces had the situation in the south in hand.

Climbers Killed

Zermatt, Switzerland, Aug. 22 (AP)—Allen Crawford, 22, of Denver, Colo., and a 19-year-old Englishman, Roderick Phillips, fell 3,000 feet to their deaths while returning from the summit of the 13,500 foot Matterhorn Friday, police reported today. The two men were relatively inexperienced climbers, the police said, but made the dangerous ascent without guides. Other climbers on the mountain at the time said they saw one of the two slip on an icy patch near the Solvay hut and drag his roped companion down over the precipice.

MRS. RUTH LOWE, 145 Ulster avenue, Saugerties, was named the first winner on Friday night at the Saugerties Appreciation Day event sponsored by the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Ruth Lowe Wins Saugerties Merchants Event

Mrs. Ruth Lowe of 145 Ulster avenue, Saugerties became the first winner in the Saugerties Appreciation Day event held Friday night on the balcony of the Exchange Hotel, corner of Main and Partition streets.

Mrs. Lowe's coupon selected by Mayor Arthur F. Simmons was good for 10 per cent of the "Treasure Chest" which totaled $211. Her winnings amounted to $21 and this was matched by the Chamber of Commerce making her take home award a sum of $42.

Judges for the evening included Police Commissioner Eugene F. Thornton, Robert F. Carnright, village attorney and Robert T. Messinger.

After collecting her prize in "Saugerties Dollars" from Otto Bumb, treasurer of the Chamber who conducts the weekly Friday night events, Mrs. Lowe said that she was "very excited" and that she has "always shopped in Saugerties", and in a way feels that this is her reward for being faithful to her home town.

More than 500 persons lined the streets milling in store fronts on both sides of Main and Partition streets waiting for the announcement of the winner at 8 p. m.

With the additional contributions by the participating merchants this week the Appreciation Day event next Friday at 8 p. m. will have a total of $292 in the "Treasure Chest."

The winnings distributed each week are paid off in "Saugerties Dollars," pseudo gold certificates which are good for purchases in any of the 30 businesses participating and the five supporting firms.

J. Edward Conway To Address Lions

J. Edward Conway of Kingston, a member of the New York State Commission Against Discrimination, will be the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions Club tomorrow noon at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mr. Conway, a former Assemblyman, Ulster county judge and president of the New York State Civil Service Commission, will describe the work of the commission and the problems it faces.

PRIOR TO appointment to the Commission Against Discrimination Mr. Conway served as president of the State Civil Service Commission to which he was appointed July 12, 1934, by Governor Dewey. He was elected president by the commission.

He left the bench as county judge and judge of the children's court in this county to accept the Civil Service Commission appointment after having served less than three years of the six-year judicial term to which he had been elected.

Prior to being called to the bench, Judge Conway had served eight years in the State Assembly (1933-40). During those years he initiated much successful legislation and served on many important legislative committees including general laws, of which he was chairman, City of New York, insurance internal affairs and judiciary.

JUDGE CONWAY was born at Eddyville in 1902, attending grade schools there and Kingston High School. He was graduated from Fordham Law School with honor in 1924, returned to Kingston and became associated in the practice of law with the firm of Fowler and Connelly.

In 1926 he was appointed clerk of the children's court in which capacity he served until 1931 when he was appointed assistant district attorney. This position he resigned to become Ulster county representative in the State Assembly.

Too Many Snakes

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 22 (AP)—The scheduled appearance of a killer rattlesnake failed to materialize yesterday after state police arrested a snake-handling preacher and cut short a cult's services. The Rev. William Vernon of Keokee, Va., was taken into custody shortly after handling four deadly snakes as 2,000 worshippers looked on in a nearby mountain hollow. Vernon, charged with violating the Kentucky law that forbids the practice of handling snakes, was released on an appearance bond pending trial next Friday at nearby Caywood.

Inspects Flood Areas

Harrisburg, Aug. 22 (AP)—Taxes and other state business took a back seat on Gov. George M. Leader's agenda today as he first briefed himself on the plight of Pennsylvanians in the flood-ravaged areas of the state. The governor returned last night from an inspection tour of the disaster command posts set up to aid the flooded victims and said he will revisit the area today if the situation warranted it.

Body Washed Ashore

Middletown, R. I., Aug. 22 (AP)—The body of Frederick Kinnicutt, 20-year-old Bolivar, N. Y., sailor who was drowned here last Wednesday, was washed ashore Saturday. Dr. Frank J. Logler, medical examiner, pronounced death due to accidental drowning and ordered the body removed to the naval hospital morgue at Newport.

Why We Say--

This common expression had a sinister beginning. It was originated by Roman crowds at gladiatorial exhibitions. After a contender was defeated the crowd was asked whether he should be saved or not. The thumb turned down as a sword piercing the victim meant that he was condemned.

Weather Report on U.S Sectors Is Given

(By The Associated Press)

A general cooling of the nation's midsection took place early Monday as cooler air pushing southward across the north and central plains and the western Great Lakes region lowered temperatures from 5 to 15 degrees from Sunday's readings.

In North Dakota and northern Minnesota readings were in the 50s, while the 60s or low 70s were general elsewhere in this air mass. Showers and thunderstorms were common along and ahead of the cooler air from southern Kansas northeastward across Missouri, northern Indiana and Illinois.

Portions of the mid-Atlantic coastal states were enveloped in a heavy fog and skies were mostly cloudy in the mid Atlantic states. Most of the remainder of the nation reported clear skies.

Early morning reports Monday: Chicago 74 and rain; Caribou, Maine, 65 and clear; Big Piney, Wyo., 44 and clear; San Francisco 53 and clear; Elkins, W. Va., 63 and heavy fog; Indianapolis 76 and cloudy; Memphis 80 and clear; Fort Worth 82 and clear; Des Moines 68 and fair; Madison Wis., 73 and partly cloudy; Bismarck, N. D., 58 and clear; Blythe, Calif., 93 and clear, and San Francisco 53 and clear.

Flint, Mich., reported 75 and clear. Sunday in Detroit three deaths were attributed to heat prostration as the temperature soared to 100.

Killed in Auto

Clearfield, Pa., Aug. 22 (AP)—George T. Peters, 21, of (1347 Michigan avenue) Niagara Falls, N. Y., was killed yesterday when his automobile careened off a highway and overturned. His wife and child were injured seriously. State police said Peters apparently fell asleep as he drove on route 153 north of Clearfield. His wife, Alice, 19, and daughter, Diane, almost 2, were taken to a hospital with multiple injuries. Police said the father and mother were thrown about 20 feet from the car and the baby about 40 feet. They were enroute to Clearfield to visit Peters' father, George.

Stricken With Polio

Martinsville, Va., Aug. 22 (AP)—Four members of a Martinsville family have been stricken with polio in a week's time. Roger Pugh, 12, was hospitalized a week ago last Saturday. His mother, wife of a power shovel operator, and the Pugh's oldest son, Donald Lee, 16, were admitted to the same Roanoke, Va., hospital last Thursday. Four-year-old William was stricken last Friday. All of the cases were of the non-paralytic type. A fourth son, Jerry, 14, and the father have shown no signs of illness.

Chemical Works Ruined

Vienna, Austria, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Warsaw Chemical Works at Grodzisko Mazowieckie near the Polish capital was destroyed by fire Sunday, radio Warsaw reported today. A similar blaze recently heavily damaged the Chemical Assn. works at Pobiedziski, in Poland's Poznan district. The cause was then given as "negligence or sabotage."

MRS. RUTH LOWE, 145 Ulster avenue, Saugerties, was named the first winner on Friday night at the Saugerties Appreciation Day event sponsored by the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Ruth Lowe Wins Saugerties Merchants Event

Mrs. Ruth Lowe of 145 Ulster avenue, Saugerties became the first winner in the Saugerties Appreciation Day event held Friday night on the balcony of the Exchange Hotel, corner of Main and Partition streets.

Mrs. Lowe's coupon selected by Mayor Arthur F. Simmons was good for 10 per cent of the "Treasure Chest" which totaled $211. Her winnings amounted to $21 and this was matched by the Chamber of Commerce making her take home award a sum of $42.

Judges for the evening included Police Commissioner Eugene F. Thornton, Robert F. Carnright, village attorney and Robert T. Messinger.

After collecting her prize in "Saugerties Dollars" from Otto Bumb, treasurer of the Chamber who conducts the weekly Friday night events, Mrs. Lowe said that she was "very excited" and that she has "always shopped in Saugerties", and in a way feels that this is her reward for being faithful to her home town.

More than 500 persons lined the streets milling in store fronts on both sides of Main and Partition streets waiting for the announcement of the winner at 8 p. m.

With the additional contributions by the participating merchants this week the Appreciation Day event next Friday at 8 p. m. will have a total of $292 in the "Treasure Chest."

The winnings distributed each week are paid off in "Saugerties Dollars," pseudo gold certificates which are good for purchases in any of the 30 businesses participating and the five supporting firms.

J. Edward Conway To Address Lions

J. Edward Conway of Kingston, a member of the New York State Commission Against Discrimination, will be the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions Club tomorrow noon at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mr. Conway, a former Assemblyman, Ulster county judge and president of the New York State Civil Service Commission, will describe the work of the commission and the problems it faces.

PRIOR TO appointment to the Commission Against Discrimination Mr. Conway served as president of the State Civil Service Commission to which he was appointed July 12, 1934, by Governor Dewey. He was elected president by the commission.

He left the bench as county judge and judge of the children's court in this county to accept the Civil Service Commission appointment after having served less than three years of the six-year judicial term to which he had been elected.

Prior to being called to the bench, Judge Conway had served eight years in the State Assembly (1933-40). During those years he initiated much successful legislation and served on many important legislative committees including general laws, of which he was chairman, City of New York, insurance internal affairs and judiciary.

JUDGE CONWAY was born at Eddyville in 1902, attending grade schools there and Kingston High School. He was graduated from Fordham Law School with honor in 1924, returned to Kingston and became associated in the practice of law with the firm of Fowler and Connelly.

In 1926 he was appointed clerk of the children's court in which capacity he served until 1931 when he was appointed assistant district attorney. This position he resigned to become Ulster county representative in the State Assembly.

Too Many Snakes

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 22 (AP)—The scheduled appearance of a killer rattlesnake failed to materialize yesterday after state police arrested a snake-handling preacher and cut short a cult's services. The Rev. William Vernon of Keokee, Va., was taken into custody shortly after handling four deadly snakes as 2,000 worshippers looked on in a nearby mountain hollow. Vernon, charged with violating the Kentucky law that forbids the practice of handling snakes, was released on an appearance bond pending trial next Friday at nearby Caywood.
